News of Ships and Sailings Pacific Por

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (Inter-Hawaiian Steamship Company) Pennsylvanian went on the dry dock at the Bethlehem shipbuilding plant for the installation of a Curtis-Wright turbine electric drive calculated to increase the speed by about 12 per cent. It is attached to the palace of the ship's propeller by means of a shaft designed to recover some of the energy of water in a straight line, for the exerted horsepower required to drive it at full speed. This is the first application of the European patent Curtis-Wright Coast, but orders have been placed for similar equipment for other vessels of the Panama Pacific Line.

Inaugurating the new San Diego service of the Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha, steamship San Pedro Maru arrived on her maiden trip from Japan to Seattle, is scheduled to take on a cargo of fuel oil and petroleum products. Officials of the company in the city declined to discuss the deal.

The third shipment of automobiles sent into the Orient by the Ford Motor Company within two months got into port when the steamer Nagan arrived from Yokohama. The cargo is valued at $70,000, and is destined for Shanghai distillery.

PORTLAND, July 18. (Special)—Vegas docked here today with a cargo of logs and lumber from Shanghai, Japan and the Philippines, on her return to the Orient, she will take on a cargo of wheat.

The Bendoran and the Bendoran are in the river during the early part of the week, and will sail for the United Kingdom. The British motorship Lochmonar is due here at Portland for Vancouver.

TACOMA, July 18. (Special)—After unloading a cargo of lumber from Grays Harbor, the motorship Tyee sailed this afternoon for Honolulu. She was preceded to Grays Harbor by the steamer Dollar, which left in the afternoon with a large cargo of lumber and general merchandise for Seattle.

The McCormick coastal steamer Mississippi is due in Seattle tomorrow and was to shift berths from the Seattle to the Port of Seattle, to discharge her cargo for California and was to shift to Seattle.

BRITAIN'S GENEVA ENVOYS RECALLED BY CABINET

Return Laid to Baldwin's Desire to Discuss Parley Deadlock; Many See Final Break

GENEVA, July 19. (AP)—A sensation was caused here late today by the official announcement that Lord Cecil, member of the British delegation to the tripartite naval conference, will return to London tonight and W. C. Bridgeman, head of the British delegation, tomorrow, for the purpose of consulting with the British Cabinet and elucidating the British position at the naval conference. The journey to England will mean several days' suspension of the sessions.

The sudden recall of the chief British delegates set in motion a bewildering number of conjectures, one of the strongest being that it implied eventual rupture of the conference.

Another explanation is that they have merely been invited by Premier Baldwin to go to London in order to permit final discussion of the conference situation before the Prime Minister embarks for Canada.

Among responsible delegates here there was no suggestion of the collapse of the conference. It is pointed out that the conversations in the last few days have been of the most friendly nature and that all the delegates continue hopeful that the negotiations will be successful in formulating a treaty.

Hugh S. Gibson, chief of American delegation, requested that their departure be interpreted in no sense as an adjournment of the conference, but only a suspension of the work of the chief delegates.

Only the British Cabinet, with whom Mr. Bridgeman and Lord Cecil will consult, can answer the riddle. The British delegates apparently had no intentions of going to London before the summons came, and neither the Americans nor the Japanese can contribute anything in the way of a real explanation.

OBEYING SUMMONS

Lord Cecil, entraining for London at 9:40 tonight, contented himself by telling the newspaper men that he was "going back in obedience to a summons from His Majesty's government." He explained that in view of Premier Baldwin's departure with the Prince of Wales for Canada in a few days, the Cabinet wanted to go over the whole situation.

Mr. Gibson, after bidding farewell to Mr. Bridgeman, who will leave early in the morning for London, went into conference with the American technicians. He emphasized that as Vice-Admiral Field, deputy chief of the British admiralty staff, still is in Geneva—slightly indisposed and therefore not making the London trip—contact between the three delegations was not severed and that various minor points might profitably be talked over while awaiting the return of the political heads of the British delegation.

NO AGREEMENTS

Enough is known about the problems of the conference, however, to throw some light on the reasons for the departure of the British plenipotentiaries, who leave behind the entire staff of technical delegates and secretaries. There is absolutely

AIR MAIL TO REACH ALL AMERICA

Key West-Havana Contract First Step in Service to Southern Nations

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The Key West-Havana air-mail route, for which Postmaster-General New has just awarded a contract to the Pan-American Airways, Inc., of New York, is the first step of a 1555-mile Central and South American air service for mail and passengers, John K. Montgomery, vice-president of the corporation, said today after a conference with air-mail officials.

The proposed service would link up the United States, Cuba, British Honduras, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama and the Canal Zone and make connections with steamship services to the west and north coasts of South America, saving passengers and mails considerable time by placing them in New York in about four days from Panama. It is contemplated operating a triweekly service between Panama and the United States, thereby giving passenger and mail service to the Central American countries which are now depending on weekly or fortnightly steamship services.

Operation of the Key West-Havana air-mail service would be ready to begin about October 1, Mr. Montgomery told postal officials. The corporation is having three Fokker airplanes each with three engines built for that service and hopes to be carrying passengers and mails from Florida to Cuba by that time. The Cuban government, according to Mr. Montgomery, has entered into an agreement with the Latin-American Airways for carrying the mail between Havana and Key West, as the American contract provides for carrying the mail southward only. Cuba will charge 5 cents for letters carried by air between the two cities and intends issuing a special air-mail stamp.

For its Central and South American service the corporation is working on plans for eight large flying boats, engined with two or three motors and capable of carrying a 3500-pound pay load, Mr. Montgomery said.

Dutch Princess to Use Simple Name in School

LEYDEN (Holland) July 19. (AP)—Queen Wilhelmina's 18-year-old daughter, Princess Juliana, will begin her studies at the famous university here with the coming September term.

The Queen has decided that the young Princess-graduate must mix freely with other girl students, and while she is at the university she will drop her rank and be known as plain Miss Louise Van Buren, to which name she is entitled by the fact that one of the Queen's titles is Countess Van Buren.

Louise is the Princess' second Christian name, which she took from Louise De Coligny, the second wife of William The Silent.

"Miss Van Buren" will major in law and Dutch literature.

Marine Shoots Three Haitians; One Succumbs

PORT AU PRINCE (Haiti) July 19. (AP)—A marine serving as military policeman shot and killed a Haitian laborer, mortally wounded another laborer and slightly wounded a woman today. Accounts are conflicting as to the cause of the shooting and the marine will be taken before the court tomorrow for examination.

United States marines are serving in Haiti. An armed constabulary was instituted in 1916 which includes officers and men of the United States Marine Corps.

COOKS COOK UP REVOLT

Town Boycotts Gas in Fight

Nearly Everyone Joins in and Picnic Lunches on Lawns Become Popular

WICHITA (Kan.) July 19. (Exclusive)—Twelve thousand Wichita homes went gasless today as a protest against the Wichita Gas Company's new rates just installed. Three thousand more homes, where young children or invalids made the entire abolishment of fire impossible, reduced their gas consumption to the minimum. All over town housewives co-operated in the first great woman-directed public move ever launched in Wichita.

It was woman's day all the way through. The Wichita Federation of Women's Clubs proposed the idea. While the men were getting ready for a mass meeting the women chose a more definite method of registering their disapproval.

MANY PICNICS

Church organizations, women's clubs, neighborhood groups, took it up. At noon hundreds of picnics were in progress on lawns of homes in College Hill, Riverside, West Side, South End, Fairmount and North End. Each was an eloquent protest against high gas prices, because each was an indication that families were refusing to use gas for the day.

Mrs. John Maltbie, president of the city federation, said the women in many sections of the city were going to make "gasless Tuesday" a permanent feature the rest of the summer.

"Far from being a hardship, most of the women have enjoyed a cookless day as a new experience," she said. "We have guests from out of town and they are delighted with the whole thing. They say they never have seen anything like it. The women all over town are having fun out of it and we think it a big success."

There are about 20,000 homes in Wichita and it is estimated 75 per cent of them were observing gasless day.

NEARLY ALL JOIN

"The federation called literally thousands of women on the telephone," Mrs. Maltbie said. "I called nearly 100 myself and we had scores of women busy on the telephone all day yesterday. Virtually none refused to join us."

The domestic gas rate in Wichita has been 58 cents a thousand feet of gas with a 75-cent customer charge.

A new rate is being put into effect, doing away with the service charge and boosting the rate on small quantities. The rates now is 61 for the first 500 feet or less. The company is part of the H. L. Doherty organization, the same organization that controls the gas situation in Kansas City.

SEEK STATE AID TO CURB OIL OUTPUT

Operators Urge Action to Cut Down Production in Seminole Field

TULSA (Okla.) July 19. (AP)—Alarmed at the increased overproduction in the Seminole oil field, comprising the Seminole, Bowlegs and Earlsboro pools, oil producers at a meeting here with Ray Collins, umpire, today drew a resolution asking State aid in curtailing the activities of operators.

Some of the operators and companies represented did not sign the resolution. Representatives at the meeting refused to give the exact number.

A decided split among the operators was reported, a number desiring immediate relief from overproduction and almost in equal number opposing the shutdown order and urging freedom in the field.

The resolution was presented by Collins, who has filed a petition with the Corporation Commission asking that an order be made compelling the operators to comply with a general shutdown order.

It was pointed out by Collins that production in the district has now reached near the half-million barrel a day mark and is presenting a grave situation in the oil industry of Oklahoma.

The resolution, in addition to asking State enforcement, asked that Collins be appointed to carry out the orders of the Corporation Commission, which would give Collins power to act if companies failed to heed the order.

There are 469 wells being drilled at the present time, according to the petition, and production is increasing daily. Hearing on the petition filed by Collins has been set for Thursday at Oklahoma City.

THREE SOUGHT AS TAXI-DRIVER SLAYERS

MONTREAL, July 19. (AP)—Two men and a woman who hired a taxicab on Sunday for what one of them said was to be a short wedding tour into the United States, were being sought by police today as the slayers of Adelard Bouchard, 40 years of age, the taxi driver.

Bouchard's body with a bullet wound through the neck was found yesterday in a ditch about three miles from Huntington. His machine was found later in this city, bullet-ridden and blood-stained. Three hundred dollars that Bouchard had in his pockets was missing.

Millionaire Improving as Daughter and Spouse Cross Continent and Ocean

LONDON, July 19. (AP)—Favorable reports of the condition of J. Ogden Armour, who has been seriously ill here, were issued tonight. It was announced that the improvement has been maintained but that he still needs complete quiet and is unable to receive visitors.

His son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Jr., are hurrying to London from the American west coast.

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Jr., son-in-law and daughter of J. Ogden Armour, wealthy Chicago packer, arrived tonight on their hurried trip from the west coast to London, where Armour is seriously ill with typhoid fever.

Weary from their long trip, which began at Santa Barbara, Cal., Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell went at once to their suite on the Cunard liner Berengaria, scheduled to sail shortly after midnight.

The Mitchells started from the west coast immediately after Mrs. Armour, who is with her husband in London, put in a long-distance call for her daughter. The two spoke a distance of 7000 miles, believed to be a distance record.

They employed the fastest land transportation available in their trip across the continent. As the Berengaria makes the trip across the Atlantic in six days they expect to reach London Monday.

Plane May Fly Three Hundred Miles an Hour

LONDON, July 19. (Exclusive)—The most carefully guarded plane in the world now is in a shed at Calshot, near Southampton, undergoing final tests. It is a supermarine Napier, called the Bluebird, and is expected to develop a speed of 300 miles an hour.

It was built for the British entry in the Schneider Cup race next September, where it will meet the fastest machines of the United States Italy and France.

GUARDS HUNT MURDER SHIP

Captain's Message Says Woman's Slayer at Large; Supposed to be Nearing New York

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Officers of the Coast Guard service today were looking with suspicion at sailing ships as they searched for an American schooner, Kingsway, and were wondering what they will find when and if they sight her. Messages reaching New York have said that a murderer of a woman is on board, probably at large and possibly in command of the vessel.

The waters off Sandy Hook have been visited and two sailing vessels overhauled by Federal authorities, but each had a clean bill of health.

The Kingsway was supposed to be nearing New York. She was last sighted off Barbados the 6th inst.

Among the messages was one received by Federal authorities at New York in which Capt. F. E. Lawry, master of the schooner, said:

"Prisoner has broken out. Have no irons in which to hold him. This is a desperate man."

HAS NO WIRELESS

The Kingsway is not equipped with wireless and the message was transmitted by another ship, where it must have been received through signals. Assistant United States attorneys expressed a fear that the prisoner might have taken control of the ship and they asked patrol boats to keep a sharp lookout for the schooner.

News of a crime at sea in which the "prisoner" referred to in the captain's message is supposed to have played a part came from Clifford R. Wharton, American Consul at Monrovia, Liberia. He addressed the State Department that "a cook murdered a woman while the Kingsway was on the high seas off the Gold Coast of Africa."

The schooner touched at Monrovia but did not attempt to land the prisoner and witnesses there say in seven months only four steam vessels had left that port for New York.

The Consular message was referred to the Department of Justice and the case placed within the jurisdiction of Charles H. Tuttle, United States Attorney at New York, because the Kingsway was bound for this port.

When the Kingsway is sighted she will be detained at the quarantine station while the members of the crew are examined.

TROUBLED LOG

The Kingsway carries a crew of ten men. She is owned by the African and Eastern Trading Company of New York and is of 1272 gross tons registry.

Reports to the Maritime Register tell of a troubled log for the vessel since December. A mate died at sea with no one to replace him and the captain became so sick he had to be taken off at San Juan, P. R., and the vessel held there until another master could be sent out.

Kenneth F. Simpson, assistant United States Attorney, will meet the Kingsway on her arrival at quarantine, expected tomorrow, and will board her for a first-hand investigation.

DOCTOR LOSES STATE RIGHTS TO PRACTICE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (AP)—The license of Dr. Frederick K. Lord of Ceres today was declared revoked by the State Board of Medical Examiners after a formal hearing of charges of habitual intemperance. The hearing was held on June 20 and was one of several in which the licenses of other California physicians either were suspended or revoked. Dr. Lord's license had been suspended previously by the board. Dr. C. B. Pinkham, its secretary, declared today. Dr. Lord appealed and lost the case.

The temperature today shot up early in the day, reaching 98 deg. by 11 a.m., and continued to rise steadily until 4 p.m.

Oakland Woman Four Years Past Century Mark

The woman's little house was filled with friends entering and leaving—extending cheer to the white-haired "mother of Oakland," as she is called, because, not having a relative of her own, she considers all Oakland friends her flesh and blood.

Mrs. Collett said she arrived in Oakland shortly after the death of Abraham Lincoln.

COURTNEY IN HOP TODAY

Navy Base Becomes Scene of Feverish Activity to Get Whale in Shape

CALSHOT NAVAL FLYING BASE (Eng.) July 19. (Exclusive)—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British air ace, announced today he will hop off from Calshot Naval Flying Base in his Dornier Napier Whale flying boat at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning (2 a.m. Eastern Standard time) on the first westward flight across the Atlantic. Accompanying him on the epoch flight will be Flying Officer Downer and Little, navigator and engineer, respectively, of the plane. On the trip to Valentia, Ireland, his first stop, the Whale will carry as extra passengers, W. A. J. Clarke, special correspondent of the North American Newspaper Alliance, and the Westminster Gazette, and R. Wainwright, Capt. Courtney's business manager.

Decision to commence the flight tomorrow morning was reached early this afternoon when a special weather forecast from the Air Ministry informed Capt. Courtney that probably never again in his life could he hope for such favorable weather conditions. That is, at this time there is a fifteen to thirty-five mile wind blowing across the Atlantic toward America, a very unusual atmospheric condition. At an altitude of 2000 feet or more visibility is excellent.

ONE BAD SPOT

The only fly in the ointment is that a small depression, causing low clouds and rain, exists off the coast of Western Ireland. For this reason Capt. Courtney plans to leave early in the morning. The trip to Valentia should not take more than a few hours. Capt. Courtney has calculated that if by nightfall tomorrow he is 300 miles out to sea he shall be assured fair passage right through to Topsail, N. F.

Rumors that a departure was imminent were heard about the field today even before the weather forecasts were delivered by private signals. Then Capt. Courtney visited the radio station here and came out with a sheaf of telegrams, his face beaming and his eyes sparkling with anticipation.

"We go tomorrow," he announced. "This is the chance of our lives. We will never have again, I am sure, more favorable conditions for an attempt at the first westward flight across the Atlantic. I am filled with confidence and sure that we shall do the job."

Capt. Courtney and his crew held an immediate conference. They went into a quiet corner and laid plans for final work on their big ship. The engine and the wireless equipment had to pass one last inspection.

ALL GET TO WORK

Within a few moments the flying field became a scene of feverish and enthusiastic work. A host of mechanics, clad in overalls, came down from the Southampton airplane sheds near by. Army experts worked from the same works in a motor boat. Every firm holding contracts was informed all equipment must be sent at once. The red, green and yellow Verrey lights, with pistols and flares, to be used in case of distress, were placed upon a platform beside the plane in an imposing pile.

The rubber safety raft was inflated and tested. It supported Capt. Courtney and three heavy men with ease. Capt. Courtney enjoyed immensely the five minutes spent on the raft, but expressed a wish it will remain stowed away in its canvas bag until the flight to New York and return has been completed.

This afternoon the Whale was slipped off its platform into the water and experts descended into the hull bottom and lay flat to determine if it were water tight. Not one drop of water came through the aluminum hull.

Then the Whale was hoisted upon the compass shed, and Flying Officer Downer rectified the large margin of error which had been discovered during the compass trials. While Little and Downer were busy superintending these adjustments, Capt. Courtney was opening "good luck" cablegrams, sent by distinguished personages in all parts of the world.

"GO EARLY TO BED

The three members of the crew had supper and retired early with the intention of rising before the crow of the cock in order to be on hand to superintend the final tests of the Whale at dawn.

Guard was kept over the Whale during the night by Schulte Frohlinde, German engineer from the works of the Dornier plant at Pisa, Italy, who refused to leave his "pet" on what is believed to be its final night in England before the hop-off.

One thing is held certain—that no

Nicaragua Chief Now in Hiding

Review of Ocotal Battle Indicates Rebel Did Not Figure on Planes

Labor Congress Halts Censure Action After Hearing Account of Fight

MANAGUA, July 19. (AP)—Stunned over his disastrous defeat at Ocotal, Gen. Sandino, leader of Nicaraguan rebels, has isolated himself in a remote and inaccessible part of the country. The amazing defense by a mere handful of United States marines and Nicaraguan constabulary aided by five bombing planes from Managua, has served to scatter the rebels and has dealt a blow from which they are not soon likely to recover.

Sandino had been able to gather together a large group of sympathisers. He himself had fought under Gen. Moncada, commander of the Liberal forces, and he therefore had much experience in the field.

He drew to his banner many malcontents and at one time had more than 1000 men under him. He promised his followers all sorts of rewards by looting, and revenge on the "Yankees." Sandino finally called himself "the Wild Beast of the Mountains," and became a hero to the class of men who served under him.

PLANNED SURPRISE

When the attack began at 1 o'clock Saturday morning, many of his sympathisers in the town joined him under cover of darkness. The attack was to be a surprise and Sandino and his men fondly believed that Nicaraguans would soon hear that the small garrison had been wiped out. The rebel leader had belittled the Americans, their airplanes and their bombs, which he told his men "only made a noise."

Therefore the rebels, unafraid, began their attack. But Capt. Hatfield's men and the constabulary brought them to a sharp halt by a fierce and accurate fire. Blocked in their direct assault, Sandino's forces took cover and endeavored to smother the defense by the weight of fire from skirmish lines. Every effort to edge forward, however, had withered under accurate rifle and machine-gun volleys, when, in answer to the report carried to Managua by the two scouting planes the bombing squadron arrived. As Sandino had made no provision against an air attack, his followers were caught in groups.

REFUSED TO QUIT

Brig.-Gen. Feland, in command of the marines, said today: "Sandino is the only general under Moncada who stubbornly refused to disarm. Sandino's family, Gen. Moncada and others endeavored to persuade him to lay down his arms, but their efforts were fruitless."

Col. L. M. Gulick, Fifth Regiment of Marines, reports that 100 of the rebels were killed by the marines and constabulary and 200 killed by the bombing planes. Later advices from Ocotal, however, state that the death list may be more than 300, as some of the wounded straggled into the woods and died. Scout planes left here for Ocotal this morning.

LABOR CONGRESS HALTS CENSURE RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—After hours of heated discussion, a resolution of protest to President Coolidge against American Marine activities in Nicaragua, inspired by the battle of marines and followers of Gen. Sandino at Ocotal, failed of definite action today in the resolutions committee of the Fifth Pan-American Labor Congress.

When the committee session broke up members said a compromise resolution would be drafted and offered to the congress by a subcommittee composed of Mathew Woll, American delegate; Luis N. Morones, of Mexico; Andres H. Morales of Guatemala, and the Nicaraguan delegates who offered the original document, Salomon De La Selva and Tranquilino Sanes.

HEAR OF BATTLE

The Nicaraguans' resolution, which would have protested the "presence and activities" of the marines in their country and "any interference on the part of the United States government in the affairs of the Nicaraguan people," was being considered by the committee when the Navy Department received its first detailed report of the Ocotal battle from Rear Admiral Sellers, commanding naval detachments in Nicaragua.

Admiral Sellers, commanding the American troops in the fight, related that the Marine Corps had advised him that Gen. Sandino with about 400 men had attacked the marines and Nicaraguan National Guard, being repulsed with losses of about 200 dead. He added that airplanes were continuing flights over the area to prevent Sandino's forces from reorganizing.

While argum ts for and against the Nicaraguan protest resolution were being heard by the committee behind closed doors, the few delegates remaining on the convention floor listened to the reading of the executive committee's report. The resolution declared there was no state of war between the United States and Nicaragua and asserted there could be "no permanent peace in Nicaragua while American intervention lasts."

"AGAINST FRIENDSHIP"

"Such intervention as the United States government has been carrying on in Nicaragua," it said, "resulting in most deplorable incidents, cannot but be creative of a state of mind among the peoples of Latin-America that is not conducive to friendship and good will toward the United States and the American people who are in no way responsible for such incidents."

After the committee session, members did not indicate their reasons for proposing a compromise resolution, nor whether its language would be more moderate than that of the original.

INTENSIFICATION OF BOYCOTT PREDICTED

MEXICO CITY, July 19. (AP)—Intensification of the boycott of United States goods throughout Latin America will result from the Nicaraguan situation, declares Mexican leaders of "The Union of Central and South America and the Antilles" today.

FLAG STOP RENAMED

Shorb Station on Espee Line Will be Called Alhambra

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (Exclusive.) The name of Shorb station is to be erased from the records of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, thus going to a legal grave before thousands of Angelenos ever knew it existed.

To many persons much in the public eye, however, the passing of the name will bring a twinge of mourning, for Shorb station for years was somewhat of an institution of expediency. It has been a flag stop on the Espee south of Alhambra and has been used on countless occasions as a detraining point for persons who desired to escape public attention at Los Angeles terminals. The Railroad Commission has given the railroad authority to change the name to Alhambra station.

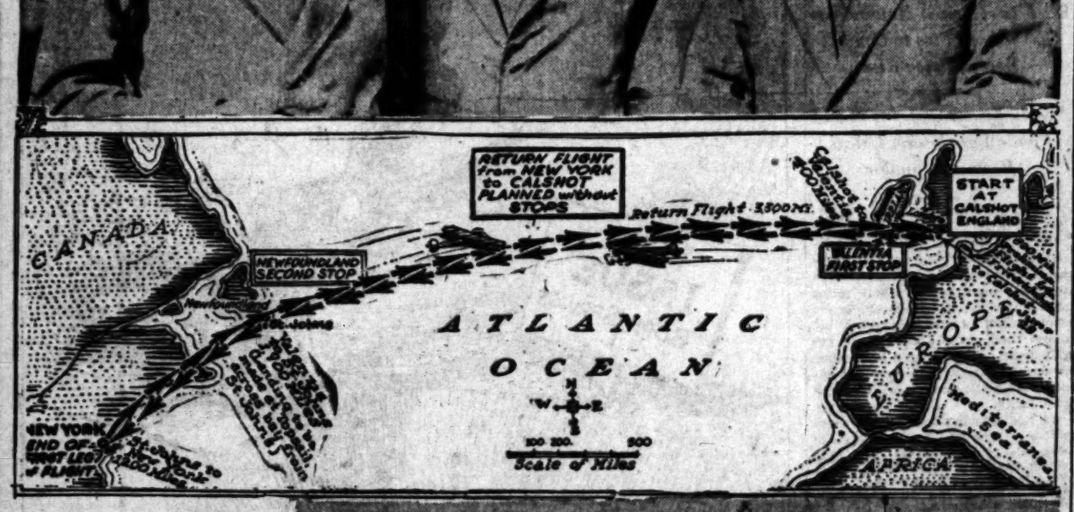
Flyers, Route and Plane in Hop Over Atlantic



[N. A. N. A. photos]

COURTNEY HOPS OFF TODAY

sudden change will occur in the weather to delay the flight. Conditions now prevailing are not only just right for flying but practically ideal for a western crossing. This morning's observations showed ideal conditions practically all the way from Calshot to New York, with no change in the weather imminent.

At 2000 feet, which is the flying elevation Capt. Courtney hopes to maintain, there were southeasterly winds over the flying course from Valentia, Ireland, to Long. 15, west. From Long. 15, west, to Long. 20, west, there were easterly winds of a velocity of thirty miles per hour. From 20 west to 30 west, which is about midway across the Atlantic, it was blowing at a velocity of about thirty miles an hour. From 30 west to the coast of Newfoundland the wind was east, by north, by east, blowing at a velocity of thirty miles an hour.

When these winds were plotted upon the chart it was discovered Capt. Courtney will have a direct following wind for a considerable distance, assisting him materially. For the rest of the route there will be a side wind, 60 per cent helpful.

WIND MAY CHANGE

The only change in these winds that is likely Wednesday or Thursday is that the due easterly winds in mid-Atlantic will veer toward northeast. This veer, however, will be strongly favorable.

Apart from the winds other conditions are very good. No fogs are likely anywhere along the route. Visibility will be excellent.

It is expected there will be low clouds and considerable rain at a low level. But the clouds should be at this low level only, not at any place extending to an elevation of more than 1000 feet. They should be of no hindrance to the aviators, who will fly above them in a chartless sea of clear sunshine.

The most elaborate arrangements have been made to keep Capt. Courtney in touch with any change of weather during the flight. The reports supplied today were made up from advices from British, American and Scandinavian ships in all parts of the Atlantic; advices from all European meteorological stations; advices from the air ministry's own observation stations, and advices sent to London from the United States Weather Bureau.

The United States bureau was asked today to co-operate by sending four reports each twenty-four hours during the course of the flight and to also send its own forecast for the eastern coast of the United States.

GET LAST REPORTS

The last-minute reports from all these sources will be placed in the hands of Capt. Courtney just before he takes off. Then, through his wireless set, he will be able to listen to the reports of the wireless weather bulletins sent out twice daily to ships at sea by the British government. Ships along the route will be requested to resend these bulletins to make certain they are picked up by the Whale. When the Whale attains a position sufficiently near the coast of America, it will receive weather reports from wireless stations in the United States and Canada.

Capt. F. Entwhistle, chief of the meteorological aviation department of the British Air Ministry, said today the flyers never could expect better conditions. He said the weather would get gradually less and less favorable but be believed it would be several days before they could be described as unfavorable for a western crossing.

VALENTIA IN OLD ERIN EAGERLY AWAITS FLYER

VALENTIA (Ireland) July 19 (Exclusive)—When Capt. Frank T. Courtney arrives here in his Dorner Napier Whale flying boat to take fuel for his hop across the Atlantic he will be greeted by the whole population of the island, consisting of about 1400 persons.

The majority of the people here have never seen an airplane and excitement runs high as the hour of Capt. Courtney's arrival approaches. The Dornier Whale will be the first flying boat to alight in Valentia Harbor.

The only news of interest among the country folk is about Capt. Courtney and the weather.

The weather bureau from the wireless station here are being scanned eagerly. Many people are receiving weather reports from Daventry and circularizing them among the population.

One woman, 70 years of age, today asked: "Will it really come in the sky?"

Flyers Will Be Hawaii's Guests Till Wednesday

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (AP)—Ernest L. Smith and Emory B. Bronte Oakland-to-Hawaii flyers, are to remain in Hawaii until the 27th inst., so they may enjoy the entertainment program planned for them, beginning Thursday.

These were the arrangements made today. At the urgent request that Smith be permitted to remain in the islands to have a part in the celebration marking completion of the flight to Hawaii, A. K. Humphries, vice-president of the Pacific Air Transport Company, for whom the pilot works, agreed to permit him to remain in Honolulu until next Wednesday.

San Francisco and Oakland have planned to confer honors on the two civilian flyers when they arrive home. They are scheduled to arrive here August 3.

REICH ARMY ROW GROWS MORE ACUTE

Ill Feeling Increases in Belgium as Note Resume is Published in Berlin

BRUSSELS, July 19. (Exclusive)—The ill-feeling which has been generating for a fortnight between Germany and Belgium over the latter's accusations that the Reich army is larger and more powerful than it ought to be, became even sharper tonight when the Cabinet learned that the Wolff Agency in Berlin prematurely published a long resume of the German note received here yesterday.

The Belgians blame Berlin for bad faith, inasmuch as they agreed that all correspondence should be withheld from the press until after the final note the Belgian Cabinet spent the day drafting had been finished.

The controversy started two weeks ago when Berlin instructed the Minister to Brussels to call the attention of the Belgian government to the gross inaccuracies in the recent address of Minister of War De Broqueville in which the latter sounded the warning that the Germans possessed an army of 300,000 men, fully equipped and munitioned, and for which Belgium had no match in case of trouble.

An exchange of notes followed, with M. De Broqueville sticking by his statements and Berlin denying their veracity and demanding documentary proof in the sharpest manner.

Into the nervous, angry capital came Premier Raymond Poincare last Sunday and, it is understood, he left Premier Jaspar and Foreign Minister Vandervelde know that France is back of Belgium to the utmost in the present incident, urging them not to back down an inch before the Berlin demand.

INDIA POLICE KILL THREE IN MOB BATTLE

SIMLA (Punjab, British India) July 19. (AP)—Three persons were killed and fourteen injured at Kothala, a village in Maler Kotla, one of the punjab States, during a mob attack today on a body of police and soldiers seeking to make certain arrests. Reports from the village say that some members of the mob fired on the force, inflicting gunshot wounds and that the police then fired blank cartridges without effect. When this failed to disperse the crowd, the reports said that ball ammunition was used by the police before quiet could be restored.

no agreement on the question of the size of secondary cruisers, nor on the question of the size of the guns to be mounted on these warships.

Until this fundamental problem is settled nothing can be done. The total tonnage figures in cruisers, and, for that matter, also in destroyers and submarines, hinge on how to dispose of this particular cruiser difficulty, on which the British and Americans take diametrically different positions.

The British again made it clear today at a private meeting of the chief delegates of the three powers that it would be impossible for the British to keep within reasonably low total tonnage figures unless the Americans and Japanese agreed to keep the maximum size of the second category of cruisers down to the lowest possible displacement, and bind themselves not to install eight-inch guns on any cruisers except those of 10,000 tons. Six-thousand-ton cruisers—which the British prefer—would make this impossible, and that is why the Americans say they do not like it.

The Americans have asked for the right to build 8000-ton cruisers so that eight-inch guns could be mounted thereon, and have requested that no attempt be made to place a definite limit on the size of secondary cruisers.

The British seek low-tonnage cruisers with six-inch guns.

The Japanese do not really enter into this cruiser controversy, as none of their cruisers is due for replacement before the expiration of the projected treaty in 1936. They have four 7300-ton cruisers, carrying eight-inch guns, but these could be taken care of by special disposition in the treaty.

AMERICANS INSIST

The Americans are not only insisting on the liberty to mount eight-inch guns on secondary cruisers, but are contending that any agreement to restrict the number of 10,000-ton cruisers to about twelve must be conditional upon this very freedom of action as to size and armament of the smaller cruisers.

Mr. Gibson this afternoon received the international correspondents and told them of the progress being made in the conversations now going on.

"We have developed some new ideas as to the methods of approach to the cruiser-problem solution," Mr. Gibson said. "It would perhaps be premature to say just how hopeful these plans look, but they are worth exploring."

Mr. Gibson added that the present conversations among the "big six" consisted up to now of "very informal exchanges of views covering the whole range of the cruiser question."

The delegates, he said, "must get all the phases lined up to everybody's satisfaction."

"It will seem like a considerable time before we get through," he continued.

Informal exchange of views between the technical experts of the three delegations is occurring intermittently, but no convocation of the conference's technical committee proper is foreseen for the immediate future.

LONDON STARTS RUMOR OF CONFERENCE BREAK

LONDON, July 19. (AP)—The report was current in London newspaper quarters this evening that the return from Geneva of W. C. Bridgeman and Lord Cecil was a surprise to the government, which had not been notified of this, and the assumption was voiced that the naval conference had broken down.

This was entirely unconfirmed, and nothing official could be gathered in support of this aspect of the case. It is understood that the Cabinet discussed the Geneva situation during the day, and Premier Baldwin had talks on the subject with the Foreign Secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Lord Balfour and Admirals Beatty and Jellicoe.

No official statement with reference to these meetings was issued, but the understanding is that a telegram was sent to Mr. Bridgeman, asking him and Lord Cecil to come to London to discuss the situation before Premier Baldwin's departure for Canada.

WASHINGTON SEES NO SIGNS OF AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Examination today by Secretaries Kellogg and Wilbur and their immediate advisers on the Geneva naval conference questions of official reports from Ambassador Gibson, not only failed to disclose anything approximating an agreement in principle on the cruiser stumbling-block of the conference but also failed to give any indication that there was even a tentative understanding between the British and Japanese.

The only British-Japanese agreement of which the Washington government has knowledge was merely that the British suggestion of a combined cruiser and destroyer tonnage of 500,000 for the United States and Great Britain and 325,000 for Japan would be taken up for informal discussion. The announcement of the departure for London of the heads of the British delegation was taken as sufficient indication that those informal discussions failed to open the way for an agreement.

In view of these circumstances, Washington officials are watching with interest for developments in England when W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Earl Cecil, arrive there to explain the Geneva situation to their home government.

The suggested basis for informal discussion proved to be too vague and incomplete to afford officials here a real understanding of what was contemplated. It was clear, however, that so far as the suggestion concerned retention of 25 per cent of more than sixteen-year-old cruisers or twelve-year-old destroyers outside the tonnage limits, the proposals were wholly unsatisfactory to the Washington government.

The two secretaries and Admiral Eberle, chief of naval operations, aided by other naval officers and State Department advisers, went over the reports in Secretary Kellogg's office today with great care. They found it necessary, it is understood, to ask Ambassador Gibson for amplification on many points which were not clear as a result of the conversations in Geneva.

The whole question of the proportion of cruisers and destroyers in the combined tonnage figure, was omitted, as was the question of the amount that might be devoted to ships of the 10,000-ton type. The

Milwaukee Noisily Welcomes and Honors Son After Epochal Flight to Hawaii

MILWAUKEE, July 19. (AP)—A home town's honors to its son, who gained renown in an epochal flight to the Hawaiian paid today when Lieut. Lester J. Maitland revisited the city for a day.

Receiving a noisy welcome in the city he left in 1917 to embark upon an aviation career in the Army, Lieut. Maitland or "Les" to the home folks, entered heartily upon an intensive program. Into the twenty-four hours were jammed receptions, dinners, a parade and other functions in which he participated with his companion of the western flight, Lieut. Albert Hegenberger, at his side.

From the time they glided to earth at the county airport in a big black Fokker, after a brief voyage from Chicago, the two aviators were the cynosure of a city, which in carefree holiday fashion exhibited its joy over the achievement of its native son.

BALDWIN TO BE TOUR TALKER

Wales Will "Pass Buck" to Premier When They Come to Canada

LONDON, July 19. (AP)—The Prince of Wales wants to leave most of the speech making to Premier Baldwin when they go to Canada this summer in connection with the Dominion's diamond jubilee. Their official tour is scheduled to begin the 29th inst., and end August 10, next. They will sail from Southampton Saturday.

The Prince does not like public speaking, and, according to close friends, has indicated that he will do only a small part of the talking. Both the Prince and the Premier realize that the schedule of official engagements awaiting them will make the trip a strenuous one. Prince George, who also will make the trip, is congratulating himself that his status is merely that of passenger.

Men Trapped After Making Rum-Raid Reports

Score of Prohibition Cases to be Thrown Out

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Steps were taken by the District Attorney's office today to nolle prosse approximately a score of prohibition cases as a result of two of the capital's squad of "undercover" agents entering pleas of guilty in Police Court to charges of perjury in obtaining evidence on dry-law violators.

The agents, Charles Dewitt Davis and Jesse J. Hall, specifically were charged with swearing to the purchase of whisky from a "Danny Mills" at his home. Authorities said a squad of police were at the residence and that the agents did not even show up.

Davis was employed last March by the police department upon recommendation of Henry M. Douthitt, field secretary of the Citizens' Service Association, an organization seeking to aid prohibition enforcement by having a person in each city block report on violations in his neighborhood.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

Hall was said by authorities to be a protege of Davis. They were held for grand jury on bonds of $5000 each.

Sergt. Little, chief of the police liquor squad, said the agents also confessed to having sworn falsely in four other cases, while Raymond Neudecker, Assistant District Attorney, estimated that "about twenty-five or thirty cases" in which Davis and Hall were chief witnesses will be nolle prossed without delay.

Police said the agents first were suspected when in a number of cases they obtained "Red" evidence and raiding squads usually found only gin or corn whisky. The two were told to make a "buy" from "Danny Mills," but Sergt. Little, said he pointed out the house so there would be no mistake. "Danny Mills" was a fictitious name and the house was occupied as a residence by Policeman Humphries.

COMPLAINS OF POOR PAY

The agents later swore to warrants for a raid at the given address, but finally said the "evidence" on which the warrant was based had been purchased from a bootlegger.

"I have a wife and children to support," Davis was quoted as having said. "I have been trying to be square. Don't forget I only get $2.50 for each case, and sometimes it takes a long time to work up one case."

Asked if any prohibition or police official ever told him to frame a person to obtain evidence, police said the agent replied:

"Absolutely not. You don't have to frame anybody to obtain evidence in Washington."

TOKIO, July 19. (AP)—Owing to the inability of the Kawasaki Dockyard Company to obtain funds to pay the wages of its 8000 workers, the Navy Department has agreed to take over the construction of two cruisers and four submarines which have been started by the company.

The dockyard is working on other enterprises, therefore financial quarters do not think it likely there will be bankruptcy proceedings, although it is believed that reorganization of the company will be necessary in the near future.

Men Whose Case Brought on Riot Slip Into Hungary

Attorney Also Leaves While Families Hide Out

[Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune]

VIENNA, July 19. (Exclusive)—The two Tscharmann brothers and Julius Pinter, of Schattendorf, who fired upon a labor parade January 30, killing two persons, and who were found not guilty by the Austrian court, thereby bringing about the two-day revolution in Vienna, have fled into Hungary. Walter Iethl, their attorney, also fled to Hungary. The families of all concerned are hiding, or have fled.

Meanwhile, Vienna's State Prosecuting Attorney has filed a brief for a retrial of the three men, who had admitted their guilt, but who had been freed for political reasons, because the Austrian authorities were afraid to antagonize Burgenland, which was former Hungarian territory, where the murders occurred.

Five hundred persons have been arrested. The police broke into the editorial department of a Communist paper during a meeting, where they assert leaders of the revolt assembled, Saturday night and arrested everyone in sight.

The Foreign Diplomatic Corps held a meeting in the Czecho-Slovakian Embassy, where it discussed measures. The Italian and Hungarian representatives, according to Allegemeine Zeitung, declared they favored intervention by their troops for the protection of Embassy and consulates. The Jugo-Slavs and Czecho-Slovakians declared that military intervention will be offered by their countries only if the Communists get control of the government, and if their aid officially is requested by the Austrian government.

It was reported officially that eighty-seven dead have been identified. Newspapers report more than 100 dead and more than 1000 casualties.

Premier Seipel was attacked Sunday by two men who jumped on the running-board of his auto and tried to hit him. Mgr. Seipel's automobile was recognized by the two men who hopped on the running-board of the car and said the churchman had insulted them. Premier Seipel's companion engaged in a fist fight with the two men, who were thrown to the street when the chauffeur speeded up the car.

WORLD'S WORKERS ASKED TO "STAND BY AUSTRIANS"

MOSCOW, July 19. (AP)—An appeal to the workers of the world to "stand by the Austrians" in the conflict which broke out in Vienna last week has been issued by the executive committee of the Communist International. The committee also asks Austrian workmen to resort to arms to win against the "oppressors" and exhorts soldiers to make common cause with the workers and to permit no foreign troops to enter Austrian territory.

Communists here, however, apparently see little chance for immediate success of any workers' rebellion in Vienna, but last week's outbreak is taken to indicate that the spirit of revolution is alive in Europe. Importance is attached to asserted political features of the Vienna disturbances as showing progress in the class struggle.

PLANE WILL TRY TO MAKE RAIN

Theory of Electrified Sand Dropped Through Cloud to Be Given Test

CAPE TOWN, July 19. (Exclusive)—To meet the demand of farmers in the drouth-stricken areas the Cape government announces it is willing to supply an airplane and pilot to test the Hall theory that rain can be precipitated by dropping electrified sand from above the clouds.

Maj. Miller, a member of the Assembly, also responded to the appeal, and will fly to Port Elizabeth this week-end in an endeavor to produce rain from the air.

The distress continues, the most acute in the history of the Union of South Africa, with relief funds being raised in all towns. These, however, are barely adequate to meet the demands of the sufferers.

BOY'S STORY OF MURDER UNSHAKEN

Cross-examination Fails to Discredit Witness in Birger Gangster Trial

BENTON (Ill.) July 19. (Exclusive) Cross-examination late today failed to discredit Harry Thomasson, 19 years of age, the boy lifer who told a jury that Charley Birger, gang leader, sent him and his late brother, Kimo, 17, to kill Mayor Joe Adams of West City, murdered on his doorstep last December 12.

His testimony deeply involved Art Newman in the murder plot, and he said that Ray Hyland drove the boys to the scene of the killing and away again.

A few corroborative witnesses followed young Thomasson on the stand and court then adjourned. The State will close the case on which State's Attorney Martin is demanding the death of all three defendants some time tomorrow morning. What the defense, which gets under way then, will be is a matter of conjecture. The lawyers have made no announcements.

Weather Held Undisturbed by Man's Efforts

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (Exclusive)—Farming, agriculture and other marks of civilization have little or no effect on the weather, and those who assert that these things make a change in the climate of a region are in error, Floyd Young, frost expert of the Department of Agriculture, concludes as the result of a study of the problem.

"Almost the only thing man does to change the climate is alter the velocity of wind," he said. "By cutting down trees, by erecting buildings or planting wind breaks, man has made noticeable wind changes. Irrigating a region has almost no effect, notwithstanding what people say about the water increasing the humidity. Irrigating effects only a temporary change at the time the work is carried on.

Irrigated areas are so small in proportion to the rest of the country that whatever atmospheric changes may take place in these spots can have little climatic effect in the country."

Baby Carriage Bought at Fair by Duke of York

LONDON, July 19. (AP)—The Duke of York was an interested visitor today to the big advertising exposition at Olympia and about the first thing he did was to buy a minature perambulator for his baby daughter, the Princess Elizabeth.

The Duke spied the perambulator on a stand. He picked it up, jogged it up and down and then arranged to take it. A little later when he came to a stall filled with things made at pottery works by former soldiers he saw a jug bearing the likeness of David Lloyd George.

"I must have that," declared the Duke, "but how about Mr. Baldwin?"

The royal visitor chuckled when the stall keeper explained that he had run out of likenesses of Prime Minister Baldwin because "there had been such a demand for them."

Angeleno Dies in Crash Near Gila Bend, Ariz

GILA BEND (Ariz.) July 19. (AP)—Floyd J. Borden, traveling salesman for a Los Angeles mercantile house, died here from injuries received this morning when his car collided with a large tourist truck twenty miles west of Gila Bend.

Both cars were demolished. Borden was pinned beneath his overturned machine for an hour before passing motorists came to his rescue.

The occupants of the truck were too badly hurt to be able to give their identity or cause of the accident. They will recover, physicians declared.

NEW PHONE RATE FOR MONROVIA GRANTED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (Exclusive)—Authorization for a new rate for telephone service between Arcadia and Monrovia, mutually satisfactory to utilities and the public, according to documents on file with the Railroad Commission, has been granted. The present so-called free service will be discontinued and a charge of 5 cents made for the first five minutes, and an additional charge of 5 cents for an overtime period of five minutes. The Monrovia Telephone and Telegraph Company will connect with the lines of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to provide the service.

CHINESE REVOLT CALLED FAILURE

Reverting to New Era of Military Rivalry

Chiang Alliance With Late Enemies Confirmed

Dr. Sun's Widow Repudiates Cause as Lost

SHANGHAI, July 19. (Exclusive) The Chinese revolution has flivvered and the situation is reverting to a new era of military rivalries similar to the old regime, excepting that new figures are on the stage, is the prevailing opinion among Chinese intellectuals in Shanghai today who attribute various causes to the failure of the social and political upheaval, some blaming the Russian Communists and others charging that Japanese intervention in Shantung is responsible, while still others place the blame on the powers' Nanking ultimatum, which was responsible for Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's defection, causing the split in the Kuomintang.

Probably the best explanation is received from a young American returned student attached to the Nanking faction, who told the correspondent that the chief cause of the trouble is that the "Chinese people have slogans and banners, but the militarists still have rifles and soldiers."

SITUATION NEBULOUS

The new situation still is nebulous, but it is confirmed that Gen. Chiang is negotiating an alliance with Gen. Chang Tso-Lin and Yen Hsi-Shan against the Wuhan group, including Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang and Tang Shen-Tso. The activities of the civilian officials are almost completely subordinated by the military, who are rough-shodding over all.

Gen. Chiang's decision to cease his northern expedition and join his former enemies was precipitated by the rapid advance of the Wuhan forces down the Yangtze, occupying Kiangsi Province and preparing immediately to advance on Nanking. Owing to Gen. Chiang's long extended line from Canton to the Shantung border he is unable to oppose his enemies on two fronts and has decided to declare an armistice of the Shantung fighting in order to withdraw his troops to Nanking for the purpose of opposing the Wuhan forces, which are advancing down the river without interruption.

Meanwhile the Wuhan government, due to the pressure of the Chrisjian general, Feng Yu-Hsiang, kicked out the Communists and civilian government as well and declared a military dictatorship with a declaration of war against Gen. Chiang.

CHEN JOINS BORODIN

An unconfirmed report states that Eugene Chen has fled and joined M. Borodin, Communist adviser to the Nationalist government, at Kuling, while Mme. Sun Yat Sen has retired from public life, issuing a declaration that the social and political revolution is finished, that the Sun Yat Sen principles are subordinated to the Kuomintang-dominated military factions, that the revolutionary party has become merely an organ for a new crop of military dictators, who are overriding the civilian groups.

Mme. Sun Yat Sen's declaration was precipitated by the Wuhan coup d'etat of Gen. Ho Chian, subordinate of Tang Shen-Tso, while the Wuhan advance on Nanking is led by Chang Fak-Wei, chief of the Iron Army.

The Nanking government is panicky, while it is rumored that the British are delaying the departure of their troops owing to the likelihood of renewed fighting in this area.

Levine and His Pilot Install Aerial Compass

PARIS, July 19. (AP)—Maurice Drouhin, the French aviator who is to pilot the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia back to America, and Charles A. Levine, his American backer, visited Le Bourget today to install a French aerial compass and adjust the indicator. They did not fly the plane.

Levine refused to comment on terms of his contract with Drouhin. L'Intransigeant says the contract provides that Drouhin receives, for the period of one year, half the profits of the expedition after expenses have been paid but in no case is he to receive less than one-third of the profits. Meanwhile Levine is said to have deposited 300,000 francs which would go to Drouhin's wife in the event of the aviator's death. It is also stated that 100,000 francs have been posted as a forfeit which Drouhin would receive in case of his replacement by another pilot. Levine also has insured the pilot's life.

LOWER MANHATTAN SHAKEN BY EXPLOSION

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—With a report that was heard throughout Lower Manhattan and Brooklyn, a two-story frame building at the Quarantine Station on Staten Island, used for storing chemicals was shattered by an explosion early today. Windows in buildings covering a wide radius on the island were blown out, but no one was injured. The cause of the explosion is believed to have been due to spontaneous combustion. Fire followed, but was brought under control before serious damage was done.

SUSPECTED SLAYER OF WIFE ENDS LIFE

DE FOREST PICKS DEMPSEY TO WIN

Former Trainer of ex-Champ Predicts Kayo Victory For Manassa Mauler

NEW YORK, July 19. (Exclusive)—Jimmie DeForest, former trainer of Jack Dempsey predicted today that the ex-champion will be returned the winner in his bout with Jack Sharkey at the Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

"I believe that Dempsey will win by a knockout within five rounds or less," stated DeForest, "and if the fight goes the full fifteen rounds I think that he will get the decision. There you have it—Dempsey is my selection."

DeForest has watched both Dempsey and Sharkey closely in their training period and his prediction should carry a lot of weight.

Mercur Beats Gorchakoff in Singles Match

BROOKLINE (Mass.) July 19. (AP)—The defeat of George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, first seeded player in the tournament, in a three-set third-round match in the thirty-fifth annual Longwood Bowl singles play here today, was a sharp and wholly unexpected upset.

Clifford B. Marsh, former captain of the Williams College tennis team, eliminated the youthful conqueror of William T. Tilden, II, in a match which found him pressing for every point to win, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Fritz Mercur of Philadelphia, who won a leg on the Longwood Bowl in 1924, encountered some rough spots in his match with Ben Gorchakoff, who, with Norval Craig, both of California, won the Rhode Island State doubles at the Agawam Hunt Club last week. Mercur won the match, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

The other favorites came through the third round, which was completed today, without much trouble. John Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal.,

O'DONNELL AND GANS IN DRAW

Billy Grimes Cops Verdict Over Stewart McLean

BY KAYOWE

Johnny O'Donnell will write Referee Frank Holborrow a letter this morning which will run something like this: "Thank you, Mr. Holborrow, for the nice draw you gave me with Baby Joe Gans at the Olympic last night. I didn't deserve it, but it's nice to find friends in Los Angeles after one has been away for a couple of years."

BABY JOE GANS.

Maybe it was the heat, or maybe it was an early Christmas spirit that actuated Frank Holborrow, but whatever it was he robbed Gans. Although O'Donnell, making his second fight since he recovered from a broken arm, staged a courageous battle and carried the assault to his foe, he was outclassed.

In the words of my peerless seat mate, Gans took O'Donnell in the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds like Grant took Richmond.

Baby Joe had O'Donnell reeling drunkenly in the seventh round, and gave him a severe peppering in the next two rounds, the tenth being waged somewhat on an even basis.

FANS BACK O'DONNELL

All this is aside from the fact that up to the seventh Gans was ahead on points, although the ringside section of the house yelled crazily every time O'Donnell landed a telling punch on the black boy.

O'Donnell's biggest moment came in the first round when he floored Gans with a left hook. It was not a staggering wallop and the black gladiator was up in a second.

Thereafter Gans outboxed O'Donnell, and the white boy looked best when he chose to get in close and whale away at the negro's midsection. Both suffered cuts in the sixth round when they bumped heads. O'Donnell came out of the mix-up with a gash on top of his head and Gans was cut above the right eye.

The Stewart McLean-Billy Grimes ten-rounder, which preceded the main event, was awful. Grimes is a Billy Tingle type of fighter. Once or twice you can stand him, but eventually he will bore the most patient of us. Grimes was awarded the decision.

WILLIAMS STOPPED

Dario Barron won by a schnical knockout in the fourth round over Johnny Williams because a cut over the latter's left eye bled like a slaughterhouse puncture. Johnny Schiff stopped the bloodshed. Barron opened the cut in the first round with a right-hander and floored his foe in the fourth.

CANADIAN BOWLERS WIN

GLADIATORS AWAIT GONG AFTER WEEKS OF WORK

Dempsey Now in Top Trim For Contest

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, SARATOGA LAKE (N. Y.) July 19. (AP)—Closing training with an easy five-round workout, Jack Dempsey today hammered light and heavy bags for nine minutes as proof that he has suffered no injury to his left arm.

Tapering off in the stretch of preparations for the fifteen-round battle with Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium Thursday night, Jack displayed all the viciousness of perfect mental and physical trim. The former heavyweight champion sought only to add a final touch to marksmanship and condition before leaving tomorrow morning by automobile and train for New York.

JACK DEMPSEY.

Apparently aware that reports of injury to his portside battery, strongest weapon in the Dempsey armament, had spread far and wide, Jack opened up on both bags with a barrage of left hooks that nearly tore the sacks from their moorings. The rat-a-tat-tat of the light leather, sounding steadily against the board ceiling, during the six-minute drill, was broken occasionally as Jack grunted, whanged over a terrific left, and growled toward the spectators as if to dare con-

Sharkey Slams Punching Bag As Final Act

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—With a last resounding swipe at a punching bag after three final rounds in the ring, Jack Sharkey today wound up his training for the battle of his life against Jack Dempsey Thursday night. Only a long walk in Central Park and a rub down are on the card for tomorrow, the fighter having reached the peak of condition and his fighting weight of 192 pounds.

JACK SHARKEY.

Trained down to a fine edge, Sharkey found it harder than ever to "pull" his punches today, and he uncorked some steaming rights and lefts in sparring which drew words of caution from his corner.

Both hands were dealing punishment in the fighter's one round with Paul Cavalier and two with Johnny Urban, but the most effective punch Sharkey landed was a vicious left hook that was almost a swing, following close on the heels of a right feint. It staggered Urban despite the huge sixteen-ounce glove which pillowed Sharkey's fist.

Sharkey swept through the final workout with a dash, speed and a confident smile, yet he showed no slackening in attention to training details. Several minutes of rope jumping to limber his legs preceded

SHARKEY STILL FAVORITE

NEW YORK, June 19. (AP)—Jack Sharkey continued a favorite in the betting today to defeat Jack Dempsey in their fifteen-round battle Thursday night. Wagers were reported at odds ranging from 6 to 5 to 13 to 10 on Sharkey to win.

The bulk of Dempsey money was placed at longer odds, about 1 to 3, on the chance of a knockout victory for the former champion.

The card of bouts supplementary to the main go Thursday night was completed today when George Manley of Denver and Ray Neuman of Jersey City, light heavyweights, were matched for a six-rounder to be staged after the Sharkey-Dempsey battle. Four six-round bouts will precede the main event.

DEMPSEY IN PERFECT PHYSICAL CONDITION FOR SHARKEY FIGHT; LACK OF YOUTH ONLY DRAWBACK IN DRIVE TO GAIN BACK TITLE

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, SARATOGA LAKE (N. Y.) July 19. (AP)—If physical condition alone spelled fistic prowess, Jack Dempsey today, his backers assert, would be the heavyweight champion of the world, rather than a former titleholder facing the bitterest struggle of a colorful career when he meets Jack Sharkey Thursday night at the Yankee Stadium.

TEX RICKARD

Driving through a training period of almost three months with a fierce determination to accomplish what no other former heavyweight champion ever has done—win back the title once lost—Dempsey, at 32, today is declared to be physically stronger than at any point in his ring career and his general condition well nigh perfect. He says so himself, his handlers "admit" it and most of the critical observers agree to it.

But somewhere along the path Dempsey blazed through the heavyweight division for seven years from the dust and heat of Toledo to the debacle in the rain at Philadelphia last fall, the erstwhile Manassa Mauler has left youth and the prime attribute of youth—speed.

The panther stalk is gone, the clawing viciousness of a deadly, furious attack is a part of that past and with it has departed co-ordination of brain and perfectly tuned muscles.

Most of the critics believe that Dempsey, to win at all, must finish his man in five rounds—that the youth and strength of Sharkey must triumph in the long fifteen-round run. But Dempsey has this to say:

"I'll knock Sharkey out in two punches. But if I don't, have no fear that my strength will not carry over the long route. I'm in the finest shape of my career

ANGELS LOSE TO ACORNS

League-Leaders Rap McClelland for Four Runs in Two Rounds and Capture Opener, 4 to 3

BY BOB RAY

Ivan Howard's tumbling Acorns put a halt to their great dropping act yesterday at Wrigley Field, where they nosed out the tail-end Angels, 4 to 3, in the opener of a brand new series. In the past it has been the custom of Acorns to fall in the fall of the year, but the last month has seen Mr. Howard's troupe doing so much dropping out of season that their once long lead has dwindled down to something that gives Ivan the creeps when he thinks about it.

At that the Oaks were lucky to win yesterday's contest. Had it not been for Lewis McClelland, the Seraphs' lanky southpaw rookie from the Mississippi Valley League, the Oaks probably would not have come close to winning. Lanky Lew started on the mound for the Cherubs and the Acorns fell over him in the first two innings to chalk up all four of their markers. After Lanky Lew had been lifted the Oaks could get only two hits off the combined pitching efforts of Bruce Cunningham and

BAKER DISPLAYS CLASS IN FAST RING WORKOUT

BY PAUL LOWRY

Sergt. Sammy Baker gave the natives of our fair city their first chance to watch him in a boxing ring at the Manhattan gymnasium yesterday, and he did just enough in four rounds of fistic pleasantry to indicate that he is several kinds of a sensation in a welterweight package.

SERGT SAMMY BAKER.

FAST PUNCHER

In those four rounds against boys who could do very little with him, Baker demonstrated that he is a very busy gent with the gloves. Buster perhaps, than the energetic allster Ace Hudkins, whom he engages in mortal combat at Wrigley Field next Monday night.

For one thing Baker, if yesterday's workout was any criterion, is a straighter puncher than

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs regained the National League crest today by tripping up the Giants by 8 to 5 while rain forced idleness on the Pirates. The victory marred John McGraw's jubilee celebration, however, as did a steady downpour of rain throughout the great part of the game. The umpires had a conference during the sixth on the advisability of stopping play, but voted to continue. Hartnett connected for his ninth home run of the year, with two on in the eighth, and English, following Hartnett at bat, cracked another long-distance wallop. ## CINCY COLLECTS

BOSTON, July 19. (AP)—Cincinnati bunched hits off Robertson in the early innings today and piled up a good lead, eventually winning, 8 to 2. It was the Reds' third consecutive victory here. Rixey held the Braves to six hits. Moore played shortstop for Boston for the last six innings and fielded brilliantly. He was middle man in three fast double plays. Bressler and Hargrave hit savagely for Cincinnati. The score:

CLAIM DEMPSEY IN BEST SHAPE

tradiction that the hand was in any but perfect condition.

Again in a driving assault on the heavy bag, Dempsey put every ounce of power behind driving left smashes intended for the body. Previous to the three rounds of bag punching, the former title-holder yanked pulleys and shadow-boxed for two rounds. He ended the day with a minute of ring exercise.

Dempsey will leave the camp about 11 a.m. tomorrow morning after an hour of road work.

PHILHARMONIC WILL GIVE FIGHT RETURNS

Blow-by-blow fight returns of the Dempsey-Sharkey fight will be given at the Philharmonic Auditorium tomorrow afternoon. The doors will open at 4 o'clock. Amusement specialties will precede the announcements of the titanic New York heavyweight mill.

M'GRAW HONORED BY FANS ON COMPLETING QUARTER CENTURY AS GIANT BOSS

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Baseballdom joined hands with New York City today in honoring John J. McGraw, veteran manager of the New York Giants, who won ten National League pennants and three world's series championships for the nation's metropolis and who in twenty-five seasons at the helm has finished in the second division only twice.

It was twenty-five years ago today that McGraw came to New York as Giant manager during the bitter days of a baseball war. McGraw at that time left the American League to return to his first love but American League magnates turned out on his jubilee to pay tribute to his remarkable career.

RIVAL ON HAND

Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, took a prominent part in the celebration and Ban Johnson, retiring head of the American League and once one of McGraw's bitterest foemen, was an honorary member of the executive committee.

Despite showers, 30,000 turned out at the Polo Grounds where a parade was held in McGraw's honor with many notables in line. Mayor Walker of New York and the trans-Atlantic air heroes, Commander Richard E. Byrd and Clarence Chamberlin, headed the march. Other celebrities were Baseball Commissioner Renesaw Landis, President John Heydler of the National League, Secretary John Farrell of the minor leagues and Emil Fuchs, owner of the Braves.

McGraw received numerous gifts of silver and flowers along with scores of congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the world.

GIVEN SILVER

The New York players presented their pilot with a silver service, Roger Bresnahan making the address. A silver platter was a gift of the Lambs' Club and a silver-headed cane a remembrance from the park ushers.

There was a dramatic moment when Joe Humphries, the prize-fight announcer, introduced the speakers. The crowd in a section near the Chicago bench raised a clamor for Hughie Jennings. The former comrade of McGraw on the Orioles and assistant manager was sitting quietly by himself in the stands. Jennings was escorted to the home plate for a speech.

The defeat today at the hands of the Cubs during the jubilee festival duplicated McGraw's team showing in the first contest, under his management two decades and a half ago, when the Giants were downed by the Phillies. Before the regular championship game, prominent theatrical stars burlesqued a contest.

OBSERVATIONS

AFTER a perusal of several million words sent out by various and sundry individuals anent the forthcoming demonstration of fistic repartee involving Messrs. J. Sharkey and J. Dempsey we have decided that the guy who flips a nickel and picks Dempsey if it is heads and Sharkey if it is tails is more likely to pick the winner than the one who tries to assimilate all the language and do any reasoning with same. One expert says Sharkey is in the pink, another says he is slow and lumbering; one says he is a great boxer, another reports that he is wide open as he attacks and is a sucker for a left to the body. One says Dempsey is an old hollow shell and another says the ex-champion is in the best condition of his life. What are you going to dope out from that sort of information?

Funny how things have swung back toward Dempsey during the past few days. Two weeks ago, when the Sharkey "build-up" campaign was at its height, you couldn't find a soul who thought Dempsey had a chance. A few threatened to call the S.P.C.A. and have the thing stopped. But now the pendulum is swinging back and a lot of the boys who have been wavering in their support of the former man-mauler have about arrived at the conclusion that Jack isn't so bad, after all; or at least, that even if he isn't as good as he once was, perhaps Sharkey really isn't what they thought he was.

Mentioning New York reminds us that our old college chum, Howard Angus, just blew into town the other day. He used to be in The Times sport department and marched away to war and got promoted on the field and after the war served on the general staff in Washington under Gen. Pershing, and now he's vice-president and "head man," as the Two Black Crows would say, of the National Broadcasting Company. Angus was more or less of an athlete in college and afterward developed more so. The only thing that kept him off the all-American football team was the fact that Walter Camp didn't have time to visit the Coast to see the Morning Glory vs. Twilight Squirt annual engagement.

Complete returns from the Dempsey-Sharkey fight will be announced from the ring. The doors will open at 4:30 o'clock.

Tilden Clowns After Winning Tennis Match

DETROIT, July 19. (AP)—William Tilden II, unable to keep himself busied playing tennis, brought his avocations of actor and coach to the fore today. He played one round in the national clay court tennis tournament during the lunch hour with Walter Thomas, one of his pupils, but during a later doubles match turned actor, and, following this, took Thomas and Young Coen in hand to correct faults he had noted in their play.

His doubles partner, A. L. (Sandy) Wiener, had to bear the brunt of the acting, Wiener's fondness for netting the ball causing Tilden's visible acting anguish. However, the two Philadelphians won easily.

SEATTLE SUDS TAKE OPENER FROM BELLS

SEATTLE, July 19. (AP)—Seattle took the Missions down the line and copped the first game of the series, 9 to 5, here today. Brandt allowed the Bells no get an early lead by letting two runs get by in the first and one in the second and third, while Weinert held the tribe to one apiece in the first and third. The fourth frame, however, brought the fireworks and the Indians came out of it five runs and seven hits to the good. A triple play in the eighth featured the game. Score:

DETROIT COPS

DETROIT, July 19. (AP)—Detroit snatched a game from the lost today, scoring seven runs in the ninth inning, beating Philadelphia 10 to 9, in the last game of their series. Seventeen players were used by the Tigers, including four pitchers. Walberg for Philadelphia kept the Tigers under control for eight innings and went into the ninth with a six-run advantage, the result of an eight-run rally by his mates.

In the ninth Detroit fell upon him and upon Rommell, who succeeded him, a triple by Fothergill scoring three of the runs. Pate, relieving Rommell, was wild, walking two after Heilman had doubled, and then he grooved the ball for Pinch Hitter Bassler, who singled home the tying and winning runs. The score:

SPLIT TWO GAMES

CLEVELAND, July 19. (AP)—Cleveland and Boston broke even in a double-header here today, Cleveland taking the first, 4 to 2, and Boston the second, 6 to 5. Each team registered a five-run rally in the second game, Boston winning in the fifth when Shaner forced Regan, stole second and scored on a single by Carlyle.

The two games were marked by four casualties. Pitcher Wilson had his left wrist put out of commission by a pitched ball thrown by Miller in the first game. Shaner of the Red Sox accidentally hit Catcher Autry with his bat, and inflicted a gash that required four stitches. Pitcher Hudlin was hit with a ball batted by Shaner in the second game, and was knocked unconscious, while Catcher Hofmann was forced to retire with a split finger. Burns hit his fortieth double of the season in the first game, and his forty-first in the second game, going ahead of his record of 1926. The scores:

JACOBS BEATEN

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Washington drove Elmer Jacobs off the hill in the sixth inning after erratic support and opportune hitting had given the Senators a lead to win today's game, 4 to 3. Hollis Thurston, who started for Washington, was driven off the hill in the fifth inning when Marberry came to the rescue to force Peck to hit into a double play, which broke up a rally. Thereafter the locals were unable to get a safe hit off Marberry. The score:

Battles Londos in Feature Olympic Mat Clash Tonight

McLARNIN BOUT IS POSTPONED

There will be no Luis Vincentini-Jimmy McLarnin fight at the Olympic Auditorium next Tuesday night, it was learned yesterday from reliable sources. The boys may fight it out August 9.

A postponement was necessary, it was said, because Vincentini found himself unable to get into condition, and it was denied that the Hudkins-Baker imbroglio at Wrigley Field the evening previous had anything to do with the matter.

his legs. Where most wrestlers would use their arms in reaching for a grip Pesek uses his legs.

COMBINATION HOLD

Pesek's winning hold is a combination double-wristlock and "figure four" body or head scissors. That is the hold he had Stecher pinned with, and which the referee, after listening to Stecher's manager's argument, called a strangle hold and awarded the champion the bout.

Renato Gardini, the big Italian, is being sent against Ormand Shoemaker in one of the special events. Shoemaker has been devoting more time to wrestling lately, and should make things interesting for Gardini for the time they are in the ring.

Russell Vis, mat coach at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and Marvel Chin, a sensation from Kansas City, will meet in the other special bout. Don MacDonald of Long Beach will referee.

MACK TO TACKLE EX-SAILOR TONIGHT

Marty (Kid) Mack of Long Beach and Sailor Ashmore of San Pedro, welterweights, meet for the third time tonight at the Wilmington Bowl in a widely advertised "grudge match" of ten rounds.

Joe Bell and Billy Blake, 138-pounders, meet in a six-round return affair in the semifinal of the evening. Andy Mitchell and Otis Curry, heavyweights, tangle in the six-round special. Ad Lozano meets Gene Eddy and Ben McClellan faces Jimmy Valinti in the fours. A capacity attendance is predicted.

DEMPSEY CHARMS FAMOUS WRITER DURING INTERVIEW

BY CLARENCE BUDINGTON KELLAND

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, SARATOGA (N. Y.) July 19.—If sculpture will win prize fights, Jack Dempsey deserves to be perpetual champion.

I saw Dempsey for the first time in my life as he stepped into the ring at White Sulphur Springs, and whatever prejudice I may have carried against the man was swept away.

As an achievement in the way of a human being, he is superb. To me he was quite breath-taking, and he possesses in abundance that rare quality, magnetism.

One cannot see him all but nude, either in repose or in indescribably lithe and graceful movement, without understanding why it is that thousands of men are battling for tickets to watch him in his match Thursday night with Jack Sharkey.

LOOKS SUPREME

To see him once, and in action, is to become obsessed with the belief that he is supreme in his chosen line. If he were beaten, it must have been some strange error of unkind fate which is bound to rectify itself. If Sharkey has ounces of personality, Dempsey has pounds.

There is about his training quarters none of the roughneck, rather rollicking insouciance to be found near Sharkey. All is preoccupation. His sparring partners sit together in corners of the piazza and discuss learned points of condition with heads close together.

That charmingly disarming pirate, Leo Flynn, the manager, is highly convincing in his role of man of affairs. I do not think I have ever seen quite so energetically busy a person, nor one more intent upon his job. From desiring to sock Flynn, as the language of the art has it, upon the button, one grows upon contact to something rather better than amused tolerance.

HAS STAGE INSTINCT

And as for Dempsey, he is invisible. You are aware of his nearness. He impends over the scene, but he does not appear—until the stage is set and the entrance ready. Then he comes and one is satisfied.

Either Dempsey is reticent, he is occupied pleasurably in seclusion, or he has the instinct of a great actor. He awaits his moment, appears, monopolizes the stage, disappears. And the King of England is much easier to approach. I know, because I have tried both. A cat may look at a king, but it takes a skilled burglar with diamond drills and high explosive to penetrate to this former champion.

I found Dempsey sitting coatless on the piazza of the cottage, engaged seriously in a game of casino with a friend. It w s a serious game and at a serious point, for the friend had just succeeded in building an edifice of nines, and Dempsey had no nine. It must be a bitter thing for the most discussed fighter in the world to have no nine!

Dempsey arose to acknowledge the introduction, and his pleasant eyes smiled. They were not now the level, concentrated, almost savage eyes I had seen in the ring an hour before. They were kindly eyes, companionable eyes.

I told him what I wanted, and he said he would be glad to help me. I told him I wanted to be able to tell folks a little about what sort of man he actually was—not the fighter, but Jack Dempsey himself. He thought it over and nodded as if at the reasonableness of the request.

ORDINARY FELLOW

"I'm just an ordinary sort of fellow," he said, "and I guess I think the things and like the things ordinary people think and like. Mrs. Dempsey and I enjoy doing things together. We like the theater.

"How about the pictures?"

"We like to go once in a while," said he.

"No, I mean to act in the pictures."

Dempsey shook his head decidedly. "I don't like it. I never did like it. I just went into them because it was between times and I had nothing else to do, and it looked like some easy money. I never want to act again. No, sir; I never thought I was an actor for a minute. I'm a fighter. I never kidded myself I could act."

MUSIC, PINOCHLE AND GOLF

"We like a musical once in a while," he said. "I like music. And I like casino and pinochle—and golf. And I like to fish and shoot. Just like any other young fellow," he explained.

His idea was to show me that he was normal, with a normal man's desires. There was, he wished to explain, nothing extraordinary about him but his fighting ability. Otherwise he was just like anybody else.

There is more to him than a mere fighter. There is more than a mere bruiser to a man who can rise from the brakebeams, from the estate of a common hobo to be, as Dempsey unqualifiedly is, a fit companion for gentlemen. Not fighting instinct alone will do that. There must be a natural adaptability, a power of assimilation.

Possibly Dempsey tried very hard to improve his external self, but I incline to think it was a natural process of deposit. As his success threw him more and more into the society of men and women of less rugged habits, their manner of speaking and acting left its impress upon him as the silt of a river is left in its delta.

NO HIGHBROW

I went bearing a prejudice against him; no fair-minded man could come away with that prejudice still upon his person. Dempsey captivates you. Distinctly he has charm. From hoping Sharkey would knock his head off I have turned about face and will be made quite happy if he knocks the heads off both Sharkey and Tunney. Which will cost me money. Actually, he is the sort of man who can make you hope to lose your own money!

His outlook on life is sane. He has no aspirations to become a highbrow, and he doesn't wish to be misunderstood as a man who makes any pretense of being what he is not. That is something like basic honesty. And Dempsey inspires loyalty. Even in the hardy young men he batters about the training ring daily. And he batters them. It is as he says; he is a fighter. He doesn't play at fighting. A practice bout is a fight just as much as a fight is a fight, and anybody who hires out as a sparring partner wants well to bear that in mind.

In the ring Dempsey is quite another person, resembling in no respect whatever his antagonist of Thursday, Sharkey. All the time Sharkey is boxing with sparring partners you know it. There is a certain laxness about it and an air that this really doesn't matter very much after all.

With Dempsey it is deadly earnest. He tucks in his chin and bores in with that lithe, beautiful stride. And he hits with intention. Also his partners hit him with intention. I saw in the afternoon half a dozen as pretty and seriously meant bouts as one can ask for.

HE'S A FIGHTER

No, Dempsey is a fighter, and he cannot play at it. Any more than a canary can play at singing or a fish play at swimming. He is in his natural element and there is but one way he can behave there.

Even after the gong rings and the bout is over, he remains grim, but if the partner has fought well and hardily you hear Dempsey say, "Good work!"

As I said, his companions and associates are loyal to the point of fanaticism. They do not insist blindly that he will win, but everywhere you can see an eager hope that he will win. They ask each other what they think of his condition, and if he has improved. They tell themselves he looks better than before the Firpo fight. They say this and that, but when they are through they end up by saying, "Anyhow, he's a regular feller!"

JOHNSON, COOPER IN BEACH BATTLE

An early knockout is predicted by sports fans in the eight-round main event battle at the Ocean Park Athletic Club tonight when Lefty Cooper meets Harry Johnson.

Ramon Lugo of Palms is depending upon his speed and science to get the better of Tommy Cleary's powerful punches in the six-round semi-wind-up. In the special event, Sammy Rothstein will try to uphold his reputation against Johnny Solis.

STAR PREP ATHLETE SHINES AS PITCHER

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) July 19. (AP)—Ray Moncus, outstanding high-school athlete of the southwest, has added new laurels. He struck out fourteen batters in a five-inning twilight league game yesterday, allowed no hits and no runs. He is a southpaw.

Moncus won the broad jump and placed third in the javelin throw in the national interscholastic meet.

POYNTON DROPS CLUB

Disagreement between the Hollywood Athletic Club and Dorothy Poynton has led to the 11-year-old swimming champion leaving the club to swim unattached.

CHUCK HUNTER GOLF MEDALIST

Thompson and Coleman Shine Among Qualifiers

Six Club Wielders Clash to Decide Tie on Links

SEATTLE, July 19. (AP)—Twenty-five Pacific Coast and seven eastern and middle-western golfers qualified for the final play of the western amateur championship tournament at the end of thirty-six holes medal play here today.

HAROLD THOMPSON

Portland carried off the qualifying honors when nine men from that city gained places among the select thirty-two. Seattle was a close second with eight, while Chicago, Los Angeles, Princeton University and Spokane, Wash., each had two.

A play-off was necessary to decide the thirty-second man when six players tied at 159. Thirty-one golfers had scored 158 or under with Chuck Hunter of Tacoma, Wash., taking medalist honors with the low score of 147. Roy Campbell of Seattle, won the play-off from Hugo Haskens of the same city, on the second hole with par 4. The other four men were eliminated at the first hole when they took fives compared with the fours of Campbell and Haskens.

The draw for tomorrow follows:

Frank Dolph of Portland, defending champion, vs. Tom Green of Seattle. Chuck Hunter of Tacoma, vs. Paul Piggott of Seattle. C. A. Griswold of San Francisco vs. Don Moe of Portland. Eddie Held of St. Louis, vs. Harold Thompson of Los Angeles. Keefe Carter of Oklahoma City vs. Harry Coleman, Los Angeles. Roy Moe of Portland vs. Harold Townsan, Yakima. Guy Standifer, Portland, vs. Rudie Wilhelm, Portland. Charles Grace, Princeton, vs. Vincent Dolp, Portland. Ben Stein, Seattle, vs. Louis Klaue of Spokane. Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, vs. Roy Campbell, Seattle. Dixie Flesger, Seattle, vs. Dr. John M. Johnston, Seattle. Forest Watson, Spokane, vs. John Ames of Princeton. Russ Smith, Portland, vs. Harold Niemeyer of Seattle. Emerson Carey, Hutchinson, Kan., vs. Alex Duncan, Seattle. Chick Evans, Chicago, vs. Lawson Little of Portland. Chandler Egan, Medford, Or., vs. Ben Stevenson of Chicago.

Roy Moe, who led the field yesterday with a remarkable 69, four under par, and three under Hunter, weakened today and took 80. Hunter played steadily this morning and came home with a card of 75 to win the medalist battle. Although he took a 40 going out, Hunter compensated for this on the last nine with 35, two under par.

Chick Evans, with a 71 for a total of 148, won second place and the day's scoring honors. He shot one under par on each nine.

Keefe Carter and Roy Moe, were tied at 149 for third place. Carter stroked the eighteen in 75 yesterday and 74 today.

Nationalista, Pelkey Picked in Legion Go

Young Nationalista and Tenario Pelkey have been made favorites in the two ten-round fights at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium Friday night. Dick Hoppe is fighting Pelkey and Georgie Rivers takes on Nationalista.

The impression gained by the fans who saw Pelkey fight Jimmy McLarnin was enough to make them string with Tenario when he fights Hoppe. Dick is going to cause the Filipino plenty of trouble, out the boys who have seen both in action claim the pace will be too fast for Dick.

The two bantamweights may furnish the best fight of the night. They have an old grudge to settle and Rivers is set to beat Nationalista. There was a time when Georgie could beat Nationalista any time they entered the ring, but that time has passed. Since taking on weight the Filipino has improved. He is a better boxer and hits much harder than when fighting as a flyweight.

There haven't been any better fights at Hollywood than the ones in which the Filipino boys have been principals. They give the fans lots of action and after all action is what the boys pay for.

In the special six-rounder Eddie Gill has been picked to beat Tom Moore. This fight may end in a knockout as Gill is a slugger and Moore has been beating all his opponents of late by knockouts.

KEARNS SEEKS TO HALT SCRAP

hoped they were not going to ignore his show.

But there is no calculating the effect of such a threat on the sensitive Dempsey, and it is quite possible he will become a nervous wreck again before he enters the ring Thursday evening. If this is the case it will be necessary for him to come back again next year, at a nominal fee of $300,000 to prove that he was not his true self in the Sharkey bout. Thus it will be seen that the machinations of the sinister Kearns might easily run into a great expense to the public and perhaps steps should be taken to suppress him for the protection of the customers.

SHARKEY SLAMS PUNCHING BAG

the three rounds of sparring, and a round of shadow boxing and two on the light bag followed it.

Nearly 1500 fans watched the boxer in the glass-inclosed gym atop Madison Square Garden, while the seat sale for Thursday's fight passed the 50,000 mark in tickets and neared the $1,000,000 mark in receipts.

LOUGHRAN GO POSTPONED

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—The ten-round bout between Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia and Tony Marullo of New Orleans here tonight was postponed until tomorrow night on account of rain. The light-heavyweights weighed in at the boxing commission today, Loughran scaling 173 pounds and Marullo 170.

Golf Becoming National Sport

HAGEN CITES GAME'S GROWTH

Public and Private Courses Breeding Champions

Champ Resents Criticism of Ryder Cup Personnel

Glasgow Famous for Putting and Pitching Layouts

BY WALTER HAGEN

(One of a series of timely articles being written for The Times and North American Newspaper Alliance by the American professional golf champion, the only player to win both American and British open championships twice.)

Touring with Tommy Armour this summer I find more interest than ever in golf, and the development of private and public courses is going on everywhere.

Walter Hagen

State, district and city championships are being held, and the rapid development of the game is seen in the scores being returned in the qualifying rounds of these competitions.

A special article in a Boston paper says:

"Every kid in Brockton is now carrying a golf club. That's what the police officers of the shoe city say."

The article goes on to report that Daniel W. Field, a retired shoe manufacturer, a year and a half ago gave land to the city and then helped to supply money to build a public course. This was opened a few weeks ago, and is now going full swing.

In Detroit the public course given the city by H. H. Rackham has been a boost for the game, and the same is true of the course given Dayton by John H. Patterson. There will be an ever-increasing number of such gifts to cities.

It will not be long before every city has a public course. I know it is impossible to find a town of any size which does not have at least one private course, and the public layouts are following.

BOYS KEEN FOR GOLF

Boys take a tremendous interest in golf. Tommy and myself find anywhere from fifty to 300 kids following us in our matches. Of course the boys, most of them caddies, never are charged to follow the exhibition matches, but they all seem willing to give up an afternoon of caddying to watch.

Right here it might be reasonable to object to the sentiment of a writer in a New York weekly magazine who, commenting on the American Ryder cup team, said it was hardly an American organization as it was composed of one Dutchman, a couple of Germans, several Italians, two Irishmen and a Spaniard.

I should say that the criticism that this was not an American team was unfair, and that the sentiment expressed was much more un-American than the team.

I predict that in future Ryder cup teams and in the amateur Walker cup teams there will be an even wider divergence in the nationalities represented, and that the descendants of the first settlers will have to step if they wish proportionate representation.

SNOBBISH, SAYS HAGEN

As captain of the American Ryder cup team, I object to having the Americanism of the team questioned because the parents or grandparents of my fellow-members were born in some other country than this. The sentiment is entirely snobbish.

There is one good bet that those who would cater to golfers unable to join private clubs have missed, yet an idea which is carried a long way in Glasgow, Scotland, where nearly everybody plays golf. This is the use of the miniature course.

There are many pitching and putting courses in Glasgow, some built on lots in the crowded part of the city. A small charge is made for the use of these courses, and they draw well. Scotland enjoys a long twilight in summer, but it would be easy to light such courses, and I am certain they would be a success in many places in America.

The finest miniature course I have seen in America is owned by James Barber, and is part of his estate at Pinehurst, N. C. It is called Thistle Dhu, and nearly every golfer who goes to Pinehurst has enjoyed a round over it. These courses furnish excellent practice for the short game.

Larry Fisher, president of the Cadillac Company, is having my friend, J. R. Bowker, construct a miniature course at the Fisher home in Detroit. It will be known as La Bateaux Chateaux course, and it will be a fine one. Mr. Fisher will use the course for his friends.

The idea has fine commercial possibilities, as these courses can be made inexpensive, and if located in a neighborhood of golfers they would get plenty of play. The most popular feature of the First National Golf show, held in an armory in New York, was the miniature course. I would like to own about 100 such courses. So would my manager.

BAN ACE, RIVAL IN NEW YORK

LOOP-LEADERS ANNEX OPENER

Lefty Peters, the latter appearing only in the last round.

The Angels got after Art Delaney, who almost blanked them with no hits one afternoon up in Oakland, in the fourth and fifth rounds to put over three runs and cause Howard to lift his chucker for a pinch-hitter, Pudgy Gould, who is the league's best relief hurler, took the mound in the sixth and from then on the Angels were completely stopped by the moist offerings of the chubby Oak deceiver.

PASS UP THREE CHANCES

The Angels did have three chances to tie or sew up the contest, once in the fifth on Delaney and in the seventh and eighth at Gould's expense, but weren't able to come through on either occasion.

McClelland got off in wobbly fashion by walking Ralph Shinners and Jimmy Reese promptly bunted him along. Lary delivered a one-base shot to center that scored Shinners. Bratcher walked and then Ray Brubaker shot a single through Marty Krug's shapely limbs and Lary scored, but Bratcher was out trying to take third, Jahn to Sanberg to Krug. Hitting singles through Krug's slightly bowed legs might come under the term of poor sportsmanship, but the Angels never protested. Fenton fouled to Sandberg for the third out.

The Oaks nicked McClelland for their other two scores in the second round before Cunningham came to the rescue. Caveney opened with a walk and Bool came through with a single over second. Delaney sacrificed and Shinners followed with a double to left that scored Caveney and Bool. Cunningham then took charge and that ended that.

Art Jahn doubled to right to start the Angel fourth and scored when Wally Hood came through with another double to right center. Cox's infield out moved Hood to third, from where he scored on Kahn's sacrifice fly. Sanberg walked and Cunningham walked in this same round, but Lary tossed out Brazill to end the inning.

KRUG CLOUTS DOUBLE

Krug opened the fifth with a double and scored when Staley singled to left. Jahn tried to sacrifice but bunted one over Delaney's head for a lucky infield hit. But the Cherubs weren't able to follow up their good start, Hood bunting a foul to Bool and Cox lining into a double play.

The Oaks filled the bases after two were out in the fifth on a single and two walks, but Cunningham got rid of Fenton on a pop to Brazill to end this threat.

A nifty stop by Reese robbed the Angels of a run in the seventh. Krug had walked and stole second after two were out when Jahn hit one over the middle cushion that looked like a sure hit to center. However, Jimmy managed to knock the ball down to an infield hit and held Krug on third. Jahn was caught off first immediately after to silence opportunity's knuckles on the Angel panel. Cox and Sandberg got singles in the eighth, but Gould fanned Pinch-Hitter Weathersby to spoil the Angels' last chance. Score:

SERGEANT IN FAST WORKOUT

Hudkins. There is none of the roundhouse swinging to the sides that the "Wildcat" often employs.

Baker apparently is just as much at home at close quarters as at longer range, and this is a factor that will count heavily in Monday's battle. Bert Colima was licked by Hudkins because he couldn't offset Hudkins's close-quarter tactics.

Hudkins, if he reverses the verdict Baker gained over him in New York, will never do it at close quarters because the sergeant can jump 'em fast and hard. He punches well with both hands, and he shoots his right with plenty of power behind it.

DRILLS HELP

With the ticket sale already at the $60,000 mark, Promoter Dick Donald is about to absent himself entirely from the Arcade Building headquarters and begin drilling his employees in the art of handling the biggest crowd that ever saw a fight in California.

He has engaged 200 patrolmen to be on the grounds Monday night, and has completed other arrangements to avoid all congestion and confusion. Both Thirty-ninth and Forty-first streets from Avalon Boulevard to the west end of the grandstand will be closed to traffic.

In addition a fence will be erected about the Forty-first-street main entrance and no one without a ticket calling for an entrance at that location will be permitted inside. Those holding ringside tickets will not pass through, but under the grandstand.

AVOID RUSH

Donald, in answer to criticism that patrons have had difficulty in obtaining the seats they paid for at past shows, said every precaution will be taken to avoid this embarrassment next Monday.

He said indications are that there will be no ticket sale at the gate. With over $60,000 in the "can," he believes $100,000 of tickets will be sold before Monday night, and he will not make provisions for any more. A gate of this size will insure a crowd of over 35,000, he said.

AMERICAN-FOREIGN GOLF PLAY PLANNED

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—A special golf tournament of seventy-two holes, including singles and foursomes, between American professionals and foreign-born golfers living in the United States was in the making today.

Willie MacFarlane, professional at the Oak Ridge Club, Tuckahoe, N. Y., and national open champion in 1925, transmitted a challenge to Walter Hagen, captain of America's Ryder cup team of homebreds.

Hagen's acceptance of the challenge in the name of the American-born professionals is believed assured.

Some cigars are exceptionally mild, others exceptionally mellow. But when one cigar combines, as Webster does, exceptional mildness, mellowness and fragrance—it is entitled to a success such as Webster is enjoying.

NEW WORLDS FOR COOLIDGE

President to Journey Over Hills Saturday for Fishing Expedition in Rapid Creek

RAPID CITY (S. D.) July 19. (AP)—President Coolidge will journey over the Hills Saturday on a fishing excursion to Rapid Creek, one of the largest streams in the Black Hills, where he will be the guest of Sam McKelvie, former Governor of Nebraska. McKelvie, who is president of the Agricultural Press Association, is making summer quarters near Mystic, at the head of Rapid Canyon, a beauty spot, and he has invited the President over to try his skill at trout angling.

The trip will be made by motor car to within a mile and a half of McKelvie's cabin, where a lumber wagon will be boarded by President and Mrs. Coolidge for the last lap of the trip. McKelvie also has invited newspaper men with the Presidential party to be his guests and there is every prospect that Mr. Coolidge will be performing with the rod and reel before a good-sized crowd.

MacNIDER PAYS CALL

Reaching his office before 9 o'clock today, the President conferred briefly with Hanford MacNider, Assistant Secretary of War, who stopped over here in the course of an airplane trip to the Pacific Coast. MacNider will return to this State later in the month to attend the American Legion convention at Yankton.

It was reiterated today at the executive offices that Mr. Coolidge has every hope and expectation that a satisfactory agreement will be reached at the Geneva naval-armaments conference. He does not expect that the agreement will be the one most desired by any one of the three participating nations, but he is confident that it will be satisfactory to all.

REMAINS OPTIMISTIC

Receiving latest information from the press, the President realizes that there has been some difficulty between Great Britain, Japan and this country over restriction of cruiser building, but he is unaware of latest official developments and still optimistic.

Likewise, it was reiterated today that Mr. Coolidge has no plans for leaving South Dakota, although he has many invitations and would like to accept all of them.

Secretary Hoover is expected here tomorrow by the President. He will be the first Cabinet officer to come into the Black Hills, stopping over here on his way to his home in California.

Figures purporting to show that it costs the farmer much more to produce his crops than he gets for them were presented to the President today in two conversations held by him on the agricultural situation.

STATISTICS GIVEN COOLIDGE

The corn belt committee gave Mr. Coolidge a table of statistics showing that it costs the farmer an average of about 79 per cent more to produce than he receives for his products. At the end of the thirty-minute conference the committee's representatives declared the President expressed himself "very favorable" toward their suggestion that a broader co-operative marketing system must be arranged.

"Sound legislation" also was suggested as an aid for agriculture by Frederick E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, who stayed last night at the summer White House and who drove into the executive office today with the President.

However, Mr. Murphy, who has staunchly opposed the vetoed McNary-Haugen farm bill, thinks the worst period of depression for farming is past and he reiterated his disapproval of the measure which he described as a "delusion and snare."

In a statement issued after his departure, Mr. Murphy declared "farmers are by no means a unit behind the McNary-Haugen bill" and he predicted great results from increased attention to diversified farming.

FACE NOT FORTUNE OF JERSEY GIRL

Eastern Damsel Acquires Cash, Raiment, Film Fame Through Perfect Legs

NEW YORK, July 19. (Exclusive) Some girls inherit beauty, others are left wealth, but in the case of Gladys Turner of Orange, N. J., the legacy was—well, legs.

Miss Turner, parading her parallel attractions in competition with nineteen other girls, today was adjudged possessor of the most symmetrical pair of legs in the United States, thereby winning the contest cup awarded by the National Hosiery and Underwear Exposition, now in session.

The standard of beauty established by Miss Turner's victory therefore dictates the following dimensions: Ankle, nine inches around; calf fourteen inches; knee, fourteen and one-half inches, and thigh, twenty and one-half inches.

More than 800 girls entered the contest by sending in their photographs. From these, a score was picked for final tests which were held behind closed doors at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The judges included Ander Novak, Hungarian portrait artist, and Sam Marx, a magazine man.

In addition to the cup Miss Turner received a cash prize, a number of gifts of clothing and stage and film offers.

Congressmen Predict Permit for Bay Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (Exclusive)—Conviction that Congress will make possible San Francisco's realization of a bridge from Rincon Hill to Alameda was voiced today by two United States Senators and three members of the House of Representatives at a meeting called to outline a program for action expected to offset the recent refusal of the Navy Department to permit the bridge.

CATHOLIC RELEASED FROM PENAL COLONY

MEXICO CITY, July 19. (Exclusive)—Catholics who had been exiled to the Mexican penal colony on Three Mary's Islands in the Pacific on charges of sedition and rebellion, are on their way toward the mainland, it was learned here today, having been released by order of President Calles. The exact number of those released is not available, but it probably will mount into three figures.

PUZZLES BETRAY MORONS

Philosophy Professor Declares Question Craze Stupid Form of Mental Curiosity

NEW YORK, July 19. (Exclusive)—"Don't let anybody see you working a cross-word puzzle or trying to answer the questions in 'Ask Me Another.' If you are caught at it you will be put down as a moron, or at least as one who is trying to get out of the moron class," warns Dr. Charles Gray Shaw, professor of philosophy at New York University.

"The person who was addicted to the old cross-word puzzle and who has switched to the 'Ask Me Another' is one who wishes to show that he is not in the class of morons. This intelligence test, self-imposed, is something left over from the war. When men were assembled in camps it doubtless was necessary to know how much gray matter there was per capita so that there had to be a measure for the mind as well as drill for the body. But there no longer is that need.

QUESTION CRAZE CURIOSITY

"The intelligence craze is only an age-old curiosity and ancestral egotism showing itself in the form of an up-to-date psychology," Dr. Shaw informs. "Men used to consult the stars to find out how they affected the individual's destiny. They looked to prophets with the same confidence that one now puts in lawyers. They went to fortune tellers, clairvoyants, mind-readers, palmists and numerologists, and they still are going.

"Everybody is curious about himself and what is going on in his brain. If it were not for such egoistic curiosity the photographers would starve, for it is the desire to see how one looks that makes one sit for one's picture. The 'Ask Me Another' fad is only a species of mental photography whereby one can see how his brain looks. The question book is only a camera for his mind."

Dr. Shaw explains that the people who devote their time and energy to tinkering with puzzles and questions have become aware of the fact that there is such a thing as "intelligence," "intelligence quotients" and "morons." These people have become alarmed at the moronic wave which seems to be sweeping the land and desire to save themselves from it. Such people take personal pride in being "smart," but for all that they are evidently on the defensive and wish to show themselves, if no one else, that they are not mentally inferior.

"It could show itself better," continues Dr. Shaw, "by having people know what the news it about, not merely what the paper says in its current issue. The well-disciplined mind is like a hall through which one passes, not an attic cluttered up with odds and ends of miscellaneous information. Intelligence really is something creative and expresses itself through imagination. Such imagination figures out a certain situation and then looks for the facts to corroborate what it has fancied."

GIVES OWN TEST

Prof. Shaw's own test of a person's intelligence is expressed in a short list of practical questions which follows:

"Do you frequent night clubs?

"Do you believe half of what the papers say about Mexico?

"Did, or do, you play mah jongg?

"Did you read enough of the Browning case to know who 'Peaches' is?

"Do you ever, of your own free will, remain within earshot of a saxophone?

"Do you admire the Charlie Chaplin films?

"Do you believe the moon affects the weather?

"Do you read, or look at, tabloids?

"Do you wear spats?"

If any person gives assent to the majority of such questions, it matters not how high his rating in the nominal intelligence test of asking another question, Dr. Shaw infers that his practical mentality is decidedly low.

"It is so low," he concludes, "that mere rote memory, which is all the 'Ask Me Another' requires, cannot redeem him."

don't fool yourself

Decency demands it

Don't fool yourself by thinking that you never have halitosis (unpleasant breath). The worst offenders are usually unaware of it. You, yourself, can never tell.

Therefore, common decency demands that before meeting people, you put yourself on the polite side by the use of Listerine, the safe antiseptic. You simply rinse the mouth.

⅓ Had Halitosis

115 barbers say that about every third man that walks into the shop has halitosis. Who should know better than barbers?

Face to face evidence

Immediately and effectively, Listerine combats unpleasant odors arising from teeth and gums, the most common source of halitosis.

Better keep a bottle handy in home and office so that you may never offend. You will be interested in reading our free book on etiquette. Address Lambert Pharmacal Co., Dept. G-3, 2101 Locust St., St. Louis, Mo.

RIVER CONCORD GREATLY AIDED

Californians at Session in Utah Given Hope

Ratification of Seven-State Pact Promoted

Smoot Admits Willingness for Federal Dam

SALT LAKE CITY, July 19. (AP)—Utah's desire for complete ratification of the Colorado River compact by the seven basin States was advanced one step nearer realization today in discussions held in the offices of Gov. Dern, between delegates of California and Utah, in the opinion expressed by all.

Present at the conference were the Colorado River Commission from California, with several other advisers from the coast State; Gov. Dern, United States Senators Smoot and King; W. R. Wallace, Colorado River commissioner in Utah, and George M. Bacon, State Engineer and river commissioner.

W. B. Matthews, chairman of the California commission, opened the meeting by expressing appreciation of Gov. Dern's efforts in behalf of promoting interstate harmony on the river subject.

Speaking of the Swing-Johnson bill, Mr. Matthews frankly expressed the opinion that Congress is tired of having California bringing back the same subject repeatedly and said that he feels some amicable settlement should be reached.

CHIEF PROBLEMS

Flood and silt control in the Imperial Valley, reclamation of lands and development and domestic and culinary water supplies for Southern California, said Mr. Matthews, depend on the Boulder Dam.

Senator Smoot, during the discussion offered assurance that California will have no trouble with Utah once the seven-State compact is ratified.

"Utah asks no other protection," the Senator stated. He further said that he does not want to see the government get into the power business. Pressed on this subject, however, he gave definite assurance to the Californians that he is willing the government should build the dam as it has done any other reclamation project. He wishes, however, to provide for a corporate or municipal development of power subject to lease from the government of the power rights under the dam, but indicated that he might even agree to the government installing this power. Under no conditions, however, would he agree to the government delivering power.

ARIZONA TO DEFEND RIGHTS AGAINST ANYBODY

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Arizona is prepared to defend its rights in the Colorado River, even against the Federal government, Guy L. Jones of Phoenix, member of the State Legislature, declared, speaking here today before the City Club.

"For the benefit of special interests, promoted by Los Angeles capitalists with holdings on the Mexican side of the line, an immense propaganda of flood protection allies itself with power development, and proposes to despoil Arizona of her most precious possession," Mr. Jones said.

The Swing-Johnson bill, stopped by a filibuster of Arizona Senators at the last session of Congress, "proposes," according to the Legislator, "to build a dam so far down stream and at so low an elevation as to condemn as desert wastes 3,000,000 acres of good land."

Continuing, he asserted: "Flood protection for the Imperial Valley of California interests us on the Arizona side at Yuma in exactly the same way that it interests the Californians at Brawley and El Centro. Dikes and levees have been employed with success on the Mississippi, and can be used as a temporary expedient for the protection of the Imperial Valley. Under the law of prior appropriation of waters for beneficial use in irrigation and power development, the first dam built on the river which stores water and regulates its flow for power purposes grabs the ownership of the water."

NURSE FOR FISHWORMS CHOSEN

GLENCOVE (N. Y.) July 19. (AP)—Fishworms, which of late have crawled into the public prints in dispatches of Presidential pastimes, now have wriggled their way on to the official statute books of this little Long Island community, the richest city of its size in the East. The City Council unanimously has adopted ordinance No. 61 which makes it unlawful for anyone not a resident to dig worms within the city limits. Violation of the ordinance will be a misdemeanor and a police officer has been assigned as worm warden to take action against poachers. For years out-of-town people have been digging worms here to sell elsewhere, threatening to cause a vermicular famine to the despair of residents who scorn the use of flies.

TRUE BILLS NAME SEVEN IN FLOGGING

Alabama Group Accused of Whipping Farm Youth and Six Arrested

ONEONTA (Ala.) July 19. (AP)—Seven men were indicted here late today by the Blount county grand jury for participation in the flogging June 26, last, of Jeff Calloway, Oneonta farm youth.

All but one had been arrested within a few minutes after the grand jury finished balloting on the indictments. The other was expected to be in custody within a few hours.

All except Pinnell were indicted for assault and battery and kidnaping, while the latter was named for kidnaping only.

Bonds of $5000 was set for each charge of kidnaping and $500 for the assault and battery charges. None of the six under arrest had made bond late this afternoon.

Atty.-Gen. McCall of Alabama, who personally supervised the two-day grand-jury hearing, said he will make an effort to have an immediate trial for the seven men.

The indictments were returned after thirteen witnesses, including Calloway himself, had been called before the grand jury, and followed instructions by Circuit Judge Martin, who told the jurymen to "bring the floggers to the bar of justice."

Calloway was taken from a rural church in Oneonta by a band of masked men, bound to a tree and lashed into unconsciousness on a charge made by members of the band that he had attended a church service while intoxicated, he told officers.

The awards were made at a banquet given to the members of the crew of the America and to Clarence D. Chamberlin.

Youths Suffer Frozen Feet in Mountain Trip

ESTES PARK (Colo.) July 19. (AP)—Three Altoona (Iowa) youths today are suffering the unique distinction of frozen feet in July.

Hugh Morrison, 19 years of age; Milton Fisher, 18, and Burl Cole, 18, who are spending their vacation here, were rescued today by a searching party under leadership of Robert Collier, after an alarm had been sounded following their disappearance from camp last night. The boys, suffering severely from frozen feet, were found by their rescuers this morning on an eighteen-inch ledge, 400 feet down the side of Long's Peak, which they had endeavored to scale. In making their descent, they had slid down the 400-foot face of the cliff to the ledge, and had been unable to retrace their steps.

Their rescue was effected by means of ropes which were dropped down into the chasm which imprisoned the youths.

SCHOOL POSTS OPEN

Successors to Head of Teachers' College Considered

SACRAMENTO, July 19. (AP)—Successors to the late Archibald B. Anderson, president of the San Francisco Teachers' College, and Dr. William A. Caldwell, head of the school for the deaf, the latter resigned, now are being considered by William John Cooper, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The nominations will be made shortly to the State Board of Education.

Anderson died June 9, a few weeks after he had been named president of the San Francisco school, where he had been acting head for several years. Dr. Caldwell will end his activities at the school for the deaf September 15, completing fifty years of work in developing educational facilities for those who have lost their hearing.

HARRIMAN'S SECOND WIFE GETS DIVORCE

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Mrs. Harriett Hewitt Harriman, former Broadway cloak model and a famous beauty, has obtained a divorce in Paris from O. Carley Harriman, a son of Oliver Harriman, his New York attorney announced today he had been advised by cable. The Harrimans were married in 1904, the ceremony closely following the divorce obtained by Mr. Harriman's first wife, Lois Bisbee. Mr. Harriman, an heir to the great Harriman fortune, and his first wife were married in 1915, and they have two daughters, who make their home in New York with their mother.

AMBITIONS TOLD BY CLUBWOMEN

Feminine Workers Set Forth Economic Program

Higher Ideals in Business World Pleaded For

OAKLAND, July 19. (Exclusive)—Power of the ballot to influence public affairs, power of organization, education to bring about a better world of business and power of women themselves to mark out their own economic future were affirmed today at sessions of the national convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

"Some of the best legislation in the history of the country has been passed since the enactment of the Nineteenth Amendment, which gave women a voice in the government," said Miss Celia Gavin, City Attorney of The Dalles, Or., speaking at a luncheon with the clubs of the Northwestern States as hostesses.

POWER OF WOMEN

"The ballot, now so strongly in our hands, should not be used for personal greed," said Miss Gavin. "Before voting all of us should be convinced that what we are voting for is necessary. We must not only help to bring about good laws, we must observe the laws. While this duty devolves equally upon men and women, it is upon women that the responsibility of following the law will largely rest. Law enforcement begins in the home, and it is generally known that what women demand men will carry out."

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, national president, in her annual report pleaded for a more intensive educational program "to train the women of the world in the work which will bring to them the independents which they believe is rightfully theirs."

Emma Dot Partridge, executive secretary, in her report stressed the need of more members for the organization and greater help for women in business and professions in the plan to produce "a better business woman for a better business world."

LOOK TO FUTURE

A look toward the future was made by Miss Frances E. Plath, recording secretary. She said: "If the business women of the next generation wish to keep the advantages which have been gained for them by their predecessors in this generation, an increased number of them should enter the professions. Too many girls enter the business world today with the sole thought of earning money. If we are to secure fine futures for business and professional women, we should impress upon the high school girl the value of service and the absolute necessity of an educational foundation."

Miss Phillips, national president, painted an optimistic picture of the present status and prospects of the national organization. "We begin our new year with adequate dues fixed, 822 affiliated clubs, our magazine on a sound basis, our entire indebtedness of $12,000 paid off with interest in full, virtually no current indebtedness and a balance in the bank of approximately $17,000. There should be available for next year's work sufficient money to finance one of the following new projects: Field workers, one or two; staff secretary for publicity and a secretary for educational work. It is well, also, to give a thought to the proposal for having biennial instead of annual conventions, as the annuals are proving somewhat unwieldy."

FEDERATION SUCCEEDS

Miss Adelia Pruchard of Portland, chairman of the membership committee, expressed gratification at the successful federation of the business and professional women's clubs in the State of California this year and their participation in national affairs.

Dr. Henry Neuman of the Brooklyn School of Ethical Culture addressed the delegates at a mass meeting in the Oakland Auditorium tonight. The chief speaker at the general sessions tomorrow will be Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College. The convention will open with breakfast in the Oakland Auditorium at 7:30 a.m. and the day's program will be under the supervision of the Oakland club. Reports of the national standing committees will be given. Reports of special committees, discussion and disposition of recommendations will be made tomorrow night.

King and Queen Visit Liverpool at Dock Opening

LIVERPOOL, July 19. (AP)—Business was suspended here this afternoon and exchanges were closed in honor of the visit of King George and Queen Mary to open the new Gladstone dock. The city gave their majesties an enthusiastic welcome. Replying to addresses the King said that it was a pleasure to see in the opening of the dock system the successful termination of a work which testified to the growth of Liverpool's trade and which he was confident would be used to promote its still further development.

The new docks have a water area of fifty-five acres with two and three-fourth miles of pier space and fifty-seven acres of sheds. The river lock entrance can easily accommodate steamers as large as the Mauretania.

Test Sought of Congress' Right to Free Islands

MANILA, July 19. (AP)—Seeking a test of the power of the United States Congress to grant independence to the Philippines, the American Chamber of Commerce here today adopted a resolution requesting Congress to propose a constitutional amendment which would grant Philippine independence.

It is the belief of the chamber, which opposes the independence movement, that Congress has no power to grant it. The purpose of the resolution is to clear up the question.

Electric Rates Reduced

Effective August 1

TO ENCOURAGE an increased and more widespread use of electricity, especially in the home, the electric rates of Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation will be reduced, effective August 1, 1927.

Domestic Lighting and Appliance Service

The new low rates first call for a reduction in the base rate of from 5.6 cents to 5 cents per kilowatt-hour.

The following schedule is then provided for domestic lighting and appliance service in apartments and homes having not more than five lighting circuits—the average home:

|---|---|
| First 50 Kilowatt-hours per month (and for 9 KWH per lighting circuit for each circuit in excess of five) | 5.0¢ per KWH |
| Next 125 Kilowatt-hours per month | 2.5¢ per KWH |
| For All in Excess per month | 2.0¢ per KWH |

Commercial Lighting Service

A new commercial lighting rate also will begin at 5 cents per kilowatt-hour for the first 250 KWH, with further reductions for larger use of current.

The new schedules have been made with the idea of enabling consumers to put electricity economically to a wider range of uses than ever before.

These new low rates should effect a considerable saving to the great majority of our domestic and commercial consumers, and allow an increased freedom in the use of time and labor saving devices in the home.

Indian Idyl

HIAWATHA baled the Gitchee Gumee
Out of his birch-bark canoe,
And mused as follows:
"If Longfellow had only placed the locale
Of this biography of mine
A few hundred miles farther west,
And made it a few hundred years later,
I might have inherited an oil well, too—
And this would have been
A hundred-horsepower motor boat."
So pondering, he sadly squeezed the Big-Sea Water
Out of his deerskin moccasins,
And paddled away to visit Minnehaha,
One of Hiawatha's Chickens.

Loan Losses of Bank Small for Large Turnover

In a report to the board of directors of the institution last night, Vice-President O. C. Williams announced that the Seaboard National Bank established an unprecedented record in the last three years by negotiating loans of more than $30,000,000, with a total loss of only $362.50.

The directors complimented President George L. Browning and other officers of the bank on the showing of such a low percentage of losses in handling this large volume of business since the establishment of the bank three years ago.

It was also announced by the directors that plans have been formulated for an aggressive expansion of the commercial department of the bank, domestic and foreign, and the trust and savings departments for the next twelve months.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

LONDON, July 19. (By Wireless)—The market today noon was a trifle irregular and most of the American specialties were good on your buying. The fall of the Austrian bonds attracted fresh buying, the news from Vienna being more favorable.

Another ground for the checking of foreign loans in recognition of the fact that we cannot safely lend much more abroad with American exchange at the present level. New internal issues are still successful, however, and capital offerings like Anglo-American Oil, where the money is spent here, come under that category.

Gustav Cassel in the July number of the Skandinaviska Kreditaktiegolaget returns to the questions of economizing on the use of gold.

Mr. Cassel affirms that, having due regard to the decline in South African production and assuming normal economic progress to be about 3 per cent per annum, the world's annual requirements of new gold in 1940 would be close upon £150,000,000 and expresses fear that it will not be possible to supply even one-half that quota.

According to Mr. Cassel, the accumulation of gold by India in pursuance of the gold standard objective, has caused America not only to retain her gold reserves but to increase them, and he draws connection between this fresh desire to accumulate gold and the 10 per cent fall in prices which has occurred in American and other gold-standard countries in the past two years.

Mortgage House Makes Addition to Directorate

James Long Wright, president of National Mortgage Company of California, yesterday announced the election of Harold R. Thompson and T. W. Hendrick to executive positions as vice-presidents and directors of the company. Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Hendrick are vice-presidents of the Security Housing Corporation and Mortgage Insurance Corporation.

Other changes in official personnel approved by the National Mortgage directorate include the election of Vice-President Charles W. Collins and Director G. M. Alexander as members of the executive committee. Carl F. Burrell was promoted from secretary-treasurer to vice-president and treasurer. G. T. Sturtevant becomes secretary instead of assistant secretary.

Officers of National Mortgage Company now include James Long Wright, president; Charles W. Collins, vice-president; Carl F. Burrell, vice-president and treasurer; Charles B. Hopper, vice-president; T. W. Hendrick, vice-president; Clifford A. Rohe, vice-president; M. A. Strang, vice-president; H. R. Thompson, vice-president; G. T. Sturtevant, secretary; R. J. Grummet, assistant secretary; Brooke Mohun, assistant secretary; A. M. Spooner, assistant treasurer, and H. J. Bohanon, assistant treasurer.

TO OPEN NEW OFFICES

Bank of Italy and Bancitaly Will Invade Eastern Territory

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (AP)—The Bank of Italy and the Bancitaly Corporation have completed plans for the establishment of joint offices in Chicago, New York and London, it was announced today. J. C. Ernst, for the last five years assistant manager of the bank's bond department, has been appointed vice-president and will represent both the bank and the corporation in New York City.

Leo V. Belden, vice-president of the bank, will leave San Francisco August 10 to supervise the Chicago, New York and London offices. It was also announced that the bank plans in the future to construct its own building on Wall street.

TIRE PLANTS HARBOR AID

Firestone and Goodrich Projects to Swell Crude Rubber Imports; Export Sales Growing

BY EARLE E. CROWE

From the standpoint of harbor development alone the proposals to erect two more large tire manufacturing plants in Los Angeles are of major significance in determining the rank of Los Angeles Harbor among the leading American ports. Since 1923 this port has ranked second in total American water commerce, but not without uncomfortably close rivalry from other contenders. The prospective addition of substantial crude rubber imports and the exports of finished products should materially affect the value and tonnage of traffic through this water gateway.

With the plants of Goodyear, Goodrich and Firestone operating here at full capacity, Los Angeles will easily rank as the second largest tire manufacturing center in the United States. The Goodyear plant is the pioneer, and at capacity turns out 7500 tires and 10,000 tubes daily. Goodrich plans to invest $4,000,000, and Firestone about $7,000,000, probably bringing the total tire output in Los Angeles up to approximately 18,000 or 20,000 tires daily.

RUBBER IN LEAD

Goodyear, as the largest manufacturer in the West, has already contributed heavily to the traffic in and out of Los Angeles, and to the rail tonnage along the Pacific Coast and into the interior. For the account of Goodyear and certain representatives of New York rubber brokers, the crude rubber imports into Los Angeles by water have been running around 11,000,000 a month in value, the most valuable single commodity in the list of imports. Last year, according to figures supplied by Clarence Matson, manager of the trade extension department of the Chamber of Commerce, the crude rubber imports into Los Angeles were valued at approximately $12,000,000.

Conservatively, Mr. Matson estimates that the value of rubber imports will at least treble after the two proposed plants go on production. The potentialities, however, are even greater, for if Firestone routes all of its Singapore rubber to Los Angeles the annual valuation from this source alone will run around $25,000,000 on the basis of 1926 shipments by Firestone.

Some idea of the growing volume of rubber products sales through Los Angeles Harbor are glimpsed from Mr. Matson's records. The foreign market is only beginning to open up, but important progress has been made. In one shipment this month of rubber products to Australia the value of $60,501 was more than the value of all exports from Los Angeles to Australia last year, exclusive of petroleum. The 1926 value, exclusive of petroleum, was $54,000.

LIBERIA PROMISING

In coastwise trade the manufactured rubber shipments last year through this harbor were valued at $5,700,000. This volume went to such ports as San Francisco, Seattle and Portland for distribution in those markets and into the interior. Intercoastal trade accounted for $900,000 in value; Hawaiian Islands, $512,000, and foreign commerce, $180,000.

Most of the raw rubber now imported into Los Angeles comes from Singapore, Java and Ceylon. When the Firestone plantation in Liberia, of which 200,000 of the 1,000,000 acres are now producing, comes into bearing all of this volume will be routed to this port.

How Los Angeles will rank in total water commerce for the fiscal year ended June 30, last, is conjectural at this time. There is some question about second place because of the abnormal tonnage diverted to Baltimore and Norfolk on account of the British coal strike of last year, and one of these ports may possibly edge in ahead of Los Angeles.

MINING AND OIL SHARES MAKE RALLY

Standard, Richfield and Rio Grande in Advance; Edison Common Up

Oil shares rallied on increased activity on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday and closing sales were at fractionally higher prices. Standard Oil of California added 3-8 of a point to 54 and California Petroleum was up 1-4 point to 24. Union Oil of California was firm at 42 3-8, while Richfield gained 1-4 point to 19 3-4 after opening at 20. Rio Grande closed up a point to 16½.

Bancitaly Corporation was an active trader, closing off 1-4 point to 123 5-8, while Bank of Italy held firm at 172½. First National certificates again sold at 435, and Union Bank & Trust held at 210, the record high for all time.

Southern California Edison common added a fraction to 35½, while the 6 per cent and 7 per cent issues were steady at 26 and 28 5-8 respectively. Los Angeles Gas and Electric preferred established a new record high at 108 3-4, a net gain of 1-8 of a point. Los Angeles Investment held at 2.52.

United Eastern added another 2 cents to the Monday close to 80 on a good volume and Western Apex rallied 2½ cents to 15. Big Jim lost ½ a cent to 33½ with a large volume of trading, and Gold Dust added that amount to 3½.

Oil Production for Past Week Shows Increase

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 9300 barrels for the week ended the 16th inst., totaling 2,544,250 barrels, says the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,922,350 barrels, an increase of 12,300 barrels.

Daily average production follows:

| | Barrels | Difference | Barrels |

| California | 822,000 | Decrease | 8,000 |
| TOTALS | 2,544,250 | Increase | 9,300 |

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended the 16th inst., were 193,714 barrels compared with 190,000 barrels for the previous week, and 192,071 for the four weeks ended July 16. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf ports for the week ended July 16 were 49,000 barrels compared with 77,571 for the previous week, and 92,572 for the four weeks ended July 16.

Bankers Offer Extended Liens of Rail Line

An issue of $650,000 Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway Company first mortgage fifty-year 7 per cent gold bonds, extended at 6 per cent, which are dated February 1, 1877, and were due June 1, 1927, but extended to June 1, 1932, is being offered by a banking group headed by F. J. Lisman & Co. at 101 1-2 and accrued interest to yield about 5.65 per cent.

Of the total issue, there is authorized and outstanding $950,000, of which $300,000 was extended by the bondholders and $650,000 is represented by this offering. The bonds have been privately held and interest has been paid on them for fifty years.

Holders of bonds who so desired were paid in cash at maturity, while holders of $300,000 par value preferred to receive the extended bonds of this issue instead. The bonds are followed by junior liens aggregating $27,192,956 par value.

CONSOLIDATION OF TAX SERVICES COMPLETED

TWO IMPORTANT PUBLISHERS OF LOOSE-LEAF SYSTEMS MERGE INTERESTS

Merger of two of the most important publishers of loose-leaf tax services was disclosed yesterday with the announcement of a new company bearing the name, Commerce Clearing House, Inc., Loose-Leaf Service Division of the Corporation Trust Company. The new company is to consolidate all the interests of Commerce Clearinghouse, a Chicago institution, and part of the loose-leaf service business of the Corporation Trust Company.

Kenneth K. McLaren, president of the Corporation Trust Company, is chairman of the board, and William RixMiller, president of Commerce Clearinghouse, is president.

The full membership of the board has not yet been announced, but two of its members, it was stated, are George M. Morris, Washington, D. C., secretary of the committee on Federal taxation of the American Bar Association, and Arthur Andersen, of Arthur Andersen & Co., certified public accountants, Chicago.

FERTILIZER CONCERN TO CUT 'MELON'

Commercial Solvents to Distribute 100 Per Cent Stock Dividend

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—A stock dividend of 100 per cent was authorized today by directors of Commercial Solvents Corporation on the class "B" stock.

The long waited "melon" anticipation of which has carried the stock on the New York Stock Exchange to $284 a share this year from a low of $233, is subject to ratification by the stockholders at a special meeting August 17.

It is proposed to cancel the 108,861 shares of Class B common and to create 250,000 no par value shares, of which 217,722 shares will be issued to stockholders, not later than October 1. It is also proposed to give the board authority to issue the remaining new stock for purposes they may deem advisable.

P. G. Mumford, president of the corporation, said current earnings, in the opinion of the board, would warrant payment of dividends at the present annual rate of $8 a share on all shares after the increase in outstanding shares.

At the special meeting stockholders also will be asked to eliminate the board's authority to issue Class A and preferred stock, all outstanding shares of which have previously been retired. The new no par shares into which the present class B stock is to be split, two for one, will then be the only class of stock authorized.

Suspensions of Banking Houses in Quarter Off

Unlike the commercial failures, the banking suspensions in the United States for the second quarter of this year show a reduction from those for the corresponding period of 1926. Moreover, improvement appears in comparison with the returns for the second quarter of 1925. Numbering eighty-one, with liabilities of $25,427,900, such suspensions during the three months recently ended contrast with 115 for $30,309,000 in the same quarter of last year, while the number in 1925 was 111, involving $42,859,470, according to the records of R. G. Dun & Co.

Geographical analysis of the statistics shows that the decrease in the number of banking suspensions for the second quarter of this year, as compared with the total for the corresponding period of 1926, occurred chiefly in the Central West. The number for that section fell from eighty-one to forty-six, while reductions of seven and two suspensions, respectively, were reported by the South Central States and the Western group. In no case was there an increase of size. In point of liabilities, the outstanding feature is the marked contraction in the Central West, the amount for that section for the second quarter of this year being about 46 per cent less than that for the same three months of 1926. The only other decrease occurred in the South Atlantic States.

A comparison of banking suspensions is made by sections for the second quarter of the past three years:

| | Number 1927 | Number 1926 | Liabilities 1927 |
|---|---|---|---|
| New England | 1 | .. | $ 250,000 |
| Middle Atlantic | 9 | .. | 2,797,000 |
| South Atlantic | 5 | 13 | 4,449,000 |
| South Central | 11 | 6 | 3,618,500 |
| Central East | 46 | 81 | 9,795,000 |
| Central West | 6 | 5 | 3,385,000 |
| Western | 3 | 1 | 1,959,900 |
| United States | 81 | 115 | $25,427,900 |

SOUTH AMERICAN LIENS OUT SOON

BONDS OF CITY OF BOGOTA WILL BE OFFERED HERE IN NEAR FUTURE

An issue of $2,700,000 City of Bogota, Republic of Colombia, twenty-year external 6 1-2 per cent secured sinking fund gold bonds of the power and light consolidation loan of 1927 will be offered shortly by a banking group composed of Baker, Kellogg & Co., Inc., F. W. Chapman & Co., Inc., and Tucker, Anthony & Co.

The loan combines features of both municipal and public utility obligations. The total authorized issue amounts to $5,000,000 and the proceeds of the present loan will be used by the city to reimburse itself for the purchase of the controlling interest in the two electric light and power companies serving the municipality. These two companies, Electric Power Company of Bogota and National Electric Light Company, are in process of consolidation into a new company to be known as the United Electric Power Company, Inc. The new company will have a monopoly of the electric light and power business of Bogota.

REFINANCING PLAN OF PAINT CONCERN TOLD

SHERWIN - WILLIAMS STOCK HOLDERS TO RECEIVE NEW RIGHTS

Refinancing is planned by the Sherwin-Williams Company, involving the redemption on September 1 of the entire outstanding issue of 7 per cent preferred stock, series "A," and the issuance of $12,500,000 of cumulative first preferred stock designated as series "AA" with a dividend rate of 6 per cent, according to a letter just received by Southern California stockholders of the company. The 7 per cent preferred is called at $105 a share.

Holders of the 7 per cent preferred stock will be given the right to purchase one share of the new 6 per cent preferred stock at $102 a share for each share of 7 per cent stock now held. The privilege expires August 1. Holders will also receive the difference between the offering and redemption price of $3 in cash.

Announcement is also made of the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent and an extra dividend of 1 per cent on the company's common capital stock, payable August 15 to stockholders of record on the 30th inst.

MOODY'S REVIEW

Moody's weekly review of financial conditions in its current issue says in part:

The stock market for some weeks has experienced a period of rest and reaction, but the technical position of the bond market has probably been improved. Indications are that some progress has been made by bond houses in reducing their inventory of unsold new issues.

This may lengthen the time during which the stock market can remain upon this high plateau, for it should curtail the borrowing requirements of bond houses and augment the supplies of loanable funds in the New York banks.

Money rates are very comfortable indeed just now and may remain so most of the time until after the middle of August. The demand for commercial loans is rather light, and yet it is pretty sure to expand late in August or early in September.

No serious dangers are facing the bond market and in spite of a temporarily horizontal movement the next really substantial change is likely to be upward, even if this change should be postponed until some time next year.

REGISTRAR APPOINTED

Los Angeles Investment Company Also Names Transfer Agent

Directors of the Los Angeles Investment Company yesterday announced the appointment of the Los Angeles Investment Trust Company as transfer agent and the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank as registrar of the company's stock.

This action was in compliance with the recent ruling of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange requiring that all certificates of stocks listed on that exchange be registered with a trust company or a national or State bank. The requirement will be effective August 1.

WHITE EAGLE NET PROFITS DECLINE

KANSAS CITY, July 19. (Exclusive) Net profits of the White Eagle Oil and Refining Company for the six months ended June 30, last, before deducting reserve for depreciation, depletion and Federal taxes, amounted to $1,090,694 as compared with $1,344,893 in the same period of last year, according to a report issued by the company yesterday. Net profits in the second quarter were $702,688, as against $927,777 in the second quarter of 1926.

TRACE BROKER BORROWING

Explanation for Heavy Gain Found in Item "For Account of Others" in Banks' Statements

NEW YORK, July 19. (Exclusive)—So long as the total of brokers' loans like a skyrocket was ascending to a new high each week, the brilliance of the rise itself interested the financial district more than the details, but for the moment interest has been turned on the forces connected with the advance.

So far as the accumulation of idle corporate funds reflects excess earnings, and unpleasant in so far as it reveals a relaxation in business expansion for fear of clouds ahead. Since business plainly has been maintained on a high level of activity, the mounting surplus must in the final analysis be viewed with satisfaction.

Even more effort has been made in Wall street, perhaps, to learn how much of the loan expansion represents stock-market speculation. The bulls cling to the view that the increase reflects chiefly the enlarged volume of funds tied up in bonds by dealers who had committed themselves to take more obligations than they subsequently were able to distribute.

From the reports it is not possible to tell what part of the loans go to brokers for stock market uses, or what proportion represents dealer borrowings, but it is a fair assumption that in the main the loans made on demand would not appeal so strongly to dealers as those made on time. The 1927 period of sharpest loan expansion has come since the middle of February, and, therefore, covered the months during which dealers admittedly loaded down their shelves with bonds more heavily than was proper.

Demand and not time loans are

Commercial Solvents Extra Stimulates Rise

General Motors Rallies to High at 208 3-4

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Establishment of new high records by American Can, Baldwin Locomotive, General Electric, General Motors and Westinghouse Electric featured the irregularly higher price movement in today's stock market. Despite rather heavy profit-taking on the theory that the technical position of the market had been weakened by the recent rapid advance, pools conducted their operations with confidence, basing their campaign on the prospect of easy money rates for some time to come and the expected improvement in fall business.

Declaration of the long-awaited 100 per cent stock dividend on Commercial Solvents B, while discounted by that stock, revived hopes of similar action in some of the other so-called "blue-chip" issues. The gain of nearly 10 per cent in the sales of twenty-one of the largest chainstore and mail-order houses in the first half of the year, and the publication of the quarterly report of the Hudson Motor Car Company, showing $3.62 a share on the common, as

Three Classes of Investors Buy Municipal Improvement Certificates

1. LARGE INVESTORS buy them in preference to other tax free bonds, because they yield a full 6% return, with exceptional security, and are entirely exempt from all Federal Income Tax and California Personal Property Tax.
2. STREET BOND INVESTORS buy them in preference to ordinary street bonds, because they are issued in even $1,000 and $500 denominations; they carry fixed, definite maturities; security consists of many separate liens; and holders benefit by the expert judgment of the men who select them.
3. CAREFUL INVESTORS—both large and small—buy them in preference to other forms of investment because of the all round investment value, combining security, tax exemption and convenience with a liberal 6% return.

TRACTOR BOOSTS DIVIDEND

Increase to 35 Cents Quarterly Viewed as Reflection of Excellent Earnings in First Half-Year

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (Exclusive)—Caterpillar Tractor Company issued its reports for the second quarter and the first half of 1927 today and topped the excellent showings reflected in both periods with action by the board of directors increasing the dividend from 80 cents to 35 cents per share per quarter or from $1.20 to $1.40 per annum.

The new dividend is payable August 25 to stockholders of record August 15. The stock originally paid $1.25 per share quarterly or $5 annually. This was increased within a year, or on August 1, 1926, to $6 per annum. At the end of last year the stock was split four for one and a 25 per cent dividend declared, with the new stock on a $1.20-per-annum basis. The present increase is the annual advance and places the original stock on a $7 basis.

Inasmuch as the original stock was issued little more than two and one-half years ago at about 70, the stock is now paying 10 per cent and on the basis of present quotations has appreciated about $85 per share or 230 per cent. With dividends received the investor has realized about 250 per cent to date.

When the statements were submitted to the board today quarterly earnings of $1.20 for the second quarter and $2.08 for the first half of the year were shown. This was after depreciation charges but before Federal taxes.

At this rate the company is earning at about $4.10 per year or $20.80 a share on the old stock. Dividend requirements of $1.40 mean earnings three times over.

All of this is made possible because of a 22 per cent increase in business during the first half of 1927 over the same period of 1926. In the current year gross for the first half amounted to $14,491,415 against $11,821,601 for the same period of the previous year.

The report shows net earnings, before Federal taxes, amounting to $3,382,139 in the first half of 1927 against $2,750,560 in the same period of 1926, or a gain of $632,000. This amounts to a gain of more than 23 per cent in these corresponding periods.

With such a surplus profit piling up steadily, the report shows current assets of $14,910,255 with current liabilities of only $1,348,943. Cash on hand alone amounts to $1,573,151, or $225,000 more than total indebtedness of the company.

There is no borrowed money, either from individuals or banks; no funded debts or preferred stocks. In other words, with the exception of the small current liability, the entire assets belong to the stockholders.

At the close of June the capital surplus amounted to $6,084,697, which is unchanged from the previous report in December, but the earned surplus advanced from $5,306,914 to $7,485,309, a gain of $2,180,000. It also gives the company a total surplus of $13,570,006 against $11,391,611 in December or equal to $8.75 per share in book values alone.

In addition to disbursing $974,998 in dividends to the holders of 1,625,000 shares of capital stock outstanding, the company set aside $228,746 to cover expenses and set up a reserve to prevent damage from possible future floods at the Peoria (Ill.) plant.

International Combustion to Purchase Unit

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Consolidation of the F. J. Lewis Manufacturing Company of Chicago with International Combustion Engineering Corporation will be effected by the payment to Lewis stockholders of 185,000 shares of International common stock, and $2,625,000 in cash, it was revealed here today. To effect this, stockholders of the International corporation have been called to meet August 15 to authorize $10,000,000 in preferred stock and an increase in the common from 750,000 to 1,100,000 shares. Five million dollars of the new preferred will be issued shortly, on ratification, to provide for the cash payment and to supply additional working capital.

In connection with the company's consolidation program, an official of International Combustion Engineering Corporation said that the net worth of the Lewis Company, a large coal-tar distilling organization formed more than forty years ago, is valued at $13,000,000 or more.

Fate of Peach Tonnage Hangs on Price Pact

SACRAMENTO, July 19. (Exclusive) Inability of California peach growers and canneries to agree upon a price for the 1927 crop has subjected to uncertainty the ultimate fate of 300,000 tons of grade A preserving peaches. The crop is sufficient to make 12,500,000 cases of canned peaches. Cling peaches are ripening fast and will reach the canning stage within a few days, and apparently the growers and canneries are far from a price agreement.

Local canners declare they have not bought any peaches, outside of those for which they have signed up on long-term contracts. The growers are demanding $30 a ton for their fruit and the canneries insist they cannot afford to pay that price in view of the market. They report a carry-over from the 1926 crop of 4,500,000 cases of peaches and declare there will be a carry-over this year of 3,500,000 cases.

Coal Properties of Penn Central Utility Strong Link in Power System.

Its favorable position is due in no small measure to the fact that its holdings include coal lands and coal-mining rights containing reserves of more than 10,000,000 tons. In addition it controls valuable water rights on the Juanita River. Moreover, it has a physical connection with the transmission-line systems of the Penn Public Service Corporation and the Potomac Edison Company.

A regular and uniform supply of fuel at low cost is assured by the location of its largest mine adjacent to the principal generating station at Saxton, Pa. Recoverable ... at this point, it is estimated, will supply the station's fuel requirements for at least twenty-five years.

The company serves a well-diversified industrial territory, in which are located more than 1000 plants devoted to the manufacture of artificial silk, of other textiles and of iron and steel products. Other important industries in the district include glass, sand, stone and gravel, brick, tile and other clay products.

The territory served comprises mining and agricultural districts as well, the population in the district numbering more than 350,000. A large part of the Clearfield coal field and all of the Broad Top coal field are embraced. In addition, one of the largest railroad repair shops in the world, that of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Altoona, employing about 18,000 persons, is included in the territory.

The company's outstanding capitalization includes $7,000,000 first and refunding mortgage fifty-year 5½ per cent bonds, $15,699,300 divisional and subsidiary bonds and 116,436 shares of $5 preferred stock. All of the common, except directors' qualifying shares, is owned by the National Electric Power Company.

Net earnings of the company in the twelve months ended April 30 totaled $2,789,594. Annual interest requirements on the divisional and subsidiary bonds in the hands of the public amount to somewhat less than $900,000; so there remains almost $1,900,000 to cover interest requirements of $885,000 on the $7,000,000 5½s, of which $1,500,000 was offered to the public some time ago.

Additional bonds of this issue may be issued not to exceed 80 per cent of the cost or fair value of improvements or acquisitions, provided earnings for a certain period preceding applicable to bond interest were sufficient to have covered requirements on total to be outstanding at least one and three-quarters times.

Other restrictions are included in the indenture in regard to issuance of additional securities.

JULIAN REFUNDS DEMANDED

Actions for $244,640 Filed Against Two Men Over Asserted Usurious Loans

Civil complaints demanding the return of $244,640 to the treasury of the Julian Petroleum Corporation on the grounds that one-third of that amount represents asserted usurious rates of interest received from the corporation in its financial struggle before its collapse were filed yesterday against Jacob Farbestein and J. Gans by Receivers Scott and Carnahan.

The complaints cited twenty-one causes of action against Farbestein, president of the Standard Pipe and Supply Company, under grand jury indictment on usury charges, and invoked the statute which demands return of thrice the amount of usurious interest obtained. He was sued for $154,640 and the complaint against Gans asked for $90,000.

According to the receivers these actions are in connection with Julian Corporation pool loans and are not connected with the long list of individual money lenders against whom civil suits are contemplated.

At the same time Clare Woolwine and Kyle Grainger, attorneys representing a group of Julian Corporation stockholders, filed a stipulation in Federal Judge Henning's court requesting that a previous order adjudging S. C. Lewis a bankrupt, be set aside to enable the latter to cooperate more fully with the stockholders and receivers in rehabilitating the Julian Petroleum Corporation.

Civil action against individual money lenders asking triple damages for their asserted profits from loans to the Julian Corporation are being held in abeyance pending further conferences between their attorneys and the receivers regarding the form of receipt to be issued for refunded profits, Scott and Carnahan's attorneys said.

Lewis stated that he will hold a conference with these money lenders either tonight or tomorrow night regarding the expected refunds. The conference, thus far, has been delayed while attorneys conferred over the form of receipt to be issued.

State Corporation Commissioner Friedlander announced in San Francisco yesterday that all Julian Petroleum Corporation stock must be clearance of overissue stigma before it can be replaced on the legitimate market.

Carnahan, one of the receivers for the firm, in commenting on Friedlander's statement, said that the receivers long ago had conceded this point which is included in the present reconstruction plan.

This proposes that the overissue stock be accepted on a "dollars-invested plan" instead of par value. In this manner it is believed that the innocent purchasers of overissue stock will be protected as well as the regular stockholders. An order already has been issued by the Federal Court requesting all stockholders to register their securities with the receivers before September 12.

GUN ATTACK BY CUTTER PROTESTED

NEWPORT BEACH, July 19. (Exclusive)—Declaring that the Coast Guard cutter 254 had, without previous warning, fired two shots across the bow of his forty-foot speed boat Zephyr as it left Newport Harbor, endangering the lives of himself and his eleven passengers, Lew Dixson of this city was indignantly seeking some sort of redress today.

According to Dixson, the cutter was hove to about 100 yards from the end of the harbor jetty, with lights doused. As he went out, he said, workmen on the jetty set off some flares on the jetty, preparing to guard it against an expected high tide.

The cutter, evidently thinking these flares some sort of a signal to some one outside, at once took extreme measures to halt the speedboat, then drew alongside and searched it.

They found no liquor or other contraband and the searching party then returned to its own boat with no word of apology or explanation, Dixson declared.

HER OWN FAULT

It is said there never was a woman philosopher. The saying got a start, probably, because women believe all the gallant things men say about them; in all the idealism they read about. Men are philosophers because they discount such things as idealism, gallantry, patriotism: it was a man who said patriotism is the first resort of a scoundrel.—[E. W. Howe's Monthly.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 19. (Exclusive) There was a renewal of bullish activity in the cotton market from the opening today on better Liverpool cables than due and continuation of unfavorable weather in eastern belt with some rains of a scattered character also reported in Western Arkansas and Oklahoma. Temperatures in the western half of the belt were warmer and there was an absence of any important rainfall in Texas.

However, the official forecasts for tonight and tomorrow, the boll weevil report published at 11 a.m., our time, and the detailed rainfall reported in the early afternoon, showing considerably more rain than appeared on the early map for the eastern belt, held any bearish activity in check and readily absorbed all offerings with prices around 2 p.m. making new highs for the season on the present movement and market maintaining most of the advance up to the close.

These rains on detailed reports showed twelve stations in Savannah district had from .01 to 1.35 inches, eight in Augusta district received .12 to 3.52, latter at Augusta; .01 to 1.40 at all stations in the district and .02 to .98 in Wilmington district. In Charleston the official forecasts were for generally part cloudy conditions with showers.

The boll-weevil report issued by the Agricultural Department, referred to above, stated that at College Station, Tex., ideal weather for multiplication of weevils has prevailed for the past four weeks and infestation is now heavy in some sections, amounting to 50 per cent and in some fields in wooded sections 100 per cent.

The maximum advance carried prices in the fourth hour's trading to 40 to 47 points over their closing of yesterday with July selling at 18.20c, October 18.68c, December 18.91c, January 18.95c and March 19.17c. The low quotations of the day were July 17.85c, October 18.29c, December 18.57c, January 18.65c and March 18.95c. There was a noticeable scarcity of contracts on the way up and sentiment in the trade continued bullish. However, it continues so much of a weather market most traders were somewhat skeptical about making new commitments at the present high levels.

At Liverpool cotton futures closed at a net advance of 12 points before our market opened, that market closing at noon on account of the opening of the Gladstone dock. This was against 2 to 6 points advance due to have met our closing of yesterday.

TRAINER SAYS BEAR DANGEROUS ANIMAL

The King of Beasts, popularly regarded as the most ferocious, is the safest animal to train, according to a man who ought to know lions. He is Capt. Ricardo, the head trainer for a circus well known in this country. In an article by Harvey V. Deuell in Liberty, Capt. Ricardo tells of several interesting conclusions about animals which he has reached after forty-five years of wild-animal training.

The most vicious animal, in the captain's opinion, is the tiger. The bear is the most dangerous, he says. The most treacherous is the leopard. The smartest is the American mountain lion, and the hyena is the dumbest.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR INVESTORS
V
Do Not Buy More Marketability Than You Need!
Marketability costs money. Highly marketable bonds are not always as well secured nor do they always yield as high an income as good bonds having a narrower market.
Part of your bonds should be readily marketable but it is better to seek greater safety and income for the remainder.
This is Number FIVE of the "TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR INVESTORS." If you desire the complete TEN send us your name and address, and we will mail them to you in booklet form.

SPECULATION IS A LUXURY

Speculation is a luxury which the investor of moderate means cannot well afford. "Playing the market" or "taking a long shot" have no place in the investment program of the man or woman living on the income from accumulated earnings. Experience has demonstrated many times that the sacrifice of security for high yield is never wise nor profitable in the long run

The investment policy of the CALIFORNIA COMPANY is directed toward serving the needs of the conservative investor. Would such service be of interest to you?

Santa Fe Avenue and the New Firestone Rubber Plant

"The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company has taken an option on a 40 acre factory site bounded by Alameda street, Manchester and Santa Fe avenues, and will soon erect a plant which will provide employment for 2500 people when completed. The estimated cost of the project is $7,000,000."—From the Los Angeles Times of Tuesday, July 19th.

The district bounded by Florence Avenue, the Southern Pacific right of way and Long Beach Boulevard, which directly adjoins this new factory site, has just been improved with concrete paving, gutters and a sanitary sewer system. The last Street Improvement Bonds, issued by the County of Los Angeles to cover this improvement, offer an excellent investment opportunity to conservative investors. Full particulars concerning this issue of Street Bonds will be sent on request without obligation.

Grain Markets Unsettled on Mixed Reports

CHICAGO, July 19. (Exclusive)—Grain markets were unsettled, with pressure on wheat a good part of the time and support in corn, with sentiment mixed and buying at times good on breaks. At the close July wheat was ¾c higher and other futures ¼c lower. Corn, after a break and a bulge, finished ⅛@¼c higher. July oats gained ⅝c and other futures finished unchanged to ⅜c higher, while rye was ⅛@½c higher.

Most of the news in wheat was of a depressing character, but there were times when the market showed a great deal of strength, with local operators working for an upturn, with fair success for a time. Bulges ran into selling by local operators and hedging sales, there being a good increase in volume. There was more wheat hedged by local interests, who bought in outside markets, there being 355,000 bushels all told. Cash demand in all was slightly better, but it failed to have strengthening influence of a lasting character.

Weather and crop reports from the American and Canadian Northwest were generally favorable on wheat, and two of the leading experts said there had been no fresh developments of black rust in the last ten days. The markets in all seats to have a weak undertone, although July had support attributed to Canadian and eastern interests. A decrease of 2,700,000 bushels in Bradstreet's world's available supply for the week was without effect. Primary receipts fell below those of a week a year ago. In the Liverpool market there was weakness and ⅛@⅜d lower, while Buenos Aires was ⅝@⅞c higher in the early trading. July wheat here at its best was 1.41¾, with the finish at 1.41@1.41⅛, gaining on September, while the latter finished at 1.37⅝@1.37⅞ and December closed at 1.41⅛@1.41¼.

Crop news on corn was considered sufficiently bullish to induce a number of local professionals to take the buying side early and advance prices 1¾@2c from the low point of the day, with July up to 89¾, September 1.04¼ and December 1.06⅝. The finish on July was 97⅝, September 1.03⅞ and December 1.06⅝. The trade seems friendly to the buying side of corn on all weak spots and crop reports indicate short stalks, small ears and a great deal of lost acreage in the final outcome. A favorable feature was the improvement in the cash demand.

A shipping house bought July oats and bid the price up 1c early, from which there was a recession of ⅝c. In deferred futures there was limited trading, with profit-taking on all bulges.

Rye had fair support on the breaks and rallied toward the last, but failed to hold the advanced price. July is said to be held by a Canadian and New York exporter, while the deferred futures are being sold in expectation of a large crop.

January lard advanced 2½c, while the near futures of lard were unchanged to 2½c lower. The range was small and trade limited, with fair investment buying of January lard, and no pressure from sellers. Short ribs were neglected and 15@22½c lower and bellies were 25c lower.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Approximately 800 cattle were offered on yesterday's market, about 200 of which were included in the fresh arrivals yesterday. The majority of the supply held over from Monday was common and medium cows, with only a small proportion of steers. Trading was rather slow with prices holding about steady with Monday's close.

Six head of 985-pound local fed "baby beef" steers realized 12.00, as did one weighing 1260 pounds. The top for matured steers was 8.00, paid for two loads of 1154-pound weights and a load of 985-pound bullocks. Other steers, common and low medium kinds, including rough weighty bullocks, turned from 7.00@8.10, while a load of 782-pound Arizonas went out for feeding purposes at 5.85. Another lot for feeding purposes, 807-pound Californias, made 7.00.

Odd head of heifers sold up to 7.00, while a few cows went over from 6.50@6.75. The best in load lots, medium kinds, stopped at 6.25, while the bulk of cows, common and medium kinds, turned from 5.50@6.25, with very common kinds fairly numerous around 5.00. Cutters were most numerous from 4.00@4.40 with low cutters from 2.60@3.25. Bulls were scarce and steady, medium to good kinds selling from 5.50@6.25.

CALVES—The small supply on hand was cleaned up at generally steady prices. A small lot of choice 341-pound Arizonas made 11.75 with a few 200-pound averages at 12.00, while half a load of medium 219-pound Idaho vealers cashed for 11.00. Small lots of other vealers cleared from 10.50@12.00. Plain calves and heavies turned largely from 7.50@9.50, including a sizeable lot of 372-pound averages at 9.25.

HOGS—Eight loads of butchers were offered on today's market, six of which were held over from Monday. Storm loads were cleaned up on the morning session, with the remaining load still unsold at a late hour in the afternoon. Prices were generally 20@25 cents higher. The day's top, 13.00, was paid for the two loads of fresh arrivals averaging 160 and 181 pounds, while four loads of the holdovers averaging 160 to 185 pounds went over from 11.65@11.85, with a load of mixed offerings at 11.50. Small lots of 240 to 250-pound butchers cashed from 10.00@10.50, while packing sows were quoted from 8.50@9.00.

SHEEP—Offerings yesterday consisted of a load of shorn aged and yearling bucks averaging 104 pounds at 3.00. Medium to choice lambs were quoted from 12.00@14.00, with medium to choice wooled ewes from 5.25@6.75.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, July 19. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Finished steel markets in the Chicago district are showing a better tone despite the usual midsummer lull. Small lots orders continue to flow to mills in good volume and specifications in the fourteenth day surpassing those for July, 1926, although falling a little short of those for June. Sheet prices are firmer than in many months with business sufficient to maintain operations in the Mahoning Valley at 72 per cent of capacity. Pipe mills are busy and specially large users in the oilfields are increasing. Pittsburgh district mills are operating close to 70 per cent of capacity. Wire mills are the busiest they have established level of 2.50 a keg, Pittsburgh.

Copper today was definitely established at 13.75 cents delivery Connecticut, up ¼ cent. Lead is stronger at 6c@6.05½c St. Louis. Zinc is slow but firm at 5.20 cents St. Louis. Tin is weak at 63.75 cents New York. All brass and copper products were advanced ¼-cent a pound today. Nickel silver products were advanced ½ cent.

HOW TO MAKE SUMMER DRINKS

The "Los Angeles Times" Offers Recipes for Thirty Varieties

Iced tea, lemonade and orange juice are the popular summer drinks. They are always cooling and refreshing.

But there are other long cool drinks of summer time that are equally delicious. Try a few of the following and see if they do not soon become favorites.

Directions for preparing these drinks are contained in the Orange and Lemon Booklet which our Washington Information Bureau has for distribution. Order your copy today.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—Easing tendencies in time-money rates appeared to have slight effect on the listed market for bonds today, issues of the highest-grade holding at about yesterday's levels, or sagging a little, while semispeculative mortgages moved in conflicting directions. A little more attention was given to high-priced industrial liens, but on the whole there was little change from the indifference displayed in the average session or recent days.

Steady buying of recent new issues on which the prices have been pared down has made substantial inroads on the surplus of new bonds, but enough new material remains to provide sharp competition to the listed market. A number of new offerings of sizeable proportions are reported not far away, including the proposed loan to Colombia, which may arrive later this week.

The foreign group was generally firm, Japanese governmental and municipal obligations giving particularly good accounts of themselves, while several French and Italian issues were attractive to buyers. Some of the South American bonds which have recently been moving forward, reacted fractionally on realizing.

Chesapeake Corporation 5s were offered in unusually large amounts, but were promptly absorbed. Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, "Katy" adjustment 5s and Missouri Pacific 5s were among the gilt-edged rail liens which displayed firm tendencies. While Erie "D" 4s dropped 2 1-2 points on realizing, several other convertible rails advanced slightly and Peoria and Eastern income 4s reached 50, a new high for the year.

Further quiet accumulation of Third Avenue Adjustment 5s was the feature of the utility division, while a 2-point gain by International Paper convertible 5s led the industrials. Gould Coupler 6s established a new high on a few sales, but Wickwire Spencer convertible 7s fell to 27, a new low.

Federal government securities were inactive.

An issue of $10,000,000 Union Electric Light and Power Company bonds has been purchased and will be sold privately by a New York syndicate headed by Dillon Read & Co.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transactions, close is omitted when same as low, and both low and close when same as high.

Mittlestaedt Pushes Guard Review Plans

SACRAMENTO, July 19. (AP)—With the acceptance by Gov. Young of an invitation to review the California National Guard at Camp Del Monte August 9, and the extension of similar invitations to Senators Johnson and Shortridge, Adjt.-Gen R. E. Mittlestaedt now is rushing final preparation for the big two weeks' outing beginning the 30th inst.

Three thousand men, comprising two regiments of infantry, a regiment of field artillery, tank and signal companies, will pass in review before the State's chief executive, who will spend the entire day looking over the men and the encampment.

The units to be given two weeks of intensive instruction at Del Monte are the Fortieth Signal Company, San Francisco; Fortieth Tank Company, Salinas; Headquarters company, Seventy-ninth Brigade, San Francisco; One Hundred and Eighty-fourth Infantry, San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, One Hundred and Fifty-ninth Infantry, San Francisco bay region, and the One Hundred and Forty-third field artillery, Stockton, Sacramento and Oakland.

Horse shows, mounted athletic events, field and track meets, band concerts and other recreational and entertainment features have been arranged for the afternoon during the encampment. The military instruction will be given during the morning. Walter Christie, University of California track coach, has charge of the athletics.

Simultaneous with the Del Monte encampment will be the camp at Presidio of Monterey at which the headquarters and staff, Fortieth Division from Berkeley, Fresno and Utah; headquarters and staff Seventy-ninth brigade, Los Angeles; headquarters detachment, Fortieth Division, Berkeley, will be given maneuver instructions. Maj.-Gen. David P. Barrows will have charge of the latter units.

Deadlock Blocks Verdict in Pomona Murder as Jury Retires

ELEVEN STAND BY GUILTY VOTE

Woman Reported as Favoring Youthful Slayer

Nine Hours of Debate Fail to Bring Agreement

Panel Reports This Morning; Fear Disagreement

After reporting it was deadlocked and had been unable to reach a verdict in the case of Durward Wittenmeyer, 16-year-old Pomona boy slayer of Mrs. Fannie Weigle, the jury at 10 o'clock last night was locked up by Superior Judge Bowron with instructions to report at 9 o'clock today.

Through reliable though unofficial sources it was learned that the jury stood 11 to 1 in favor of the conviction of first-degree murder with a recommendation for life imprisonment at San Quentin.

The jurors had previously reported their failure to reach a verdict at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and were allowed to retire for dinner and instructed to report again at 10 p.m.

REPORT NO CHANGE

"We have no change to report," was the brief announcement made by the foreman of the jury after Judge Bowron had inquired the result of its deliberations last night.

The court did not press the jury as to its attitude in the case, but it was reported that one woman stood out stubbornly against the others.

The total deliberation was eight hours and fifty minutes.

When the jury first issued the report of its disagreement in the afternoon Judge Bowron inquired if further instructions were sought on any point of law. He received a negative reply.

The foreman of the jury, Herrick C. Brown, then revealed the efforts of the jurors to reach a decision after nearly six hours of tedious deliberation.

Mr. Brown declared that he very seriously doubted if the twelfth juror could be won over. A quick verdict had been predicted.

At the conclusion of reading the instructions, the jury filed out at 11:08 a.m. yesterday to decide the fate of Wittenmeyer, who faced the trying ordeal with apparent apathy. All through the morning session, the confessed slayer of Mrs. Weigle, who was killed on the streets of Pomona by an automobile spring sheaf, shrugged his shoulders and wore a bored expression.

JUDGE'S INSTRUCTION

Judge Bowron placed an entirely different aspect on the sanity angle of the case in giving the charge, when he declared that Wittenmeyer "must conclusively prove his own insanity." In part he said:

"The law presumes him to be sane until proved otherwise. If the jury holds him guilty on account of a fit of temporary insanity, then the judge may be able to hold him for trial on an insanity charge."

Owing to the California law forbidding the hanging of persons under 18 years of age, the most severe sentence Wittenmeyer could anticipate is life imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary.

Before filing out of the jury box, the jurors were told by the court that they might return one of four verdicts. These are: Not guilty, guilty of first-degree murder, guilty of second-degree murder, and guilty of first-degree murder, with a recommendation of life imprisonment. The second and fourth verdicts are virtually the same, Judge Bowron said.

The prosecution was conducted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Fisher and Clark. Because of a sore throat, Fisher was unable to offer the closing plea. Public Defenders Aggeler and Davis were counsel for the defendant.

JEWISH FUND SOUGHT

Los Angeles Asked to Give Toward Maintaining Yeshiva

A communication from Nathan Lamport, president of the Yeshiva, an institution for higher Jewish learning in New York City, has been received by local leaders of Judaism asking contributions from Los Angeles orthodox Jewish congregations for the maintenance of the New York Yeshiva.

A fund of $5,000,000 is being raised throughout the country for the construction of a Yeshiva College, to consist of the Yeshiva proper and a school of liberal arts and sciences. The Yeshiva is to train rabbis and teachers for orthodox Jewish pulpits. H. L. Selig is executive director of the building fund.

ELECTRIC RATES TO BE LOWERED

Los Angeles Corporation Will Reduce Them August 1

Kilowatt Hour Cost Now Will be Cut to 5 Cents

More Flexible Schedule Also to Be Introduced

Estimating an annual saving to its consumers of approximately $385,000, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, through the executive vice-president and general manager, A. B. Day, yesterday announced a material reduction in its electric rates. The new rates become effective with meter readings on and after August 1 over the entire territory served by the company.

"The base rate, or the first step in the rate schedule," Mr. Day stated, "is reduced from 5.8 cents per kilowatt hour to 5c per kilowatt hour. The step to which this rate applies is reduced from 100 kilowatt hours to fifty kilowatt hours in one month, and applies to all domestic consumers having five or less lighting circuits. This rate also applies to nine kilowatt hours per lighting circuit for each circuit in excess of five.

"The next step in the domestic schedule carries a rate of 2½ cents per kilowatt hour, with a still further decrease for consumption beyond that point. This is a very marked reduction from the former rate.

"Heretofore a special lighting and heating rate has been available only to those consumers who added to their installations electrical appliances other than lamp-socket devices. The new schedule is quite flexible and makes possible the enjoyment of the lower rates by all those who may use increasing amounts of electric current for any domestic purpose.

"The commercial lighting rate also is lowered to 5 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 200 kilowatt hours, with a further reduction for greater consumption."

Reports made at the recent convention of the National Electric Light Association showed that the electric industry is practically the only one selling its product for less than before the war. This saving to consumers has been brought about by an increased efficiency in production and distribution in the face of increased costs of doing business generally."

JURY GETS SMUGGLING CASE TODAY

Aviators Accused of Plot to Slip in Aliens Soon to Know Their Fate

Defense and prosecution rested their cases late yesterday afternoon at the trial of John J. O'Brien, Emmett Longbrake and B. R. Cheney, aviators, in United States District Judge Henning's court on charges of conspiracy to smuggle Chinese from Tia Juana to Los Angeles.

It is expected that arguments will be completed before noon today and that the jury will get the case this afternoon. The defense concluded its case at noon yesterday and the government then introduced several persons as rebuttal witnesses.

Two Mexicans and a Chinese told of seeing the three defendants in Tia Juana on different occasions, and the Mexicans testified that they had seen the aviators load Chinese in their planes and take them away.

The last witness on the stand for the government was an assistant observer from the United States Weather bureau, who produced a weather chart from the meteorological station at Rancho Santa Fe, six miles east of Torrey Pines, on the road to San Diego. The chart was introduced to combat testimony given previously by Longbrake.

The defendants were arrested at the Eagle Airport when they landed here April 30. The same day saw the shooting of Arthur Daugherty, another aviator, by immigration inspectors. The government maintains that the aviators brought several orientals to this city that morning.

Longbrake and O'Brien already have been acquitted on a specific charge of transportation of aliens across the border.

ATTACK SUSPECT HELD

County Employee Arrested When Woman Tells Story of Auto Ride

F. B. Mendelson, a sanitation inspector for the County Health Department at Belvedere, was arrested last night by Deputy Sheriffs Stanesland and Hutchison on suspicion of having attacked Tillie Kanter, 25 years of age, of 2112 East Fourth street.

It is charged that after Mendelson had promised to take the young woman to her home in his car, he drove, instead, to the vicinity of Culver City, where he is said to have attacked her, bruising her in so doing.

The young woman, according to the report, had to walk about seven miles to reach a street car. She then went to the Receiving Hospital to have her wounds dressed and reported the affair to the Sheriff's office. Mendelson was placed in the County Jail.

BRIDAL PAIR HIDE OUT

Honeymoon Refuge of Kenneth Marr and Alice W. Lanyon Mystery

Friends, relatives and others who have wedding presents for Kenneth Marr, assistant film director, and Alice Ward Lanyon, actress, who obtained a marriage license yesterday, will have to put them in storage until the pair return from their hide-away honeymoon.

Inquiry at the home of the bride's mother last night failed to shed any light on their wedding plans, but an acquaintance of Marr said he believed the couple had departed for San Francisco, intending to have the ceremony performed en route.

Marr gave his age as 27 and his address as 701 North Formosa street, while Miss Lanyon confessed to 25 and gave her mother's address as 1609 North Vista Del Mar.

COUNTY FIRES UNDER CONTROL

River Canyon. The fire had cleaned up a two-mile front along the river and was sweeping into the Sierra foothills.

The fire traveled along the north wall of the canyon to within an eighth of a mile of the Southern California Edison Company's power station, two miles up from the mouth of the canyon. A small group of volunteer fighters under State Ranger Wood and Deputy State Fire Warden Stevenson, was trying to bring the fire under control.

OTHER BLAZES

The fire in Lone Pine Canyon about eighteen miles northeast of San Bernardino, affecting both the San Bernardino and Angeles national forests practically was under control, according to reports from San Bernardino last night. The fire is estimated to have covered from 1700 to 2000 acres. Supervisor Boulden of the San Bernardino forest and Supervisor Cecil of the Angeles forest have a force of about 200 men on the line. Assistant County Forester Thurston and a crew of men have been sent up to protect the county's recreation camps at Big Pines should the flames sweep that way.

A heavy brush and grass fire burning southwest of Livermore was raging on a fifteen-mile front, reports from the north stated. Nearly 20,000 acres of pasture land were reported to have been burned over. Although 500 men were trying to hold the flames in check calls were sent out for every available man in the district.

DON'T THROW CIGARS OR MATCHES FROM MACHINE

SACRAMENTO, July 19. (Exclusive)—Acting on advice from Gov. Young, Frank G. Snook, chief of the State Division of Motor vehicles, today instructed all State traffic officers to enforce rigidly the law prohibiting the throwing of lighted matches, cigars and cigarettes from moving vehicles. Gov. Young has received reports from the Forestry Department that a number of disastrous forest, brush and grain fires have been started this year by careless motorists throwing burning objects from cars.

"We are particularly anxious," Gov. Young said, in a letter to Snook, "to reduce fires of this kind to a minimum, since they are entirely avoidable and generally due to carelessness."

In an appeal to the motoring public to assist in preventing fires, Snook said: "If you must smoke, equip your car with some sort of receptacle for lighted cigars and cigarettes. You may thus avoid a heavy loss for some one."

WIDER VERMONT URGED

The Vermont-Manchester Business Association has urged the City Council to appropriate $18,000 for the purchase of a strip of land on the west side of Vermont avenue south of Manchester avenue in order to widen Vermont avenue in this section.

FAMILIAR SIGHTS

In the home, as in the office, economy of effort is a most practical form of thrift. It is because thousands of housewives have recognized this fact that the extension telephone has become a "familiar sight."

A saver of countless steps, the extension telephone is one of many improvements in household equipment which have made it possible for the woman in the home to use more profitably and more pleasantly the energy wasted on needless tasks. The cost is but a few cents a week.

TRIPLANE TO TRY SEA HOP

Will Leave Long Beach in Few Weeks for Tokio and Plans Eight-Hour Stop at Honolulu

With Tokio as their objective, Theodore S. Lundgren and Capt. James L. Giffin expect to hop off from Long Beach in a large triplane within the next few weeks. An eight-hour stop is to be made at Honolulu, the entire flight to take approximately sixty flying hours.

Giffin belongs to the Air Corps Reserve and is an attorney in private life. Lundgren, a New Yorker, is a former army aviator. The ship which they expect to use is capable of carrying twelve passengers and is driven by two Wright whirlwind motors. It is being completed at the International Aircraft Corporation's plant at Long Beach.

The distance to Honolulu is 2566 miles and the entire flight 5766 miles. The great plane, carrying 834 gallons of gas alive, will cruiset at 110 miles an hour. The gasoline will be carried in three tanks which will be installed in the plane. These tanks hold 200 gallons each and will be placed in the cabin originally intended to carry passengers. Two smaller tanks will be attached to the wings.

EAGLE ROCK BIPLANE BEING TESTED FOR FLIGHT

The Eagle Rock biplane that is entered in the Dole Honolulu air race of August 12, next, has been completed and is now being test-flown, according to word received yesterday by Lieut. Jack Frye, president of Aero Corporation of California, Southern California Eagle Rock distributors, from the Alexander Aircraft factory at Denver.

The plane will be delivered to the Tri States Airways Company of Memphis, Tenn., as soon as factory tests are completed and then it is planned to fly it from Memphis to Los Angeles as a preliminary test before the overseas hop to Hawaii.

The ship, which is a standard whirlwind-motored Eagle Rock with special gasoline tanks and navigation instruments, will be overhauled by mechanics of the Aero Corporation of California, at Ninety-ninth street and Western avenue and will take off for the islands either from that field or from Clover Field, Santa Monica.

JURY ASKS DEATH FOR MURDERER

Coroner's Panel at Venice Denounces Bandit's Act as Meriting Full Penalty

A Coroner's jury at Venice yesterday declared that Fletcher Holmes, employee at the Flying Circus, was slain early Tuesday morning by a bullet fired by an unidentified bandit, which pierced his heart and recommended that the bandit, when captured, be given the full penalty of the law. The inquest was conducted at the undertaking rooms of Sharp & Nolan, Venice, by Deputy Coroner Monfort. E. R. Jester was foreman of the jury.

The witnesses included the young man's father, R. S. Holmes; Joe Diehl, concessionaire, who was being held up when Holmes tried to interfere and was shot to death, and Bill Wanamaker, who saw the bandit flee after the shooting, pocketing his pistol as he ran.

Police still are seeking the desperado and declare that because of the good descriptions they have of him capture seems certain.

Malibu Ranch Wins Reduction of Assessment

A revaluation of the 12,000-acre property of Mrs. Rhoda Rindge and the Marblehead Land Company, known as Malibu Rancho, for taxation purposes was established yesterday when the Board of Supervisors, sitting as a Board of Equalization, ordered a reduction of $400,000 in the assessment made by County Assessor Hopkins. With the reduction allowed the property is assessed at approximately $3,600,000, or an average of $300 per acre.

The property previously had been assessed at $4,000,000, representing an increase of almost 700 per cent over the assessment for last year. This valuation was vigorously protested by Senator Harry A. Chamberlin, representing Mrs. Rindge and the Marblehead Land Company.

Damages Asked by Father Over Killing of Son

Charging them with being responsible for the death of his 14-year-old son, Victoriano Sanchez yesterday brought suit in Superior Court for $50,000 damages against M. K. Nuno and A. Bryan, the latter said to be the owner of an orange grove near Arcadia in which Sanchez's son was declared to have been shot to death.

Sanchez asserted his son and some other boys had gone into the grove the 5th inst. to pick fruit from the ground and were ordered off the property by Nuno, said to have been a watchman in the employ of Bryan. Although the boys complied with Nuno's order, the complaint states, Nuno opened fire on them with a pistol and one of the bullets killed young Sanchez.

TEXAS TO COPY LOCAL METHODS

System of Irrigating Will be Used on Home Lands

Texas is going in for intensive farming as practiced in Southern California and feels pretty sure, according to J. H. Kemp, wealthy banker of Wichita Falls, and head of a party of forty Texans here to study conditions, that she will make a success of it. Most of the party are from Wichita Falls, and all are highly enthusiastic over what can be done with a single acre when properly irrigated and developed to its utmost capacity.

The tour, which will include Los Angeles, Petaluma, and San Francisco, was sponsored by Mr. Kemp, who made a trip to California early last spring and was so impressed with what the Golden State is doing along the lines of agriculture, poultry and rabbit raising that he started rounding up his party almost the minute he reached home. The Chamber of Commerce of the Texas City also took a hand in the arrangements, and J. W. Chatham, traffic manager and industrial commissioner of the chamber, was placed in charge.

SEE WONDER SIGHTS

Yesterday the Texans visited the Adohr dairy farm, the Charles Weeks and Runnymede poultry farms, and other points in the San Fernando Valley, where they found much to interest them. On the acre farms in this region they found irrigation developed to the highest degree, Mr. Kemp said, and the principle will be put into force as soon as physically possible when the visitors get back home.

In addition to their regular itinerary, the party will visit Glendale, San Bernardino, Saugus, Ventura, Riverside, Pomona and other towns in this region. They will leave Friday at 6 p.m. for Petaluma, where they are planning to make an intensive study of how things are done in "the nation's egg basket." After spending the day there, they will return to San Francisco, where the group will disband, some remaining for a longer visit, and the others returning to Wichita Falls.

IDENTITY OF PARTY

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Kemp, the party includes J. M. Baber of the Security National Bank; Roy S. Jones, president Panhandle Refining Company, F. A. Foster, City National Bank; Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor, Dallas News; Earl Knox, Mayor Iowa Park; M. B. Oates, agricultural agent, Fort Worth and Denver City Railway; T. A. Wolcott, general passenger agent Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chatham, traffic manager, Chamber of Commerce; R. H. Walker, agricultural agent, Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway; Frank McMordie, dairy specialist; O. K. Barnes, agricultural director, Chamber of Commerce; J. W. Lyle, Texas Electric Service Company; B. M. Whiteaker, exhibit manager, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and P. H. Walser, dairy expert of Tyler, Tex.

Today the visitors will be entertained by the Chamber of Commerce with a luncheon at the Biltmore.

Asserted User of Hammer in Home Row Held

Domestic difficulties of Alvin J. Harris, 21 years of age, of 1534 Sawtelle Boulevard, and his wife, Mrs. Grace Harris, 31, were aired yesterday before Municipal Judge Ballard, where Harris was accused of attacking his wife with a hammer.

Following a brief preliminary hearing, Harris was ordered held for trial in Superior Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and his bond set at $1500.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clarke, Harris imbibed several drinks of bootleg liquor and then accused his wife of corresponding with a man in San Quentin prison.

Mrs. Harris responded by hurling a flatiron at her husband, according to the testimony. At this point, the defendant seized a hammer and struck Mrs. Harris several blows on the head, inflicting serious injuries, Prosecutor Clarke contended.

Accused Man's Getaway to Be Investigated

Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the escape from two deputy sheriffs of Paul E. Knapp, accused of a statutory offense and robbery, was asked yesterday by Superior Judge Hardy. Deputy Sheriffs Burke and Jones were suspended temporarily pending the rearrest of Knapp.

Knapp was taken out Monday to the home of his mother at 1949 East Fourth street. Judge Hardy stated that his order was that Knapp was to be taken to the office of a dentist, whose office is near the home of his mother. Knapp asked to go into the bathroom, but bolted into a clothes closet, where a trapdoor had been arranged. Through this he escaped, presumably with his wife.

Judge Hardy yesterday investigated the case, conferring with Chief Criminal Deputy Wright and Capt. Fox. The method of obtaining the court order was gone into and further investigation is to be conducted. Deputy sheriffs yesterday continued their search for Knapp.

HOFFMAN TO GIVE RECITAL

Frans Hoffman, baritone, will give a recital at the University of California summer session in Millspaugh auditorium today at 3 p.m. The concert will be free to the public. Mr. Hoffman's recent engagements have been with the Philharmonic Orchestra, the Glendale Symphony Orchestra, and as Plunkett in the opera "Martha," for the Bay Cities Music Association. He sang in "The Morning of the Year" by Charles Wakefield Cadman, with the composer at the piano.

The first artificial dye was discovered in 1856 by a chemist who was trying to make artificial quinine.

FRAUD SALE CHARGED BY STAR DENIED

Donovans Say Mae Murray Had Every Opportunity to Inspect Property

General denial of the charges of Mae Murray, motion-picture actress, that fraudulent representations were employed by them in selling her a house in Santa Monica was made yesterday by Jack Donovan and his mother Jeanette O. Donovan, in an answer they filed to Miss Murray's suit to recover approximately $30,000.

MAE MURRAY.

In her action, Miss Murray asserted the house, located at 13547 San Vicente Boulevard, was constructed of inferior materials; that the walls and ceilings were cracking and that the roof leaked. She also declared Mrs. Donovan said that the furniture in the place consisted of antiques that had been in the Donovan family for many years. These asserted representations were false, according to the actress.

In their answer, the Donovans not only denied they made any such representations as those charged by Miss Murray, but they also stated the actress had had ample opportunity to investigate the house and the materials of which it was constructed and that she had full knowledge of all facts and circumstances regarding the home.

Miss Murray was said to have purchased the house and furnishings for $60,000.

With the filing of the answer, the case is now in a position to be set for trial.

Attorney Roger Marchetti filed the answer of the Donovans.

Royal Arcanum Delegation Due Here for Visit

En route to Los Angeles for a three-day visit this week, delegates in their special trains to the fiftieth annual convention of the Royal Arcanum to open in Seattle on the 26th inst., will be entertained today at Salt Lake City and will arrive in this city tomorrow at 5:30 p.m.

Headed by Harold C. Knoeppel, supreme regent of the order, the delegations will be welcomed on their arrival here at the Southern Pacific station by Mayor Cryer and hundreds of California members of the organization, including Percy C. Abrams, grand regent of the State; Supreme Sentry Arthur W. Kennedy, Alexander N. Roberts, chairman of the reception committee, and others.

Tomorrow night the visitors will be the guests of local councils of the order at a reception and dance at the Alexandria when Judge Hardy will introduce the supreme regent and other high officers of the supreme council.

Bad laws, if they exist, should be repealed as soon as possible; still, while they continue in force, for the sake of example they should be religiously observed.

—Abraham Lincoln

TOO WET NOW

EASIER

We all ought to respect the laws, even if we can't always respect the lawmakers.

FIRST PERSON-ALITY

Many a man flatters himself he has a dominating personality when it is only domineering.

COLORED PEOPLE

Many a man isn't as black as he's painted and we sincerely hope that few of the girls are as red.

SEEING AND DISBELIEVING

PITY THE BEARS

Another thing to worry about: The bears in Alaska are said to be mighty hungry. Will some gentleman please pass the hat?

FRIENDLY, NOT CRITICAL

Lest anyone should mistake, the Dern-Young conference the other day was a meeting of two governors, not a gathering of California taxpayers.

LANDING PLACES

ANOTHER MISTAKE

Magazines are said to pay their highest rates for pure fiction. But the Sunday-school magazines are the only ones which use that kind now, and they pay miserably.

HIGH VISIBILITY

It seems as difficult for nations to work out a satisfactory arrangement for limitation of arms as for would-be dress reformers to arrange for proper limitation of legs.

BOTHERSOME QUESTION

Ambassador Houghton says war should be put to a vote of the people. But suppose the people of our country voted against war and the people of an enemy country voted for it.

CASH BASIS COMING

Our aviators are getting lots of credit now. But once air flivvers make it fifty times as easy to run up bills and fly away as automobile flivvers do now it will be mighty hard for any aviator to get credit.

HARDLY SEEMS POSSIBLE

The Southern Pacific Railway dispensed 5,450,000 paper drinking cups on its trains last year. Who'd imagine that half that many could have been used for any other purpose than littering the beaches?

BURY THE WIRES

More than 5,000,000 trees must be cut down every year to provide needed extensions and replacements for the telephone and telegraph companies. This should be another good argument for placing the wires underground.

REASON FOR REFORM

Fines and fees added a total revenue of $115,000,000 to the income of California counties during the last fiscal year. Gee, fellers, if we'd all obey the laws just think what a lot of politicians now holding sinecures would have to get out and work!

SPLITTING HAIRS

Among a certain group or sect of Russian peasants a man who loses his beard is thought to have forfeited his chance of entering heaven. Yet in this country there are a lot of people whose only hope of getting to glory is by a close shave. Meanwhile the modernists and fundamentalists are both splitting hairs.

MODERN ANTIQUES

Although under recent laws no genuine antiques may be shipped from Italy the Americans who visit the Mussolini belt appear to get pretty well stocked up with them. The factories turning out old masters for new Midases must be working on full time. The industry is too valuable to be neglected or impaired. Although less than 300 real Stradivarius violins are thought to be in existence more than 1200 of them have been sold. Just as Grand Rapids is making lots of apparently venerable furniture as coming from Connecticut colonial homes, so there are factories in Lombardy and Tuscany turning out curios and antiques that are sold as coming from ancient palaces of Venice and other Italian cities. As long as the Americans will buy the shrewd Italian will have something suitable to sell. The custom officials know the difference, but are discreetly silent about it. This is a matter of diplomacy.

HOW LONG?

From the legal departments of the three great railroads which have just been ordered by the State Railroad Commission to unite in building a union station in the Plaza area comes the announcement that they are preparing to contest the order, as they have contested every similar order made by the constituted railroad-regulatory authorities for the past six years.

"Contest" is the polite term employed. What is meant is that they will flout the order, just as they flouted the same order by the same body in 1921, as they flouted the affirmatory decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1925, as they flouted the repeated demands of the Los Angeles city government, as they flouted the mandate of the people at the special election on the union-station question in 1926 and as they have flouted the findings of every independent traffic and transportation expert who has investigated the question during this city's sixteen-year war for a union station.

All of which raises in the mind of the common citizen and taxpayer such questions as these:

What are the Railroad Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission for?

If the railroads may with impunity disobey a formal order of the California Railroad Commission which was sustained by the Interstate Commerce Commission in accordance with findings by the State Supreme Court which were affirmed by the United States Supreme Court and which formal order is now repeated by the Railroad Commission, just who or what does have competent jurisdiction over these common carriers?

Or are they, perhaps, above the commissions and the courts? Are we prepared to admit that neither the State nor the Federal government, through their duly constituted commissions for the control of the railroads, has actual authority over them?

Which is supreme—the public or the railroads? The State and Federal courts and commissions are the servants of the public, created and kept in operation by the public will and at public expense. It was public money which defrayed the staggering cost of the sixteen years of investigation and litigation in the Plaza terminal fight in which the railroad opposition to a union station has been defeated not once but in seven separate and major engagements. It was public money which paid for a special election to decide the question by popular vote—a gage accepted by the railroads and made the subject of a bitter contest—and it was the public vote which did decide it in favor of a union station at the Plaza site.

It is public money and public support which make possible the existence of railroads at all. Theoretically, at least, the carriers are public servants, dependent for their material prosperity upon the degree to which they meet the public wants.

The frank admission of the railroad lawyers that they are prepared to attack the recent decision of the State Railroad Commission on any one of half a dozen legal technicalities through as many different channels—and with no particular preference among them—is an admission that they propose to use the executive and judicial machinery of the people merely to harass and delay the execution of the public will and without any regard to the intrinsic merits of the matter. That policy is in line with the famous admission of the chief counsel for the Southern Pacific in the union-station litigation that "we are training our sons to carry on this fight after us."

It is not on the ground of cost that the railroads oppose a union station in the Plaza area. Every substitute they have ever suggested would have entailed a much greater cost to themselves than the terminal they are determined not to build. The Interstate Commerce Commission estimate was that less than $6,000,000 of new money would be required for the Plaza depot, as most of the necessary site is already owned by the Southern Pacific. The elevated system which the railroads asked to substitute for a joint station would have cost about $10,000,000. The aggregate cost of the separate stations they have at various times suggested would have run well in excess of the cost of the Plaza project.

The union station war began in 1911, when Bion J. Arnold, international transportation expert, made an elaborate survey of Los Angeles traffic conditions and recommended a union station in the Plaza area. Subsequently three different City Councils, several political generations of city commissions and numerous fact-finding committees of disinterested engineering experts investigated the matter and indorsed the Plaza station plan as a means for solving our traffic problems and to eliminate grade crossings.

In 1921, after two years of exhaustive investigation by its engineers, the State Railroad Commission ordered the railroads to proceed forthwith to prepare plans to erect a union station in the Plaza district. The railroads appealed to the State Supreme Court, which held that only the Interstate Commerce Commission has jurisdiction over interstate carriers. This view was sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

In accordance with these findings the case was laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission, which made a similarly exhaustive inquiry. On July 6, 1925, the Interstate Commerce Commission ruled that "public necessity and convenience" required the roads to join in building a union station in the Plaza area and that the State Railroad Commission should make such an order. Simultaneously, the Federal body denied the plea of the railroads to substitute elevateds for a union depot.

The case went back to the Railroad Commission for the necessary order, the carriers interposing their usual obstacles. At this point friends of the railroads, believing their political influence sufficient to defeat the union-depot project on a popular vote, suggested that the question be submitted to the people of Los Angeles themselves for decision at a special election to be called for the purpose.

Both sides accepted the suggestion and inferentially agreed to abide by the result. Newspaper spokesmen for the carriers editorially applauded the plan and declared that all parties would be bound by the verdict at the polls. The railroads put on a tremendous fight, spending over $100,000 in literature, speakers, billboards and other advertising and in getting out their vote.

The election was held April 5, 1926. There were two union-station propositions on the ballot. One was to determine if such a station should be built; the other if it should be built in the Plaza area. Both carried by substantial majorities.

Immediately after the election the director of the railroads' campaign and their common spokesman published under his signature a statement that the railroads would NOT be bound by the result.

The Railroad Commission thereafter resumed its hearings and on July 8, last, again ordered the railroads to join in a union station in the Plaza area.

Now the roads say they will ask for a rehearing or will appeal to the State Supreme Court, the United States District Court, the United States Supreme Court, the Interstate Commerce Commission or to any other tribunal where further delay is to be had. Into the future stretches an unbroken vista of appeals and hearings and decisions, more appeals, more hearings, more decisions in an endless, vicious circle—the while Los Angeles chokes and cramps in increasing transportation congestion due to antiquated and outgrown passenger stations and inadequate shipping facilities.

Out of the whole complicated tangle two main facts stand. One is that a majority of the people want a union station in the Plaza district and that the State and Federal officials in charge of railroad regulation agree on expert evidence that a union station should be built there. The other is that the railroads do not propose to build a union station in the Plaza area or anywhere else and that they have been, so far, able in effect to defy the public, the State and Federal authorities and everyone else to make them do it.

How long will the State and Federal authorities, in whom is vested control of the railroads, remain content to have their mandates flouted and ignored?

SOVETISM THREATENED

The summer calm prevailing over the Old World has something of the aspect of that preceding a storm. Conditions in Russia are such that many think a new revolution may break out at any time to overthrow the soviets and to establish some form of really democratic government. Such a revolution has been prophesied many times, but the occasion always passed and left the government seemingly more firmly intrenched than ever. Whatever the outcome this time it is certain that a critical period is approaching.

A three-handed contest is waging for the control of Russia. One is the counter-revolutionist movement, which is opposed to the entire scheme of government. This opposition is not new. It has been more or less active ever since the revolution of 1917. But now it is said to be better organized than ever. It is a secret, revolutionary movement, and its activities are of the subsurface order. Industrial Russia—as far as there is an industrial Russia—is honeycombed with bands of workmen attached to that organization. Its leaders are warily watching the serious dissension in the ranks of the soviets.

There are over 100,000,000 peasants in Russia. They were serfs a few score years ago; they are free now and have taken possession of the land which they regard as their own. They care little about theories of government, but they are not Communists in the ordinary meaning of the word. Though stolid and unprogressive, they form the real body of Russia and the future of that nation is in their hands.

The proper treatment of this huge mass of Russian population is the rock on which the soviet ship of state is breaking up. Stalin has been a power in soviet affairs for years. He is virtually dictator of Russia. He is himself of peasant extraction and favors such measures as will help them, such as the partial return to capitalistic customs, laws in regard to renting land and hiring laborers to work it, both of which regulations are contrary to strict Communistic principles. Stalin realizes that the future of Russia depends on building up a strong peasant government. Trotzky and his immediate supporters wish in every way possible to build up the urban proletariat and are in favor of putting extra burdens on the peasants.

Trotzk is a sort of stormy petrel in Russian politics. He was reported only a few weeks ago as being in disfavor with the Communist party and was to be disciplined. This internal dissension is increasing in bitterness and threatens to bring down in ruins the whole scheme of soviet government, when the counter-revolutionists hope to harvest the spoils.

THE FLYING BATTLESHIP

The descriptions of the new Curtiss war plane, the Condor, are meager, but enough is known to show that a new stage in aerial warfare has been reached. It is a true flying battleship, carrying a battery of machine guns and tons of high explosive bombs. Even those most interested in it probably do not realize its full significance. It emphasizes the warning of earnest aerial and naval experts that the next great war will be decided by aerial forces.

For some weeks representatives of our government with others have been in conference at Geneva to determine future cruiser construction. Their decisions will be confined to surface construction, but unless the experts are mistaken the importance of such vessels, whether battleships or cruisers, is declining. It cannot be otherwise when a single air carrier can take a number of aerial battleships on its deck, releasing them at will for effective work against the distant object of their attack, whether city, fort or enemy fleet.

Such great steps in evolution seldom move as rapidly as expected, but they cannot be indefinitely delayed, for they obey the inexorable law of the survival of the fittest, as applicable in naval affairs as in the field of commerce. Whatever may be the positive result reached, or failure recorded at Geneva, the result will not be decisive as to the future of offensive warfare.

LEGITIMATE LOOT

By James J. Montague

When Franklin wrote his almanac
He searched for jest and quip and crack,

Philosophers and bards had said
Since volumes first were penned and read.

He pored through every ancient tome
That came from Egypt, Greece and Rome.

And very often took a chance
On cribbing stuff from modern France.

He even borrowed snappy dope
From Steele and Addison and Pope—

But people in the mill and mart
Cried "Gosh! But old Doc Franklin's smart!!"

They took his volumes from their shelves
And learned his stuff by heart themselves;

And very shortly, be it known,
They sprang it as their very own,

Rejoicing in their native wit
And thinking they invented it.

Which probably was true enough

A MULE AND A MAN

BY E. L. S.

It is a trite quotation: "The poor ye have always with you," and it does seem that, with the many opportunities we have for showing our sympathy for the unfortunate, we might learn something of how it feels to be poor and to drudge for a living.

I am thinking just now of the old colored man who faithfully brought to my home twice a week his little load of vegetables raised by his own efforts. It seemed some times as if his stiffs limbs would hardly permit him to clamber out of his wagon and stumble up the steps to my door, yet because he came regularly I always bought something, whether I needed it or not, to reward him in a small way for the effort that he made to serve me.

He earned the nickel or the dime that he received. He had been for several years plodding around the neighborhood in his wabbling cart drawn by an old horse, when a kind neighbor gave him a good, strong delivery wagon that had been used but little. How proud he was of that wagon when he appeared at my home in it and told me from whom he had received it.

The mule was a large, raw-boned animal, but apparently strong enough for the work required of him. He probably never would have fattened had he stood before a manger filled with good feed and done nothing else but eat throughout the days.

In addition to his vegetable marketing our vender collected "junk," for which he received a few dimes when he made an occasional trip with it to Los Angeles.

A short time ago he decided that he had "junk" enough for a load and started to the city. On arriving there some one who saw him on the road telephoned the humane officer of his whereabouts. The officer took the mule and had it killed. The driver was put in jail. I am told that his incarceration lasted about three days when he was transferred to the hospital and about three hours after the transfer his spirit took its flight from earth.

I have missed his calls and not until recently did I learn the reason for his absence.

Poor, earnest, honest, hard-working, old pilgrim!

This life held little of pleasure or comfort for you.

I have never heard that heaven is for the white man exclusively, and I hope that the "pearly gates" may swing wide for your admittance to the realm where "The wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest."

EDITOR'S YAST COME-BACK

Thirty-six years ago the writer originally took possession of the Tribune. "Originally" is used advisedly, for he has taken possession of it several times since.

In that long stretch of years he has sold the Tribune twice and leased it twice, going to other fields—St. Paul, Wausau, Menasha, Milwaukee and Minneapolis—to work on and run dailies and weeklies and operate job-printing plants. But fate or something like it has always shuttled him back to Glenwood City and he has now become so old and decrepit that he expects to stay here till he is called to a place considerably more populous and perhaps a little warmer than Glenwood City.

And when he goes to that place the long-suffering people of this community will be able to congratulate themselves on the certainty that he will never stage another come-back.

Ford's Apology

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The retraction of the accusations and suspicions by Henry Ford, couched in unmistakable terms, is one of the most outstanding documents in the history of modern antisemitism. Everything that Henry Ford does arouses the interest of the world and his former attitude toward the Jews, whom he accused of world conspiracy and of many other things, made of him the patron and the uncrowned leader of world antisemitism. Henry Ford, America's wealthiest man, the idol of millions and millions, through the columns of the Dearborn Independent and pamphlets translated in many languages, caused great harm to the Jewish people. The systematic propaganda of the Dearborn Independent did not result in America with pogroms, but it surely was an incentive for brutal and outrageous incidents in Europoean countries.

Now—Henry Ford withdraws all his libels against the Jews and publicly apologizes for his former attacks and offers a hand of friendship and good-will to those whom he intentionally or unintentionally damaged. This great step of Henry Ford was one of the finest accomplishments in his life. He conquered himself. He became just not only to a much-abused people, but to himself and, above all, to American ideals and principles, which are to be freed now and at all times from hatred and prejudice between man and man.

World Jewry accepts the apology unreservedly. We are a forgiving people irrespective of the circumstances and motives that brought about this apology. We believe in its sincerity and are happy to see that America's most practical man freed himself from the evil influences that caused so much unpleasantness and irritation. It will be a fine lesson to those who still indulge in discrimination between race and between man and man. The inexhaustible wealth of Henry Ford upon which the European race purifiers and hackenkreitzlers were looking as a source of their despicable propaganda will from now on be sealed to them and will deprive them of the most splendid name in the galaxy of modern antisemitism. This could only happen in America where the imported propaganda of antisemitism cannot strike deep roots, that a man of Henry Ford's caliber and power should make amends and ask for forgiveness. The future historian will probably consider this document as the close of antisemitism in this country and as a beginning of a new liberal era free from the imported and poisonous spirit of race prejudice of Jew and gentile, true and loyal to American ideals, give to this apology the proper estimation and welcome Henry Ford among the great Americans who proclaim justice and equality to all

Simplicity

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wonder if the editor of the Examiner thinks that its readers are so addlepated not to see the motive in publishing those antediluvian articles about the officials of the Anti-Saloon League? A 6-year-old child could see that the whole thing is nothing but a forerunner for agitating Jim Reed's candidacy for the nomination in 1928.

GARDENA, July 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Give it to 'em, Gertrude, doggone 'em; taint been so long ago the editor was makin', or tryin' to make, some wise cracks 'bout folks usin' the word "ain't." I knew all the time he wasn't so all-fired smart 'n I guess you done found it out, too. For in today's (July 14) you told him a plenty, it wasn't harsh enuf. Ye see with fellers like him you gotta come out flat-footed, for if ye don't he won't understand? You used some awful big words such as conscientious, characteristic and illiterate. Now such words as these ain't never used by editors. There ain't one in 100 that knows the meanin' of 'em, much less spell 'em, 'n if ye ever see 'em used you can betcher boots some stenographer was the cause of it. Looks like a earthquake hit something more'n a hotel. If you'll keep a eye on the editorials you'll find a heap of expressions a Philadelphia lawyer couldn't figure out. Just now 'n then you will run across one that'll show a little human intelligence. Errors of speech is what most editors are noted for, that 'n critisisin' folks like me who use proper language. If ye need any help, Gertrude, I'm at your service any old time.

Saluki Gazelle Hounds

HOLLYWOOD, July 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I would like to thank you for the excellent photograph of my new hounds which appeared in your issue of today. But there is one slight error in the letter press which may give a wrong impression. It is stated that they never bark. Let some suspicious stranger come 'round, especially at night, and he will see! The truth is that—unlike some human beings—Salukis have sense enough to know when to make themselves heard and when to be silent. They are most excellent watch dogs.

...did it for one he would be more or less obliged to do it for all, and this would require a twenty-four-hour schedule adequately to give attention to the messages without even considering music and radio recitals.

The field of sorrow is an old, old story. It has become commonplace, due to the constant daily repetition of tragedy and pathos. Experience teaches the radio announcer that he must keep spoken announcements to the minimum and broadcast such lost person notices and similar data only when received from the city or county peace forces.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

The opening hour of the musical broadcast from KHJ last night brought to the radio audience the Los Angeles Service Orchestra, and the Los Angeles Service Quartet, both under direction of J. T. Boudreau.

Besides the orchestra presentation in marches, waltzes and fox trots, the program included quartet numbers and a xylophone solo by Mr. Boudreau.

After the time signals at 9 p.m. Ira D. Morgan, lyric baritone, who first sang at KGW four year ago, and later from KPO, KGO and KFRC, in the San Francisco Bay district, was heard in his first program over KHJ.

His widely appealing voice, with sympathetic tonal quality, was filtered to the ether waves in a song recital, including the Lohr "Rose of My Heart," "Gray Days," by Johnson; MacDowell's ever favorite, "To a Wild Rose," and others of similar type in composition.

GASOLINE STORIES

The children's hour opened the evening broadcast with Marguerite Bringham, "nightingale," in popular songs; Lois Jane Campbell, "Brown Eyes," with recitations; Betty Jane Uhl, youthful pianist, in solo numbers; George Kerr, mandolin player; Baby Jeannette James, reader; the harmonica band from the city playground department with its weekly repertoir, which included a solo number on the harmonica by Joe Antista, and a whistling selection by Augustin Demma; and George Cook, saxophone pupil of Louis D'Ippolito, of the Thompson Progressive School of Music.

DETAILS OF COMA CASE RECOUNTED

Fourteen women chiropractors of Los Angeles yesterday heard the story of Dr. William J. Peacock, chiropractor, of the condition in which he found Mrs. Clara J. Drummond, "sleeping beauty," when he took the case, of his treatment of her and her present condition at a private residence where she is being cared for. He spoke to the chiropractors at a meeting at the Women's Athletic Club arranged by Dr. Mae Parsons.

He told his audience he has never entertained a doubt as to her recovery and that she is now able to swallow food and has periods of consciousness and sits up once a day from five to ten minutes. None of his listeners had seen the patient, it was said.

Dr. Peacock reiterated his charges that Mrs. Drummond, 31-year-old bride of Fresno, was improperly treated at the Fresno County Hospital and displayed photographs purporting to show the condition of her body just before she was removed to Los Angeles.

Dr. Parsons announced the meeting was called so that other chiropractors might hear a report on the case from Dr. Peacock. When he completed his story a round-table discussion followed in which Dr. Peacock answered questions asked by his audience.

Mrs. Drummond's condition was reported as greatly improved last night by Dr. Peacock. He said she now sits up occasionally, eats solid food, and that her eyes are bright and there is color in her cheeks. He said she has gained five pounds since she was brought here for treatment several months ago.

Dr. Peacock admitted, however, that she has not fully roused from the semiconscious state which she has been in for 109 days.

TEXTILE CLUB TO ELECT

An annual election of officers will be held by the Textile Club of Los Angeles tomorrow evening at the Brack-Shops Building, 527 West Seventh street, in the Windsor banquet rooms. After the election members will conduct an open forum. Homer Rhodes, 234 East Eleventh street, is secretary of the club.

ACTORS' EQUITY PLAN DROPPED

demand such a contract from the producers.

Thorough details of the contract were not discussed at any length, it was stated that it will provide for a maximum number of hours which an actor can be forced to work and also insure him proper rest periods from day to day.

A large number of actors spoke in favor of Actors' Equity and urged all others to join the organization. Among these were Wallace Beery, Adolphe Menjou, Sills, Nagel, Richard Dix and others.

TECHNICIANS OFFER STUDIO AID

Possibilities for a sweeping economy in motion-picture production from a technical standpoint through the coordination of efforts and exchange of ideas were pointed out by members of the technicians' branch of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in a meeting with the producers at the Biltmore last night.

Abolition of the old klieg arc lights and substitution of incandescent lighting and a greater use of supersensitized film were among the developments which technicians said may be worked out in the near future for the purpose of cutting production costs.

The meeting of the academy branch with the directors was described as the first real opportunity which the practical workers in films have had to exchange ideas with directors and to attack the problem of efficient production from their own standpoint.

ART DIRECTOR TALKS

Among those men included under the general heading of technicians are the art directors who design the sets, the set dressers, the research workers who gather material for correct detail, the technical-effect men who work out many of the ideas for "trick" photography, the cameramen, the electricians, the laboratory men and the studio engineers who work to secure general efficiency.

Results that may be accomplished by the technicians' branch of the academy were outlined in a statement by Wilfred Buckland, art director for the De Mille studios.

"Every studio has certain short cuts and economical methods of production," Mr. Buckland said. "Each has had some specialty in which they were particularly adept. Now for the first time we are all meeting together to exchange these ideas and suggestions for the benefit of the entire industry. The academy has made it possible for us to get together in this manner for the purpose of co-operation and has given the technicians their first opportunity to discuss their problems with the producers, directors, actors and writers for the mutual benefit of all.

"Production costs in the technical end have got to come down. We have been throwing money away. We are on the eve of the introduction of great economies by the use of cheaper and more satisfactory methods to gain the same results."

Commenting on the contribution of the technicians, Samuel Goldwyn producer said:

"The technicians' conference has been one of the most valuable and productive of the series. So much depends in both time and money on the ability of the cameramen, on the speed and effectiveness of lighting arrangements on the short cuts which can be gained by specialized photography."

During the next few days the producers will hold a series of conferences among themselves, Mr. Goldwyn said, at which the ideas and suggestions brought out during the series of conferences with all branches of the academy and recorded in detail, will be carefully gone over and discussed.

OTHER CONFERENCES

Three more conferences in the present series are still to be held, one with the directors' branch on Friday, with the writers' branch on Monday and with the technicians' branch again next Tuesday.

At the conclusion of the conferences, Mr. Goldwyn said, a mass meeting of the entire academy with all its members, numbering some 400 altogether, will be held for the purpose of going over the results which have been brought out and for developing a plan of campaign for the future to iron out the problems of the industry.

Assistant Who Saw Emerson Shooting Sought

Another episode of the shooting of George Emerson, animal trainer at Universal City, will be written next month when his hearing on his application for compensation under the State law will open.

His wife, Mrs. Mabel Emerson, announced yesterday she is seeking Fred Smith, who was Emerson's assistant, and wants him to communicate with her attorney, Fred Luth, in the Title Insurance Building. She said Smith was a witness to the shooting and his testimony is needed at the hearing in behalf of her husband, which is set for August 30. Smith moved from his home in Lankershim, she said, failing to leave a forwarding address.

Wonderly recently pleaded guilty in Superior Court and is now awaiting a decision on his application for probation. Emerson, who was shot in the chest, still is a patient at the General Hospital, fighting for his life against complications which set in after the shooting. He has undergone three serious operations. The shooting is said to have climaxed a feud between the two men.

MORE AMERICANS GOING ABROAD

Records of Passport Bureau Disclose Increase in Foreign Travel

An appreciable increase in the number of Americans going abroad this year was indicated by a report of the local foreign passport bureau made public yesterday. For the first six months of 1927, 3174 citizens applied for and received paper permitting them to visit foreign countries, whereas only 2920 sought that privilege during the similar period last year.

Officials at the bureau predicted yesterday that the gross total of passports to be issued in 1927 will exceed 6000, breaking all existing records.

Traffic Club to Hear Woman From Minnesota

Mrs. Mynoma De Groff of Minneapolis, president of the Twin Cities Traffic Club, will be the guest of the Los Angeles Women's Traffic Club this evening at a meeting in the Builders' Exchange.

MRS. MYNOMA DE GROFF

The visiting official, who is traffic manager for Reinhard Brothers in her home city, will deliver an address on the activities of her organization, and the forthcoming meeting of the Associated Traffic Clubs of America, to which she is a delegate.

Miss Tress McMahon, traffic manager of the California Rock Salt Company, will give a talk on the salt industry. This is a continuation of reviews given by members of the organization concerning their respective lines of work.

GERTRUDE B. SEARS

Senator Harry A. Chamberlain will be another speaker, his subject being "State legislation."

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Business men in Europe, particularly in Italy, are more optimistic today than they have been since the World War, according to Hugo Aleidis, president and general manager of the Victor Hugo restaurant, who has just returned to his desk from a three months' tour in Europe.

"Appreciation of American business methods," said Mr. Aleidis, "was expressed on all sides, and commerce is being conducted along more progressive lines in the European countries today than ever before, undoubtedly due to American influence.

"In all of the countries where we visited we found a friendlier feeling for America, and Lindbergh's feat has undoubtedly enhanced the enthusiasm that Europe is beginning to show for American aviation. Everywhere the keenest interest was manifested in California and particularly Los Angeles."

Shirley Dorman, motion-picture actress, will be the guest of honor at Brandstatter's Hollywood Montmartre Cafe this evening, when motion-picture night is celebrated.

The second of the new series of prize dances in which the winning couple will be awarded a hand-blocked Russian shawl of cashmere will be held. The prize for the grand finals will consist of a beautiful La Paiva shawl. Miss Dorman will judge the dancing contest and award the prize to the winning couple.

A noteworthy vaudeville program is now being arranged which will include a number of high-class singing and dancing acts. Lou Erickson has arranged a special musical program for the evening and will also officiate as master of ceremonies.

Canoeing and luncheon parties are liberally patronizing the Pavilion at Westlake Park during the present warm weather. Since the 4th inst. canoeing parties have been held by the Epworth Leagues of the Hollister Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church of Pasadena and the Sunnyside Methodist Episcopal Church, also by the Thirty-one Club of the Hollenbeck Heights Community Center.

A business luncheon was held in the dining room recently by the Proximo Club, at which Judge Hubbard was the principal speaker. In the evening fifty members of Robers's Golden State Band had dinner at the Pavilion and afterward were entertained by the management at the Westlake Theater.

Announcement has recently been made by the management of the Moulin Rouge, 1207 West Sixth street, that patrons of that cafe need have no fear of finding suitable parking space. Arrangements have just been completed whereby a garage adjoining the cafe will now be available for guests of the cafe, free of charge.

Splendid music and entertainment combined with the novel effect of a real mill stream running through one-half the length of the cafe, have made the Moulin Rouge exceedingly popular with after-theater crowds.

HUSBAND ASKS POLICE TO FIND MISSING WIFE

Mrs. Lettie Reed, 20 years of age, 2319½ West Fifty-fourth street, was reported yesterday by her husband, William Reed, as missing and a police search for her was asked. Reed said his wife on Sunday went to the home of her mother at 1332 South Georgia street and about 7 p.m. went out to make a purchase at a corner store. She did not return and is not known to have been seen since. He knows no reason to account for her disappearance, he said, and believes she has met foul play. When last seen Mrs. Reed wore a blue sweater and a gray skirt.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Outstanding among the recent social events at the Brentwood Country Club, was a dinner party and dance with which Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Honey entertained Saturday evening for their attractive young daughter, Miss Maurine Honey, in honor of the Annapolis men whose training ships the U.S.S. Oklahoma and U.S.S. Nevada have been in port this past week on their annual cruise to Pacific waters.

The table was most attractively decorated with summer flowers, the Naval Academy colors predominating, and with the dainty summer frocks of the young girls and naval uniforms of the men made a most colorful and charming picture.

Miss Honey who passed this last winter as a student at the Holton Arts School in Washington, D. C., has recently returned to her attractive home in Kings Road, Hollywood to take up the various social activities of the vacation time.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Willard White of Tucson, Ariz., announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Irma Lee Davis, to James A. Connelly of San Francisco. The wedding will take place August 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Putnam Hubbard, 1920 West View street, Los Angeles where Miss Davis has been a guest for the past few months.

For Visitor

One of the lovely affairs of the coming Sunday afternoon will be the tea with which Mrs. E. Frances Walker of 2006 Ivar street, Hollywood is entertaining in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Grady of Berkeley who are passing the summer vacation in Hermosa Beach. Mrs. Grady who formerly was Miss Lucretia Del Valle, daughter of former Senator R. F. Del Valle, has a host of friends in the Southland who will be glad to see and visit with her before she and her husband leave for their northern home.

The hours are from 5 to 8 o'clock and among the guests will be Charles Wakefield Cadman and his mother, Mrs. Cadman, Olive Grey, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pennington Newport, Charles Lummis, Mrs. Kenneth Wallace, Charles Miller, Antony Anderson, Benjamin Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Howell Brown, Mr. and Mrs. John Steven McGroarty, Miss Mary Drew, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Dockweiler, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Towne, Mrs. Jessie Scott, Miss Ruth Scott, Mrs. Katherine Carpenter, Momte Dumont, Miss Dorothy Hausbro, Frances Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg, Miss Marian Rutledge and many others.

Entertains for Daughters

Mrs. William B. Mathews of Wellington Road is entertaining Friday afternoon in honor of her daughters, Mrs. Le Roy C. Abbott (Margaret Mathews) of St. Louis and Miss Caroline Mathews who has been attending college in the East but is home for the summer vacation.

Wedding Announced

Stealing a march of her many friends who anticipated attending her wedding a few weeks later, Mrs. Harriet Cohn was married to Harry Robinson of Los Angeles. The ceremony took place in the presence of the immediate family only, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Esther Press, 1237 North La Brea avenue, Hollywood. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are motoring for two weeks on their honeymoon and after their return will make their home at 1237 North La Brea avenue.

Entertains Midshipmen

Miss Oril Wing of Virgil avenue has been entertaining her nephew, Midshipman Davis Wing Olney of Ludington, Mich., and his roommate, Midshipman Thomas Hurd of Washington, D. C. Both young men will enter their second year at the Naval Academy at Annapolis this fall, and are now on their summer cruise aboard the U.S.S. Nevada. Several informal affairs were given in their honor during their four days' sojourn here.

To Honolulu

For Bride-Elect

The Misses Marian Pierce, Mabelle Crawford and Lucille Amos entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of the former, 8368 Marmont Lane, Hollywood, with a delightful tea and shower, Miss Betty Jacobs, one of the brides-elect of the late summer, being special guest of honor. Pale pink, green and white formed the motif of decorations, a white wedding bell tied with pink satin ribbons centering the tea table. Twenty guests were bidden.

For Summer Students

Representatives from twenty-five foreign countries will mingle and get acquainted at the international dinner to be held for summer session students at the University of Southern California Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock on the lawn of the university Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Ella McMath, foreign student adviser, will act as hostess, and arrangements for the informal affair are in charge of Albert Quon, chairman of the world friendship department at Southern California.

Summer-session students from England, Ireland, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Canada, Switzerland, Hungary, Italy, Czecho-Slovakia, Mexico, Nicaragua, Chile, Peru, China, Japan, Korea, Philippine Islands, Russia, France and Spain will exchange greetings and become acquainted at the dinner.

For 1 Week

Do this if gaining schoolgirl complexion is your wish

By NORMA SHEARER

THIS is a very simple rule in skin care. Yet credited with more beautiful complexions than any other known. Youth is thus preserved, the charm of natural loveliness cultivated.

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin. Rinse with warm water; then with cold. That is nature's rule for keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

Largely on expert advice, millions use Palmolive Soap as above. And touch their faces with no other. For it's a true complexion soap, made of cosmetic oils; for one purpose only—to protect and beautify the skin.

Use that way regularly—particularly before bed. Note how much better your skin in even one week. Use powder and make-up all you like. Never leave them on over night.

Be sure you get GENUINE Palmolive. Costs but 10c a cake. Use no other on your face. Crude imitations, represented to be of olive and palm oils, are not the same as Palmolive. Remember that. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, U.S.A.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Cut Them Down

If baby's stockings are worn out around the knee from much pinning, cut them off at sock length and crochet a narrow edge around the tops in pastel shades.

The Baby Visitor

If you have no convenient bed for the young baby visitor, put a flat pillow in your deepest bureau drawer and let the little one sleep on this improvised bed. It may be placed on two chairs right by mother's bed, if desired.

For Pink Materials

When washing pink cotton goods, the color may be made fast by using "red" instead of the customary "bluing." This can be made by boiling a piece of Turkey red material in water, bottling and using like ordinary bluing, being careful to test the shade.

They Will Grow

When the little girl's petticoat grows too short and there are no tucks to let down, open the seams at the shoulders and insert pieces of muslin or elastic.

BRIDE'S HOME TO BE IN EAST

Her Husband Stationed in Minneapolis

Mrs. Ellsworth Dudley McEathron

LIEUT. AND MRS. ELLSWORTH DUDLEY McEATHRON, whose wedding was an event of June 22, will make their home for a year in Minneapolis, where Lieut. McEathron is in charge of the naval recruiting station with another year's detail. Mrs. McEathron formerly was Miss Gwendolyn St. George Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. B. Jones of Hawthorne avenue, Hollywood, and the ceremony was performed in All Saints' Church, Beverly Hills, with Rev. Arthur J. Evans officiating. Miss June Melville Jones was her sister's only attendant, while Lieut. McEathron was served by Henry Baird Plummer as best man. A wedding breakfast for the members of the two families and bridal party followed at the home of the bride's parents, after which Lieut. and Mrs. McEathron left for a fortnight's honeymoon motoring through California before leaving for their home in the Northwest.

ORANGE AND PEACH JAM

Peel, seed and remove the white part from twelve oranges, place in an earthenware bowl, nearly cover with boiling water and let stand overnight. Wash five pounds of firm ripe peaches, place in an earthenware bowl, nearly cover with boiling water and let stand overnight. Place oranges in a preserving kettle with the liquor, peel and seed the peaches, add to the oranges with the water they were soaked in. Bring slowly to a boil and simmer thirty minutes. Measure an equal quantity of sugar and boil until thick, stirring often. Pour into hot, clean glasses and seal.

LAMB HASH

Place in a double boiler half a cupful of tarragon vinegar, half a cupful of currant jelly and one cupful of tomato catsup; heat, add three cupfuls of cooked lamb cut into small dice, season with salt and paprika and cook twenty minutes. Pour over squares of buttered toast and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

VEAL KIDNEY ROAST

Have the butcher leave the kidneys in a loin of veal, roll, tie, season with pepper and salt and place in a baking pan covered with one sliced onion, one sliced carrot, one bay leaf, two whole cloves and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Place in a hot oven for ten minutes and reduce heat to moderate oven and finish baking, baste often. When done remove the meat to a hot platter, add half a cupful of boiling water to the pan, simmer five minutes and strain over the roast.

RUSSIAN DRESSING

Mix half a cupful of mayonnaise with four tablespoonfuls of chili sauce, one tablespoonful of chopped celery, one tablespoonful of chopped pimento, a tablespoonful of chopped green pepper and if liked, two tablespoonfuls of caviar.

PEACH COBBLER

Fill a shallow baking pan with sliced peaches, sprinkle with sugar, dot with bits of butter, cover with a short biscuit dough, cut two gashes in the crust and bake in a moderate oven. Serve with peach custard sauce.

NEWEST HAND BAGS SQUARE IN FORM

PARIS, (AP)—The day of the large hand bag, except for motoring, racing and country use, is past. In the city the smart Parisian carries a modest bag, which in its newest version is square.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

While the baby is contented, happy and gains as he should, appearance of the stools is of comparatively small consequence, when everything is not going and something needs correction examination of the stools by the doctor will be invaluable. Then some characteristic stools and what may be told by them.

The Normal Baby

The normal, breast-milk stool is yellow or orange in color, relatively unformed and of acid odor. He may have from four to six stools a day normally. As soon as cow's milk is added to his diet the stools will tend to be less acid, of an offensive odor, and darker in color. If part of his formula is made of sugar or cane syrup the stools will be still darker because of the sugar contents. When malt soup is added in the formula the color may be very dark brown. Other foods which add brown color to the stools are cereal waters; meat, and some of the vegetables which contain iron.

The Sick Child

There is no special significance in a stool which is slightly green when passed, or turns green after standing, when the baby is well. Such chemical changes indicate no disorder and sometimes no necessity for dietary changes. It is the frothy, green, watery stool which accompanies indigestion and illness which requires attention. When the diet contains a large proportion of protein the stool may be of a grayish color which turns to dark green after standing.

Lack of Sugar in the Formula

When the infant is fed a formula which contains a large quantity of milk and not enough sugar the stools will be very light, almost a putty color. Sufficient sugar in the formula will correct this condition.

Lack of Water in the Formula

Pink stools always worry the mother. Sometimes the urine leaves a rusty stain on the diaper, or the stools turn pink when exposed to the urine, or leave a pink stain on the napkin. This may be caused by the action of washing powder with which the napkin is washed not being perfectly rinsed, upon the urine in the stool. It may be due to giving the infant too little water to drink. The formula may be undiluted or insufficiently diluted and he may need drink water. Almost always the drinking water in the diet will care given the napkins will prevent this trouble. If it does not the doctor should be consulted.

The Underfed Baby

Starvation stools are present when the child is being underfed. These are usually of a greenish-brown color, contain much mucus and are of a fecal matter and have a "mousy" odor. The child may have numerous small stools a day which merely stain the napkin. These stools may be present in a child who is getting enough to eat but is losing much of it by vomiting, or one who has had a severe attack of diarrhea, or one whose formula is unsuited to his needs and weight, or who is fed on cow's milk from a failing breast supply.

Any mother who suspects that her child is being improperly fed should have the leaflet on "Feeding the Child from Six Weeks to Six Years" by self-addressed, stamped envelope sent to Mrs. Eldred, care of this paper, with a request for it, will bring it to you.

PARADE of FASHION
HERE AND ABROAD

LUCIEN LELONG SAYS SKIRTS ARE LONGER

PARIS, (AP)—Not content with having for fall, Lucien Lelong has lengthened the dresses of all his models summer and autumn, to a point about two inches below the knee. Few of the evening dresses at the house have draperies which trail to the ankles.

Lelong's ideas of skirt length are not shared, however, by the other makers as a whole. As Worth's models are still hovering about the floor. Only evening dresses at most houses making salons are as long as Lelong's models.

LONG GLOVE STYLE HAS LITTLE FAVOR

PARIS, (AP)—Although the long glove style is slowly gathering momentum, its advocates are still few. fashionable matrons.

The young girls who have never bared their style in the ballroom are followed by long gloves show no sign of including them in their scheme of dress.

The glove makers are steadily pushing the fashion.

FLOWERS ON HATS AGAIN IN STYLE

PARIS, (AP)—Flower-trimmed hats have passed the period of prejudice and are now accepted as a part of the season's style. The flower appear, for the most part, on felt hats, the big straws being untrimmed generally, or merely finished with a band of ribbon.

One flower on small felt hats is the usual rule. The toques worn with small flowers seen earlier in the season have dropped out of favor. Feather ornamented toques, however, have an increasing vogue.

MOONSTONES USED FOR NEW JEWELRY

PARIS, (AP)—Necklaces and earrings of moonstones are among the new jewelry, while pearls seem to be losing out of favor. The success with which the best imitations are now imitated may account for their waning in popularity.

Even moonstones are radiated now, however. The newest versions are in pale tints, gray being particularly popular at Jenny's.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
of The Times staff to Health

Any question in health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy, who can be reached by mail, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose large stamped self-addressed envelope for reply.

QUESTIONS OF VACATIONS

As many readers began planning for their summer's vacation almost as soon as the last merry vacation was over, and as during the year people look through their day's work almost how tired they are and how much they need a vacation. The danger point of vacation is that they become so tired and exhausted during the time they really need a long vacation to make up for it.

It is possible for one to change the routine of work and play so that questions are so balanced that one is never harmed by vacation, and never actually needs periods of rest. Anyone who needs rest from work, when a little self-investigation will probably find he has probably been overworking and overplaying.

Every day, week and month of the year it seems to me, the only safe rule is that of getting away from customary surroundings through new environment and the excitement of travel, be in the mountains or by the sea, get new viewpoints, meet new people, change the mental and social change is the best, and of course, the physical effect upon the body.

Nobody is daily confined to the office or work should take his vacation in the woods or mountains, take a camping trip, while the office worker should go to the open, and live. During such a vacation it is necessary to be practical in the matter of meals and the selection of foods. Long hikes should be taken, and the latter should try to get away from companions and be by himself as much as possible.

One who works at manual labor will likewise find he can get a great deal of good from the same kind of vacation. Either the man who works with his brain or the one who works with his hands will find that the essential thing to do is to rest the mind from any burdensome thoughts and exercise the physical body to the utmost. The secret is in getting back to nature and being recreated for a time by the wholesome satisfaction of feeling like a primitive man.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: W. R. D. writes: What foods are the cause of diabetes?

Answer: There are no particular foods which in themselves cause diabetes, which is a disorder of metabolism. In curing diabetes it is advisable to eliminate starches and sugars for some time, but this is also true in the treatment in most disorders. The sugar appearing in the urine is glycogen from the tissues and does not come directly from the sugar you eat.

Q.: Mrs. Smith writes: I have been reading your health and diet advice and am very much interested. Will you please tell me why the upper lip is swollen in the morning?

A.: Have your teeth examined. Perhaps you are suffering from pyorrhea or have some abscessed teeth which are poisoning your lip during the night.

Q.: Mrs. Hal K. writes: Will you suggest the proper diet for a child 9½ years of age? He does not seem to be ill, but has rough red spots on his cheeks at times, and is unusually cross and irritable after waking from his afternoon nap.

A.: Try giving him four feedings of milk a day, using eight or ten ounces of milk at each feeding. At the second, third and fourth feedings give him a good-sized dish of minced spinach, carrots, string beans, summer squash or celery. It is a good plan to use also one of the vegetables raw along with the cooked one.

WAR BLOW TO CHINA'S BUSINESS

Thousands Out of Work as Foreign Companies Close Up Plants

After ten years' residence in China, Albert C. Row arrived at the home of his parents, 1628 West Twenty-third street, yesterday, accompanied by his wife. Though he has been a resident of Tien-tsin, he has been engaged in advertising and marketing commodities to Chinese consumers, which has taken him to all parts of the empire, and is conversant with economic conditions. He says that, owing to the state of turmoil existing, many foreign business concerns have found it necessary to close their plants, resulting in many thousands of Chinese being thrown out of employment.

"It will be from three to five years before there can be a redevelopment of retail trade sufficient to interest American manufacturers and enable them to recoup their losses," he said.

"It is the practically unanimous opinion of foreigners and all well-informed Chinese that the conservative Nationalist party will eventually be in entire control, and will re-establish the republic, but no one is willing to venture a guess as to when this will transpire.

"The foreign business element is apprehensive of the soviet influence, which so far has been the spirit behind the movement, and until it is shaken off there is absolutely no hope for a restoration of peace. Inasmuch as the platform of Chang Tso-Lin is to drive the Reds from China, he is favored by foreign business as the only possible leader who can restore business to anything like satisfactory conditions, but there are so many political angles to the strife that no one can tell what will happen next."

Bond Salesmen Ordered From Crail's Court

Loud wailing arose yesterday from the surety bond salesmen who ply their trade in the courthouse, on announcement of an order from Judge Crail that hereafter they will not be permitted to enter his courtroom in search of customers.

Inasmuch as Judge Crail presides over one of the two probate departments and the big bulk of civil surety bonds are those written to guarantee the honesty of administrators, executors and guardians, the bond salesmen were vociferous in lamentations. Judge Crail was adamant.

"Our Superior Courts should not be a place of money changers," he declared in a statement of explanation. "It is unseemly also in the presence of the American flag which we keep unfurled at all times in this court; and I have stopped it."

DANCING TECHNIQUE TO BE SHOWN IN FILM

Two reels of motion pictures illustrating the technique of interpretive dancing and a reel made up of a group of solo dances will be shown this afternoon at 4 o'clock in 206 Moose Hall of the University of Southern California under the direction of Miss Genevieve Kelso, head of the Department of Physical Education at Jefferson High School and visiting dancing instructor during the university summer session. Miss Eugenia Pepe, of whom the motion pictures were made, will appear in person and will present a number of solo dances in Bovard Auditorium immediately following the showing of the film.

RIVER GAUGING DISCONTINUED

Edison Company Abandons Colorado Plant

Turns Attention to Steam Power Plants

Regarded More Economical Than Hydroelectric

Gauging of the Colorado River by the Southern California Edison Company has been discontinued for the past several weeks and the $6000 gauging station established some years ago by the company at Lee's Ferry, Ariz., has been turned over to national and Arizona State officials. This fact, discovered by motorists touring the region, was confirmed yesterday by Edison Company officials.

It could not be ascertained if this action by the company, which six years ago appeared to be prepared alone to bear the cost of the construction of a dam and power plants on the river, meant the loss of interest in the project. It was stated that the company had accumulated sufficient data on the flow of the river.

The station at Lee's Ferry, which is near Glenn Canyon, a proposed dam site, is of particular importance inasmuch as the ferry is approximately the division point between the upper basin and the lower basin States.

STEAM ECONOMICAL

In connection with the withdrawal of the company gaugers it is known generally that electrical engineers have made extraordinary progress in the development of power in steam plants, such as the huge units of the Edison Company at Long Beach and the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation plant at Seal Beach.

"Out in California transmitted hydroelectric energy generated in the high Sierras is no longer so cheap as steam-generated energy in Los Angeles, owing to improved economy of modern superpower steam stations," writes W. H. Onken, Jr., editor of The Electrical World, in the May 14 issue of that publication. This was a reprint of an address made by Mr. Onken before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at Washington on May 2.

"There are very definite limits," the article continued, "to the ability of water power to compete with steam power in the present state of the art, notwithstanding that our huge water-power systems have almost reached the acme of perfection so far as efficiency is concerned, while superpower steam stations have not yet approached that point."

BEACHES IDEAL SITES

Mr. Onken stated that remarkable economies in power costs in fuel-burning stations have brought such savings that some water-power properties cannot be developed on an economic basis. The advantage of erecting a steam station in proximity to the market, and in adding units as the demand grows, the article stated, results in great economies over the water-power project, which must be erected at the power site, with a resultant loss in transmission and added expenses of transportation.

The operation of steam plants necessitates a tremendous amount of cool water for the condensers. The beaches about Los Angeles, it is declared, are ideal for the production a steam-generated electricity, as evidenced by the success of the two plants already referred to, and the frantic efforts of the municipal Bureau of Power and Light to enter the field.

The fuel at present used here is oil. In the event of a shortage of oil this region can rely on the vast coal fields of Utah and the San Juan basin of Southwestern Colorado. This basin contains enough coal, according to the estimates of government engineers, to supply the needs of this country for 2000 years. The construction of the proposed railroad from Gallup to Farmington, N. M., would tap this basin, with the result that coal could be delivered in Los Angeles at the estimated cost of about $4.25 per ton.

COSTS BALANCED

Inasmuch as Los Angeles will be the most considerable market for energy produced at the proposed Boulder Canyon Dam plants, immense transmission lines must be built across the 300 miles of mountains and desert between this city and the dam. This cost has been estimated at $50,000,000. Engineers have figured that the interest and maintenance charges on the transmission lines would about balance the cost of the coal burned to produce a like amount of electricity.

Due to increased efficiency, the capital cost per horsepower in a steam station in large quantities and under such conditions as hold in Los Angeles is considered to be $70, while the estimated capital cost per horsepower for the Boulder Canyon Dam, provided the dam and plants can be built at the present figures, will be about $94, with the possibility of being vastly increased when it comes to actually completing the project.

GOLDSTEIN ARRAIGNED IN KILLING

Accused Man's Plea Will be Heard the 22nd Inst. by Order of Judge Hardy

Jacob Goldstein, president of the Rothschild Mortgage and Finance Company, yesterday was arraigned before Judge Hardy in Superior Court on a grand jury indictment charging him with the murder the 15th inst. of Frederick A. Stern, the concern's manager.

Goldstein was brought into court only for the arraignment and following the reading of the indictment by Court Clerk McClay, Judge Hardy set the 22nd inst., as the date for hearing the accused man's plea.

According to testimony taken at a Coroner's inquest, Stern was beaten over the head with a hammer and shot three times, one of the bullets entering his heart. The killing is said to have accrued in Goldstein's private office in the Hallman Bank Building.

Goldstein is said to have been found in the room with Stern's body shortly after other tenants of the building summoned the police. Officers who responded to the call said the condition of the room gave evidence of a violent struggle having taken place.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL SOUGHT

FOX CASTS IMPORTANT PLAYERS

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

They are the actress who will play the title role and Leopold, Archduke of Austria.

Margaret Mann is the fortunate actress who is to play Grandma Bernie. Miss Mann, it appears, is relatively unknown to fame, having played only bits and small parts on the screen. However, the director selected her after taking literally hundreds of screen tests of middle-aged and older women who have distinguished themselves on the screen. Miss Mann appeared to have a native genius for acting, we are told, and to be exactly the right type for the role. The part doubtless will raise her to heights in filmdom.

Archduke Leopold makes his debut on the screen in this picture. He turned out to be a most charming person, and declared smilingly yesterday that he found it necessary to go to work in order to earn money with which to return home, as his money had simply melted since he came to this country. There seems little doubt, however, that, with his personality and prestige, the film folks aren't going to let him get away. And probably as that he will earn more as a picture actor than he did as a duke.

Another touch of foreign flavor is personified by the presence of Carl van Haartman, former captain with the air service in the German army, who worked with Von Stroheim in "The Wedding March."

A highly important cast will appear in this picture, which is to be one of the biggest Fox specials of the year. James Hall has been borrowed from Paramount for a leading masculine role. Earle Fox is playing his first part under his new contract, under the terms of which he steps out of comedies and into character parts and heavies. His part will be that of a heavy in this film.

Francis X. Bushman, Jr., has another important role, and others in the cast are William Irving, Albert Gran, August Tollaire, George Meeker and Hughie Mack.

The story is by I. A. R. Wylie, with Philip Klein making the adaptation.

Director Ford journeyed to Germany a few months ago for the purpose of studying conditions and taking some shots for the picture. He spent several months abroad, visiting quaint German villages and living among the people whose customs will be portrayed in the film.

Patsy Ruth Miller Signs

It does look as though Universal never is going to let Patsy Ruth Miller go.

Yesterday she was engaged by Universal and William Craft to play the leading role opposite Glenn Tryon, the new Universal star, whose first picture under his new starring vehicle will be "The Flying Nut," the story of which was written by Harry Hoyt.

Craft recently made a picture for Universal, in which Patsy Ruth Miller also played the lead, and which turned out to be so good that it is shortly to play the Roxy Theater. At first called "Hot Heels," the film has been renamed, for no good reason we can see, "Painting the Town." It opens Friday at the Uptown.

Something New Under Kleig

Who says there is nothing new under the Kleig lights? Al Martin and Neely Edwards seem to have evolved a new and very bright idea.

Martin is a title writer and Edwards, as you all know, tolks, is a star of the stage and screen. They have thought up, out of their own heads, a new idea for a comic strip, which will be distributed to newspapers throughout the country. Their plan consists of combining motion picture still pictures and cartoons; and in case you don't know what the seemingly paradoxical term "motion-picture still picture" means I'll let you in on the fact that it is a photograph made of certain players and some certain scene in a movie, posed like a tableau for the photographer.

By special process, the heads of the principals are attached to cartoon drawings in actual photographic reproduction. Neely Edwards, in addition to drawing the cartoons, will enact the leading role in all the strips. Martin will write the titles and develop the plotlets, each strip will depict cinema life in Hollywood. Several leading film players and directors will appear in the cartoons.

Elizabeth Pickett Writes

From Elizabeth Pickett, that big girl of the wide-open spaces, who periodically sallies forth to take nature pictures for Fox Varieties, comes a letter postmarked Portland, Or., which tells something about the trials and vicissitudes of this sort of expedition.

"Making Fox Varieties in Washington and Oregon this June has been a combination between a deep sea dive and an Arctic expedition. Rain, rain and then snow, ice and more snow. However, Joe Valentine, who is shooting the stuff, says he is in his seventh heaven right now.

"We have gone up on dog teams, caterpillar tractors, aerial ore tramways and cog railroads, and we have come down on the 'skips' of mine shafts and the seats of our riding togs! Our biggest thrill was pounding through the Cascades at seventy miles an hour on a platform built in front of the electric engine of the crack Olympian Flyer.

"The worst going was breaking first trail this year through the drifts to the Skyline Ridge of Mt. Baker, the 10,750-foot ghost of the North that towers on the Canadian boundary watching the John Barleycorns and Walkers crossing the border. Our horses refused to carry us or themselves, so we shoved them up and over, onto a high, white land of dazzling ice and clouds and peak, the most beautiful place I've ever seen, and it has been my job to specialize in scenery. The thought that warmed Valentine and me the most, and heaven knows we needed it, was that this ridge and the mountain had never been "in the can" before.

"The weather may have been cold, but not our receptions. One of the tricks of making good scenics is to go where no Bell and Howell has ever gone before, where the spur track ends and the trail begins. Here the local chambers of commerce romp out to meet us, and present us with the town, the mountains, the local Ford and themselves thrown in as extras!

"At the head of the Old Oregon Trail I timidly asked if we could have a few covered wagons, oxen and pioneers. Of course we could. The original covered wagons were in the museum, the oxen in pasture and they themselves were the pioneers!

"We knocked that off, and they made equally easy work of my next one. How about a trained coyote for the 'menace' in a wolly lamb Variety? A trained coyote—well, they didn't happen to have a trained animal just then, but how about the real thing and a little wire? 'Plenty of wire!' remarked Valentine, when we saw the brute they brought in off the sage.

"We're coming home next week with three Varieties, and several scratches, but not on the negative.

"As Will Rogers would say—

"Yours for knowing your own State better,

"ELIZABETH PICKETT."

Sally Rand With Universal

Sally Rand has removed her make-up box and the good luck horseshoe from over her dressing-room door at Metropolitan studios, and has toted them over to Universal, where she is playing a girl of the Golden West in Hoot Gibson's company of hardy westerners.

Arthur Fournier Travels

Arthur Fournier of New York, who has been in Los Angeles completing the score to his Indian operetta, "The Squaw Girl," left yesterday for the Glacier National Park to be the guest of James Willard Schultz, the noted Indian writer.

Schultz, or Chief A-pi-kuni, as he is known in the Blackfeet tribe, has been greatly interested in this Indian operetta of Fournier's. This summer the Blackfeet are holding a number of unusual ceremonials, and Schultz telegraphed for Fournier to come at once to witness them and record their melodies. Through Schultz's Indian connections Fournier will be able to see Indian ensemble dances and hear Indian music in a way that does not often fall to the lot of the white man.

Fournier will return to Los Angeles in August and will leave for New York shortly thereafter for productions arrangements for "The Squaw Girl," now being completed.

Doraldina, Beauty Doctor

Doraldina's nimble feet have in no wise lost their cunning, as we can testify after having seen her dance at many a party. This energetic lady, who looks ten years younger than she did when we met her fifteen years ago, doesn't want to be stingy with her beauty secrets, evidently.

At any rate, the former famous wriggler of Hawaiian dances has started a beauty shop. She distinguishes it by the name of "salon," but one supposes one can still get an old-fashioned manicure there. The chief activities of the salon, we are informed on a handsome engraved card, will be confined to beautifying the skins of such ladies as submit themselves to the tender mercies of Mme. Doraldina.

City Employee Loses Life in Lake Arrowhead

While his fiancee looked on John Johansenn, Jr., electrician for the City of Los Angeles, residing at 617 Museum Drive, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Lake Arrowhead.

Evelyn Clark, employee of the Los Angeles Water and Power Bureau, Johansenn's fiancee, stated last night that the two had been for a boat ride on the lake and that upon landing Johansenn walked out into the cold water. He swam a few strokes, she said, and went under.

Rescuers who pulled the swimmer from the water took him to the Arrowhead Emergency Hospital, where a two-hour fight was made by attendants to save his life.

Miss Clark and Johansenn were spending their vacation at the lake with friends, according to the girl. His body will be sent to Los Angeles today.

MYERS RITES FRIDAY

Services for Temperance Worker Will Be At Forest Lawn

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Adeline Myers, 76 years of age and a prominent Women's Christian Temperance Union worker, will be conducted at 11 a.m. Friday from the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Besides being an active worker in the temperance organization Mrs. Myers was interested in church affairs. She was for many years a member of the Piqua (O.) Methodist Episcopal Church. Her son, J. Arthur Myers, has been musical director at the First Methodist Church of Los Angeles until recently.

Mrs. Myers also leaves her husband, William C. Myers, 425 West Dryden street, Glendale; a daughter, Mrs. J. A. Hammer of Glendale; and two other sons, Clark G. Myers of Chicago and Benjamin Myers of Cleveland. The Jewel City Undertaking Company, Glendale, is in charge of funeral services.

COVINA MAN MISSING ON LOS ANGELES TRIP

Police were asked last night to make a search for Elmer Juckett, 22 years of age, of Covina, said to be mysteriously missing since Sunday. On that day, according to a report to police, Juckett came to Los Angeles on business and was to have returned to Covina within a few hours. He has a wife and two children.

DISAPPEARANCE REPORTED

C. H. Furgeson, a roomer at 608 East Fifth street, said to be a city employee, was reported missing last night by his landlady, who said he disappeared Sunday with his daughter, 9 years of age. She described Ferguson as a man of excellent habits and good character and said she knew of no reason for his nonappearance.

PAVEMENT DESIRED

The Mar Vista Chamber of Commerce yesterday asked the City Council to pave Venice Boulevard from Overland to Walgrove avenues, the pavement to be seven inches in thickness.

EL DORADO OUTING SUNDAY

Former residents of El Dorado Springs, Mo., will meet at their annual picnic to be held in Bixby Park, Long Beach, Sunday noon.

Nearly Score of Suspects Questioned in Arcadia Officer by Three Youthful

After nearly a score of suspects had been questioned at the Sheriff's office and Southern California police their search last night for the three youthful Albert A. Matthias, police officer of Arcadia,

During a hectic day of searches and questioning, deputy sheriffs and police officers rounded up numerous suspects. Three were taken into custody today at Monrovia and witnesses of the shooting confronted them, only to find they were not the youths wanted. Four were held at Pomona, but after an investigation by Deputy Sheriff Blasdel they were released as not having been implicated in the slaying.

Matthias was shot as he approached a parked car in which were three young men. He and Leo Bertolina, who was making the rounds with the

ITALIAN EVENING FESTIVE

Huge Audience Applauds Conductor Cimini and the Oratorio Society

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Italy, famed land of opera and song, received recognition in a comparatively novel domain—that of orchestral music—last evening at the Hollywood Bowl. An enthusiastic audience, aggregating 14,000 persons, gave of their interest and applause to the composers of the Southern European land, as represented in a program, conducted by Pietro Cimini, and designed by its variety and festive spirit to appeal to taste of practically everybody.

Excerpts from Mascagni, Bolto and Rossini operas were contrasted with more strictly concert numbers by Maliplero, Mancinelli and Casella, two of these latter, at least, being rather distinctly modern. No Puccini nor Verdi was included, but virtually all of the best-known works of those composers belong to the stage. One might have spared Mascagni's Intermezzo from "L'Amico Fritz," however, which is a thin and conventional affair at best.

The concert was given special uniqueness through the appearance of the chorus of the Los Angeles Oratorio Society, which took part in the "Hymn to the Sun" from Mascagni's opera, "Iris," and the prologue from "Mephistopheles." Leslie Brigham was the soloist in the "Mephistopheles," undertaking the difficult task of singing an excerpt made famous by Feodor Chaliapin, but which does not contain any especially grateful music, and doing it very acceptably. His voice has resonance sufficient to carry very well in the outdoor amphitheater.

There was testimony of appreciation, both in the handclappings and bravos for this final selection—the most elaborate of the evening. John Smallman, director of the oratorio society, shared in the tribute, which was merited by the volume of the voices that came out very amply during this rendition. The effect was an improvement over the "Iris" chorus, where perhaps the singers did not fully overcome the handicap of not being able to sing out toward their listeners. With the stage arrangement at the Bowl the two sections of the chorus directly in front of the orchestra were forced to face each other, in order to be able to watch the conductor. Some of the volume was naturally lost because of this circumstance, but the general effect was more than commendable.

Malipiero's "Impressioni dal Vero" ("Impressions from Nature") suited charmingly the Bowl setting. This was the first performance of this suite there. It was previously given locally by the Philharmonic Orchestra. Three wild birds, the blackcap, the woodpecker and the owl, are depicted in his orchestral suite, but the mood goes deeper than a mere pictorial limning in their characteristics. The composer associates them with seasons in first two instances, and in the final one with night—all three, and particularly the last, being inherently poetical.

A very happy choice appeared to be the light Scherzo from the Suite "Scene Veneziani" ("Venetian Scenes") by Mancinelli. This number achieves a swift and very bright tempo, and seems strikingly spontaneous. It was all but encored.

Casella's Rhapsody "Italia" is known, and a composition of vigor and character, very deft use being made of Neopolitan songs, including the "Puniculi-Funicula." This is adapted with a very modern infection. Rossini's Overture "L'Italiana in Algeri," was an additional selection.

Throughout the concert Pietro Cimini proved musicianly ability and understanding, and at the same time a warmth in his interpretations that brought keen response from his auditors. He had a taxing duty in the choral numbers, because the aggregate of people on the stage under his baton was approximately 600.

Grainger Is Here to Plan Sales for Fox

James R. Grainger, general sales manager of Fox Film Corporation, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to personally negotiate the details for the sale of Fox pictures for the entire Pacific Coast.

It will require ten days or two weeks to complete this deal, which is regarded as one of the most important of the year in film circles.

Conferences will begin today between Harold D. Franklin, general manager of West Coast Theaters, and Mr. Grainger covering the sale of pictures in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and other points.

While here, Grainger will confer with Sol M. Wurtzel, general superintendent of Fox Studio, concerning new product for the coming year. It is announced that Fox studios are about to launch a dozen or more pictures at their Hollywood and Fox Hills studios.

Before leaving Los Angeles for the East, Grainger will complete details with Fred Miller of the Carthay Circle for the premiere of the Fox production "Loves of Carmen," which will be presented at that theater during the fall months.

Director Has New Slant on Cutting Class

A class of instruction in cutting negative film may be instituted at Universal following a suggestion made by Wesley Ruggles, contract director for that company.

It is Ruggles's belief that the director who makes the picture should supervise its cutting and editing. In a reported nation-wide query of drama critics, he ascertained that 90 per cent of the pictures released contain examples of poor editing and cutting.

Directors, assistant directors, cameramen, title writers and scenarists will be required to attend the class if it is started.

ENJOYS FREEDOM

Mirth and Beauty Hold Sway

Nadine Wayne

Will be seen with Will Morrissey, Midgie Miller, Roy Cummings, Hugh Herbert and many others in the fast-stepping musical revue, "Exposures," which makes its first bid for popularity tonight at the Music Box.

Legion Life Encompasses Joy, Sorrow

"Beau Geste," the picturization of Maj. Percival C. Wren's novel which opens its first Los Angeles popular-priced run at the Million Dollar Theater Friday, depicts two very different sides of life in the French Foreign Legion.

Romance and reality vie with each other for the spectator's approval, reports have it. The thrills of love, courage, self-sacrifice and wild adventure predominate, and the realities of death, disease, dirt, heat and utter weariness are apparent enough to show "le cafard" (desert madness) is common. It is only while suffering with "le cafard" that a Legionnaire will attempt the almost suicidal task of desertion.

A scene in "Beau Geste" shows two deserters dragged back to camp by searching parties. After clemency has been recommended, the sergeant, played by Noah Beery, drives them back into the desert with a whip, without a drop of water, instead of placing them before a firing squad.

Tomorrow will be the last day of "Chang" at the Million Dollar.

CONVENTIONS SEE FILM

Visitors to Southland Pay Respects to Grauman at Showplace

Hundreds of convention visitors here from afar will be entertained at parties this week at Grauman's Chinese Theater, established as one of the Southland's showplaces for sightseers.

More than 100 members of the Royal Arcanum, in session here, will attend Friday's matinee presentation of Sid Grauman's prologue and Cecil B. De Mille's "The King of Kings."

On Friday evening, more than 300 of the delegates to the National Astrological Association convention, holding sessions for a week at the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, will form a big party at the Chinese.

Visitors here for the Epworth League Pilgrimage, including members of the clergy from all the Southern States, will be entertained on Saturday evening.

Among other parties of convention visitors scheduled for the Chinese are the National Chiropractors' Association, August 7; the International News Service, August 22; the National Stationary Engineers, August 23, and the International Labor News Service, September 20.

SIEGMANN DEPARTS ON SHORT VACATION

Having earned a well-deserved vacation, George Siegmann was yesterday given a four weeks' respite by Universal and almost immediately departed on a motor tour which will take him to San Francisco.

The past year has been a hectic one for this "cruel" thespian, as, aside from being loaned to various organizations to appear in featured character roles, he has portrayed Simon Legree in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which Harry Pollard just recently completed directing.

Universal, it is understood, is scouring the story market for material for their contract player, as his work during the past year has elevated him to an outstanding position, it is claimed.

"PEACHES" BROWNING BOOKED BY PANTAGES

After many unsuccessful attempts of bookers, Alexander Pantages announces that he has secured another "name" for his circuit of vaudeville theaters.

"Peaches" Browning will make her first appearance on the Coast at the Pantages Theater in Los Angeles. The date of her appearance has been set for some time in August.

"Peaches" is doing some dance hits and original songs which have been written especially for her act.

LAST OUTPOST

"Big Parade" Will Open at Local Theater

"The Big Parade" is coming back to Los Angeles, for its first showing in the downtown section and for the first time at popular prices, at the Criterion Theater.

The opening date is set for a week from today and a gala opening for the film is being planned.

"The Big Parade," which has been hailed by many critics as the one big story of the World War, has enjoyed one of the most remarkable runs of any film since "The Birth of a Nation." It has toured Canada at road-show prices, showed for over two years at the Astor in New York City at top prices and has been seen in the great capitals of Europe.

Laurence Stallings, the author, and King Vidor, the director, conceived and executed a story which is said to be so great that it bears none of the earmarks of the average screen spectacle. It is called simple, moving and genuine.

URSON EDITING FILM OF R. H. DAVIS STORY

Frank Urson yesterday entered on the last lap of the editing and titling of his feature, "Beautiful But Dumb," from Richard Harding Davis's story, "The Bar Sinister." John Krafft is working on the titles with Urson, a particularly interesting assignment, in view of the fact that the Urson film is a tale paralleling the vicissitudes of humans and canines with a philosophical tinge to the expressions of the dog actors.

Urson yesterday determined upon the injection of a modicum of unusual trick material into the final portion of his picture. It is said that he has the most novel film yet made by the Cecil B. De Mille organization and plans are being made for the widespread exploitation of the feature, which stars Vera Reynolds with Kenneth Thomson and Claire McDowell among the humans, and Trixie, the famed Regent Royal and Hank of the dog cast in support. Clara Beranger wrote the script.

KING OF MIRTH IS TO BE SEEN AGAIN

Gene Morgan

Gene Morgan, known locally as the King of Mirth, returns to Loew's State with his Greater Band on Friday, heading the Fanchon and Marco presentation, "The Dells," featuring the Andrieff Trio, Christie and Daly, Myra and Clarice and Bobby and Doreen. On the screen, Monta Bell's production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer of "After Midnight," with Norma Shearer starred and Lawrence Grey and Gwen Lee in prominent support, will bid for visual honors.

Parties Visit Play in Hills of Hollywood

The Long Beach Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an excursion from the beach town on Thursday night to witness the Pilgrimage Play in its picturesque open-air theater among the hills of Hollywood.

On the same evening, Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Helms will head a large delegation from the First Methodist Church of Los Angeles.

The Pilgrimage Play, which is presented nightly, Sundays excepted, during a limited season each summer, is said to be profoundly moving in spirit because of the careful adherence to the sacred message of the Gospels in the telling of the Life of the Christ. The play is the result of an inspiration of the late Christine Wetherill Stevenson, who made the literal transcription of the Bible story, and produced it.

The play is now the property of the Pilgrimage Play Association, incorporated for the purpose of its production under the laws of California on a nonprofit, noncommercial and nonsectarian basis. Any income accruing from this sacred drama above the necessary expenses, is devoted to its improvement and perpetuation.

Ian MacLaren, in the role of the Christus, reportedly retains a potent spirituality throughout the unfolding of the drama and at all times is the dignified, gentle firm Master.

Actor Abandons Opera Career for Photoplay

Warner Oland, who plays Andre Lescaut in "When a Man Loves" at the Forum Theater, was originally destined for a career in grand opera after coming to America from Sweden in his youth. For such a career he was eminently fitted vocally and histrionically, a story relates, but his histrionic gifts attracted the attention of theatrical producers and a part was accepted by him as he was preparing for his operatic debut in "Manon Lescaut."

It is from this Abbe Prevost story, "Manon Lescaut," that Warner Brothers filmed "When A Man Loves" as a starring vehicle for John Barrymore with Dolores Costello in the role of Manon. The picture was directed by Alan Crosland. In reproducing the atmosphere of the period—the reign of King Louis XV of France—Warner Brothers instituted a diligent research into the manners and customs of the time, and procured for the court scenes properties that are authentically Louis XV. The gowns worn by Miss Costello are replicas of those in the French government's collection, which was lent to the Warner studios for the production, the story concludes.

"PEG-LEG" REQUIRES ACTOR'S ENDURANCE

Dan Mason essays a "Lon Chaney" in "The Fire Brigade," which opens today at the West Coast Boulevard Theater for a four-day engagement, in playing the part of Peg-Leg. As indicated in his character name, Mason wears a peg over what is apparently a stump, and in a man of Mason's age, this is no easy thing. Mason had to bend his leg double, wearing his foot in the seat of his trousers "The Fire Brigade" was directed by William Nigh for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

On the stage in conjunction with the showing of "The Fire Brigade," will be West Coast Varieties, staged by Fanchon and Marco, featuring Arthur "Pat" West, and his Musical Middies

MENJOU PICTURE TO GIVE WAY TO NOVELTY

Today marks the final showings at the Metropolitan Theater of Adolphe Menjou in Paramount's "Service for Ladies." This feature, dealing with Europe's most noted head-waiter who falls in love with an American heiress, is said to be the best in which Menjou has ever appeared.

In the cast with Menjou are Kathryn Carver, Charles Lane and Lawrence Grant. H. D'Abbadie D'Arrast directed.

Tomorrow the western premiere of Paramount's "Stark Love" will take place at the Metropolitan. This picture, in which mountaineers are the actors, has been termed "a dramatic thunderbolt" and is said to be perhaps the most unusual screen offering of 1927.

LAST THREE WEEKS OF PLAY ANNOUNCED

Belasco, Butler and Davis announced today the last three weeks of "The Great Necker," which has enjoyed a run at the Belasco Theater. Prior booking arrangements will take the merry Elmer Harris comedy of flapperdom to the Lurie Theater, San Francisco, at the end of that period. The present cast including Taylor Holmes, Nat Carr, Hope Drown, Allen Connor, Alma Powell, Jane Warrington, James Donlan and Frank Dawson will be taken to San Francisco and thence on a tour of the East including Chicago and New York.

YOUNG PATRONS MAY CHAT WITH "RASCALS"

Every child who attends a matinee at the Orpheum next week will have a chance to not only see the Hal Roach rascals, the "Our Gang Kiddies," in person, but may shake hands with them and chat with them to their heart's content, if they so desire. The announcement of the arrangement to hold a reception every day after the matinee next week was made by the Orpheum yesterday. The children will meet Farina, Joe Cobb, the fat boy; Jay Smith, the be-freckled funstor, and every one of the "gang." The "gang" is offering a specially written skit, "Acting Out."

DUNCAN SISTERS TO LEAVE FILM CAPITAL

The Duncan sisters will say farewell to Los Angeles for many months tonight with their final appearances singing and dancing in Sid Grauman's prologue to "Topsy and Eva" in Grauman's Egyptian Theater.

FIGHTING FOR OIL MILLIONS

Gosnell-Lloyd Case Enters Third Week

Former Wife Confused as to First Divorce

Plaintiffs Continue to Pile Up Evidence

VENTURA, July 19.—As the $3,000,000 Gosnell-Lloyd oil lease trial started this morning on its third week in the Superior Court before Judge Edward Henderson, Mrs. Ethel Gosnell, divorced wife of Truman B. Gosnell, 79-year-old pioneer of Ventura avenue, took the witness stand for her fourth day and finished her testimony for the plaintiffs.

Under cross-examination of James E. Degnan, head of counsel for the defense, Mrs. Gosnell admitted that she had been married and divorced from her first husband before she married Gosnell. But she became confused under questioning concerning whether she had received her final decree of divorce before remarrying. She said she received her interlocutory decree of divorce from Beverly Zeb Foster in St. Louis in October, 1924, and that when she came to Ventura in May, 1914, and first met Gosnell she was still legally married to her first husband. Despite the fact that she admitted she had never received personally her papers of final decree, she said she felt sure she had been granted them.

Her memory appeared clouded also as to where she had instituted the divorce proceedings and obtained the decree, being doubtful as to whether it was in St. Louis, Mo., East St. Louis, Ill., or in Clayton, Mo.

The plaintiffs still are having their innings in the trial, Christian H. G. Hartke, Los Angeles attorney, being placed on the stand following Mrs. Gosnell's testimony to testify concerning his activities in connection with the transaction by which Gosnell sold his one-third of one-eighth oil rights in the Gosnell lease to Ralph B. Lloyd.

Hartke's testimony was to the effect that Gosnell resented his entrance into the proceedings, though Mrs. Gosnell had retained him to make an investigation and advise Gosnell. The time when Gosnell was most antagonistic to him, Hartke said, was when he advised Gosnell not to sell the oil rights. Gosnell, however, according to Hartke, said that he was able to handle the transaction alone, and that since Lloyd was an old friend and had always handled his affairs he was perfectly willing to take Lloyd's word for anything he said about the Gosnell lease.

Give Property for Memorial at Whittier

WHITTIER, July 16.—Whittier College received on last Saturday a gift of property valued at $125,000 from Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Peasley of Long Beach. The property consists of a lot on First street in Long Beach near American avenue. The property is occupied at present with an auto park and an apartment-house. The lot is in line for development as the city of Long Beach grows.

The gift is on an annuity basis whereby the donors receive a fixed amount of interest during their lifetime without any expense for taxes or upkeep of the property. No inheritance tax is taken by the State where gifts of this kind are made to an educational institution.

It is understood that the property will be sold at a later date and a part of the proceeds will be used for the erection of a building on the campus of Whittier College as a memorial to the donors. The remainder of the money will be placed in the endowment fund of the college.

FRIEND OF CHILDREN DIES AT BAKERSFIELD

BAKERSFIELD, July 19. — Mrs. Elizabeth Coolbaugh, 77 years of age, resident of Bakersfield for forty-two years and matron of the Kern County Children's Shelter for fifteen years at its present location on Twentieth street, died last night at a local hospital following a one-week illness. Death of Mrs. Coolbaugh took from Bakersfield one of the best-known women of the community, who had spent her life relieving the suffering and hardships of others.

Mrs Coolbaugh was born in Oregon April 18, 1850. She came here in 1885 from San Francisco, where she had resided for several years.

The Bakersfield pioneer was one of the organizers of the Shelter, which was incorporated as a State institution April 16, 1907, for the benefit of homeless children and to provide a shelter for children whose parents could not care for them.

REQUEST EXTENSION OF STREET-CAR LINE

PASADENA, July 19.—A petition, signed by more than 1200 residents of the eastern part of the city, and requesting that the Lamanda Park street-car line be extended a mile east of its present terminus to Rosemead avenue, was filed with the Board of City Directors today.

An effort will be made to get the Pacific Electric Railway Company to seek permission for the extension from the State Railroad Commission. Residents assert that the growth of the section necessitates the extension and that it should be done now, when Colorado street is about to be widened.

DENIES NEGRO'S CHARGES

FRESNO, July 19.—Charges of conduct unbecoming an officer preferred against Patrolman C. F. Wilson of the Fresno Police Department will be heard by the Civil Service Board on the officer's appeal on August 3. Wilson was suspended after James Cummings, a negro, accused him of making an issue of race in a traffic arrest and with abusive language. Wilson denied the charge and demanded the hearing.

DEMANDED BOAT FARE

Police Take Charge of Hollywood Man Who Used Revolver to Extract Loan From Relative

GLENDALE, July 19.—Max Gould, 40 years of age, of 5473 Waring avenue, Hollywood, was arrested this morning when he attempted to enforce his demand on his cousin, Myer D. Levin, 807 North Adams street, for $3000 with a revolver. Gould is asserted to have sought the money to pay his fare back to Russia and when Levin refused ot let him have the money he is said to have threatened him with the gun.

Neighbors turned in a call for the police when Levin called for help and Detective Lieutenant C. B. Blake and Sergt. F. C. Williams, who arrested Gould, also found that he was carrying a dagger with an eight-inch blade as well as the revolver. He also had more than $500 in gold and currency in his pockets as well as a quantity of jewelry.

Levin told the police that Gould has been demanding $500 for several months, to pay his fare back to Russia, but when he appeared at Levin's house at 8:30 a.m. today he doubled the amount. When arraigned before Justice F. H. Lowe, Gould refused to make any statement and was held in $2000 cash bond on a charge of drawing a deadly weapon.

Council Gives Permit for Girl Parade

LONG BEACH, July 19.—For the first time in several years this city's annual bathing-beauty parade, to be held this year on August 21, received the official sanction of the City Council without a preliminary war of words. Formal application for a permit to hold the parade was submitted to the Council in session this morning and, with only Mayor Hauge and Councilman E. L. Taylor voting against it, the sanction was given without verbal fireworks.

There was no protest and no discussion of the question, which, in previous years under a former administration, was always a subject for hot debate and recrimination between the church factions on the one side and the so-called "liberals" on the other.

Under present plans, a parade consisting of six divisions of bathing beauties will be held on the Pike. Contending candidates will be judged on the tennis court of the Hotel Virginia, where the judges' stand will be erected.

City Mourns Passing of Former Mayor

LONG BEACH, July 19.—Flags on the City Hall and other public buildings were at half-mast today as the result of the death early this morning of Frank H. Downs, former Mayor, one-time Councilman, and, until his death, superintendent of public parks.

Mr. Downs, who is the father of Judge Wilbur F. Downs, recently elected to the Municipal Court and now serving temporarily as Superior Court judge, died of kidney trouble after an illness of several weeks. He has resided in Long Beach since 1902.

He was elected Mayor in 1906 and in a later administration served as Councilman. He was engaged in the furniture business for several years, was a member of the Christian Science Church, and was prominent in local fraternal circles. Funeral services will be conducted at the J. J. Mottell chapel at an hour to be announced later. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella O. Downs; his son, Judge Wilbur F. Downs, and his daughter, Miss Erma Downs.

LIGHTNING, HEAT OR WHAT HAVE YOU

REDLANDS, July 19. — Varied weather was the lot of Redlands in the past twenty-four hours, starting off yesterday when a maximum of 109 deg. was reached, the highest for the season. During the night there was a brilliant display of lightning over the mountains and the desert to the east and north and this morning there was a slight sprinkle of rain and clouds were heavy. A report from Bear Valley tells of a rather distinct earthquake shock there this morning at 6:35, followed by a heavy rain storm. All the mountain roads were drenched.

ALL FLYER NEEDS IS READY CASH

PASADENA, July 19.—Everett G. Delgrave wants to be famous and so he has started by writing to the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce from Tacoma, Wash., stating that he is anxious to make an airplane flight from Pasadena to Honolulu and that all he needs is someone to finance the project.

The cost would be $7000, Delgrave states, adding that if it would better suit the preferences of his hypothetical backer, he would be glad to fly from Seattle to Tokio. Secretary William Dunkerly of the Chamber of Commerce asks the line of sponsors to form on the right.

BATHER DROWNS IN IRRIGATION DITCH

FRESNO, July 19. — Charles F. Williamson, 23 years of age, a printer employed by the Fresno Republican, was drowned today while swimming in an irrigation ditch near this city. After two hours of work by the fire-department rescue squad his body was recovered at the spot where he sank, overcome by the effort of attempting to swim against the current. Williamson went in bathing with Elmer Ritter, his cousin and fellow-employee. He was not an experienced swimmer and became exhausted, Ritter being unable to save him.

HAD SHOT IN HIS LEG

HUNTINGTON PARK, July 19.—George Lobaugh of this city, who was one of the starters in the bicycle races at Manchester playgrounds, Los Angeles, met with a peculiar accident just before the race in which he was entered. He had lined up with the other cyclists and when the gun was fired by the starter he noticed a sharp pain in one of his legs. He completed the race, however, and at the finish discovered blood flowing from the leg. He came at once to the office of Dr. Schooling, in this city, and the discovery was made that a number of birdshot had entered the leg. The shots were removed and the wound dressed.

DISTRIBUTES ESTATE

LEMOORE, July 19.—Judge K. Vanzante has approved the final account of J. H. McGlashan, administrator of the estate of the late J. A. McCormick, Lemoore banker, and ordered the division of the estate, valued at $101,547.11.

Entertainment Arranged for Mexican Party

CLAREMONT, July 19.—At least three events have been arranged this week by the Pomona College summer session for the visiting Mexican teachers and exchange scholars from Mexico City. Accompanied by Miss Druzilla R. MacKay of Fullerton, who is teaching English to the visiting Mexicans, the teachers and students will inspect the California Junior Republic at Chino.

Tomorrow evening all of the Mexican teachers and several American students will attend the Mission Play at San Gabriel. On Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock the Fullerton branch of the Council on International Relations has arranged a short program in honor of the Mexican teachers. The dinner and program will be held at Fullerton High School.

Several American teachers and students interested in Spanish work and a number of especially invited guests from Pomona College and elsewhere will also be present. James Hoffman Batten, director of regional service, Pomona College, will be among those presenting short talks.

Sign Petition for Lower Fare to Beach Cities

VENICE, July 19.—Eagerness on the part of visiting throngs to sign the petition for cheaper transportation between Venice and Los Angeles, resulted in a total of thousands of additional names of Los Angeles registered voters being affixed to petitions circulated all along the amusement district from Venice to Ocean Park, over the week-end. George Walters, in charge of the committee of twenty-five workers, had not finished tabulating results today, but expressed the belief that well over the announced goal of 35,000 names had been obtained.

Preparations were being made today for taking a delegation of at least 500 Venice, Mar Vista, Palms and Barnes City residents to the City Council chambers later in the week when the petition will be presented.

ANTICIPATED RUSH GROWS INTO SLUMP

SANTA ANA, July 19.—The expected rush of brides and grooms to evade the new marriage law and its "three days' notice" is not materializing. A "don't care" attitude is reflected from the records of County Clerk J. M. Backs, which show that instead of smashing all records for the month this July is even running a bit below par.

After the huge June total, which soared about the 600 mark Backs anticipated that July would see the rush continued right down to the day the new law goes into effect, the 29th inst. He attributed the June record partially to the impending new marriage law. But so far this month, the brides and grooms have displayed apathy and indifference to the approaching new epoch in matrimony.

With half of July gone, the records show but 219 licenses issued as compared to about 300 at the corresponding date last month. If the present rate is continued, July will fall under the 450 mark set by July, 1926, instead of possibly passing the 600 mark as anticipated.

GROWERS PROFIT BY APRICOT CROP

HANFORD, July 19.—According to statistics issued by Arthur Rittue, inspector for County Horticultural Commissioner L. O. Haupt, there were approximately 100 carloads of apricots shipped from Kings county this season to eastern markets. The amount received by growers for eastern shipments will approximate $80,000. It is estimated that 1300 tons went to the canneries returning $65,000 to the growers. These with sales for San Francisco, Los Angeles and local consumption in the fresh stage will bring the amount received by growers for the crop exclusive of the 'cots dried to about $150,000.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE FOR FUNDS

REDONDO BEACH, July 19. — A campaign under the auspices of the advisory board of the Salvation Army Fresh-Air Camp here to raise $5000 for the maintenance of the home opened here the first of the month. The campaign will be carried on principally through private subscriptions and is in charge of C. J. Funk, chairman of the advisory board and Capt. Ernest Graves. Envoy Fred Giles who was in charge of the fresh-air camp when it was first established here, is assisting in the campaign.

WOMEN ON TOUR OF RANCHES

Texas Committee Studies Modes in Vogue Here in California

FRESNO, July 19.—Co-operation in agriculture as exemplified by the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers and the California Peach and Fig Growers was studied today by a group of thirty Texas women representing the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association. The day was spent here after members of the party arrived in a special car from San Jose.

The women were selected by organizations throughout Texas and it will be their mission to take back to their native State a picture of California methods in agriculture and the home life on farms in this State.

After spending the day inspecting the work of the co-operatives, Kearney farm of the University of California and viewing vineyards near the city, the Texans were to leave tonight for Los Angeles, the last stop before returning to Texas.

"Texas stands at the same place that California stood sixteen years ago," said Miss Susan Landon of Dallas, educational representative of the cotton association.

"Agriculture, headed by cotton-growing, has increased, until the State is producing an abundance of every sort of vegetable, grain and fruit and cotton, together with cattle and live stock. It is for the purpose of finding the best way to place this produce in the hands of the consumer so that it will return a fair profit to the producer that the trip was promoted."

PRICE IS TOO HIGH FOR PARK

Pasadena Called Upon to Pay Expert Witnesses Large Fee for Services

PASADENA, July 19.—The costs involved in the attempt of Pasadena to secure for public use the Arroyo Seco property owned by the Will D Gould estate are becoming so high that the city may appeal for a new trial of the condemnation suit at which a price of $300,000 for the property was fixed by a jury.

The city originally planned to spend about $100,000 for the land, and the $300,000 figure was a distinct shock. Today the court ordered the city to pay each of three expert witnesses appointed by the court $3000 each for their services in addition to the $500 already paid each of them. In addition to this, it was reported at the City Hall that Pasadena will probably have to pay fees to nearly thirty other witnesses who testified as to the value of the property.

The three $3000 witnesses—Willis B. Fry, William H. Carter and Leonard Merrill—were named by the court under the new law which is supposed to do away with abuses previously attendant upon the use of expert witnesses. Chairman Taylor of the Board of City Directors expressed the opinion today that the cure may be worse than the disease.

Whether an appeal will be asked will not be decided until R. A. Waring takes over his duties as City Attorney August 1.

MANY STUDENTS TO ATTEND SCHOOL

SANTA ANA, July 19.—Figures announced today by the principal's office at the Santa Ana Polytechnic High School show that the advance registration in the senior class for the fall term is today as large as the total number of students who graduated from the school last June. The graduating class this year numbered 196 students and to date as many boys and girls have registered for the coming semester.

With the addition of new pupils who will not register until school opens on September 10, it is expected that the figure will be well over the 200 mark, exceedig the figure for last June and eclipsing the graduating class of 201, which left the high school in 1926. The total advance 2 registration for the whole school is 689. A number of old students have not yet registered, and many new students moving here from other localities are expected to increase this figure to well over the 1000 mark.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS DEATH AT REDLANDS

REDLANDS, July 19.—The first death from infantile paralysis that Redlands has ever had was that in the family of Fred Arth, orange grower and business man, when the son, Russell Frederick Arth, 11 years of age, died from the dread disease.

The boy had been very ill for several days, and the doctors knew his condition was serious. A smaller brother also has the disease, but has not been so sick and according to physicians, there is no probability that he will suffer any ill results. There is one other case of the disease in the city, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Cranmer also being ill. His condition is improving all the time and it is thought he will recover.

DRUG ADDICT IS SENT TO ASYLUM

GLENDALE, July 19.—Scott Mangrum, a real-estate salesman, 114 West Broadway, who is asserted to have threatened Dr. Hillis Brown, Colorado and Central avenues, with a revolver while seeking to obtain a supply of narcotics, was committed to the State asylum for the insane at Patton by Judge P. H. Lowe today.

A search of Mangrum's rooms is said by police to have revealed a supply of various drugs and equipment for administering them, as well as a box of ammunition of the same caliber as the revolver with which he is asserted to have threatened Dr. Brown.

EXPLODES OLD THEORY

Noted Astronomer Says Modern Equipment Has Established Boundaries to Space

PASADENA, July 19.—The idea that space is infinite is no longer compatible with present scientific knowledge, gained through the research and the use of such astronomical instruments such as the huge 100-inch reflecting telescope on Mt. Wilson, according to Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, noted astronomer of the Mt. Wilson Observatory staff.

"There is an end to things out there in space, and definite boundaries have been established as a working hypothesis," Dr. Hubble says, explaining that the range of the largest Mt. Wilson telescope permits astronomers to estimate the point at which the so-called radius of curvature is reached, when space begins to turn back on itself, according to the Einstein theory of relativity.

"The radius of curvature is estimated to be 600 times the range of the 100-inch reflecting telescope at Mt. Wilson for the average nebula assuming that the same conditions prevail beyond the range of the telescope os do within its range." Dr. Hubble says. But when it comes to stating this distance or describing the scene in everyday terms, scientists admit defeat.

The main idea to the layman is that scientists now generally accept the Einstein theory as the best hypothesis, and consequently have abandoned the old idea of an infinite universe.

With larger instruments and better equipment, Dr. Hubble predicts that astronomers will make still greater progress in solving these intricate cosmic mysteries.

Even with the Mt. Wilson telescopes, however, Dr. Hubble has made observations revealing 2,000,000 nebulae of the same type as our solar system, which scientists used to think was the whole universe. Using the term in its old meaning, then, Dr. Hubble has discovered 2,000,000 new universes.

Budget Reflects Higher Cost of City Government

BAKERSFIELD, July 19.—Bakersfield city government for the fiscal year ended June 30, operated at an expense of $486,367.74, an increase of approximately $35,000 over the 1925-26 period, according to fiscal report submitted to the City Council by Manager James Ogden. Increases in the cost of operating thirteen of the city departments were indicated, one was the same as last year, and five showed decreases in cost. City administration during the 1925-26 period cost $451,319.94.

An increase of $18,000 was shown in the cost of maintaining the city fire department, of which increase more than $14,000 was for new equipment. Due to city elections during the latter part of 1926, the City Council costs were about $4000 higher than the previous year. The police department cost $70,200, as compared with $66,900 during the previous year.

Other slight increases were shown in the following departments: Clerk, attorney, auditor, assessor, pound engineer, street, building and library, and in miscellaneous expenses. Interest on bonds dropped $900, and other decreases in the cost of operation were shown in the offices of manager, treasurer, police, judge, health officer and park department.

Maintenance of the street department cost $18,000 more than in 1926-27. The increase, according to the manager's report to the Council, is due largely to the purchase of new street-improvement equipment and more work on dirt streets.

Flying Field Is Inadequate Say Aviators

SANTA MONICA, July 19.—Seven hundred feet is the width of the strip that the Santa Monica city officials have set aside on Clover Field for aviation, yet flyers and other leaders in aviation contend that it will not be enough, it was stated at the City Hall today. Flying is going to increase in the next few years at a rate that will call for a great deal more room, is the prediction made to the commissioners.

"We may learn a lot about aviation," commented Commissioners Mortong and Helton, in discussing the proposition, "but to us it looks as though 700 feet is ample for some time to come. The situation, however, is elastic enough so that we can give the flyers more space if necessary."

TIMELY LEAP SAVES LIVES OF AUTOISTS

POMONA, July 19. (AP)—A quick leap for life saved a man and a boy from probable sudden death today when a Southern Pacific passenger train demolished their automobile on a crossing.

J. L. McNamara, automobile salesman, and 9-year-old David Charles, both of Pomona, were driving slowly on to the crossing before they saw the express. It was within fifty feet of them when their fright moved them to a sudden abandoning of the machine, which still was in motion.

The two had barely landed clear when the locomotive struck the automobile, demolishing and dragging it 100 yards. McNamara and the boy were unhurt.

TAINTED CHICKEN POISONS TWELVE

SANTA ANA, July 19.—Twelve persons were poisoned by eating chicken at a local cafe last evening, it was learned today. Several of the number were reported to be under the care of physicians at their homes.

Ten members of the party were Los Angeles young women in Santa Ana for three days with a vaudeville company, it was said. Two men were stricken, one a member of the theater orchestra, and the other a member of the stage crew.

The effect of the ptomaine poisoning was not apparent until after the vaudeville show. A doctor worked over a number of the patients for several hours in their hotel.

MAKE PIER AVENUE GREAT WHITE WAY

OCEAN PARK, July 19.—The new lighting system planned for Pier avenue will make that thoroughfare the most brilliantly lighted street in Southern California, according to announcement today by George Neilson, chairman of the Pier-avenue lighting committee of the Ocean Park Business Men's Association.

The necessary arrangements have been made with the Santa Monica city government and it is expected that work will start within thirty days.

DANA POINT EXCHANGE WILL OPEN ON JULY 30

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 19. The opening of a new telephone exchange at Dana Point has been set for the 30th inst., according to officials of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The area has been served in the past by a switchboard at San Juan Capistrano, but due to recent development and anticipated growth of the community, it was found advisable to establish a separate exchange there.

INSIST ON REDUCTION OF RATES

BRAWLEY, July 19.—Asserting that Imperial Valley shippers are paying higher freight rates on grain consigned to Los Angeles than are accorded San Joaquin Valley points, the Imperial Valley Grain Growers' Association announced today that it is appealing to the State Railroad Commission for a downward revision of tariffs.

E. W. Booth, representing the valley association, declared that the rate on grain from Calexico to Los Angeles is 80 cents a ton higher than from Bakersfield to Los Angeles, although the distance from the Imperial Valley town is less than from the San Joaquin Valley point.

Los Angeles attorneys have been employed to represent the local growers and it is anticipated that a hearing will be arranged in August. The rate reduction requested will save valley growers approximately $30,000 a year, Booth said.

Outline Course of Parade at Water Festival

NEWPORT BEACH, July 19.—The course which the tournament of lights carnival parade will follow on the bay on the night of the 30th inst. was outlined today by J. A. Beck, general chairman of the annual event.

The course, as outlined by Beck, will be marked by twenty boats now in course of construction, with the red and green sailing lanterns usually found on water craft attached to a mast. The formation point for the floats, barges, yachts and smaller craft which will participate in the parade will be the turning basin between the pavilion at Balboa and Balboa Island.

The parade will wend its way down the bay toward the entrance on the south side, turning at the Southland Sailing Club and returning along the northern channel to a point just west of Collins Island.

From Collins Island the parade will move south past the Bay Island to a point in front of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club. It will then proceed west to the Newport turning basin opposite Nineteenth street. It will double back from there along the south shore of the bay to the starting point in front of the pavilion.

Advertisements to be placed on trains and busses and in store windows throughout the Southland are being prepared for distribution, according to Beck.

WRONG INFORMATION COSTS GIRL MONEY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—That she was told that she could travel at thirty-five miles an hour all the way from Los Angeles to San Diego was the reason given for speeding, by a young society miss of Los Angeles when she appeared before Judge Chris P. Pann.

However, the girl's smiles and her excuses proved unavailing and the judge fined her $19 for a speed of thirty-eight miles in a twenty-mile zone.

The judge relented slightly on the girl when reporters came around and refused to give out her name because she said she was engaged in charity work.

BUILDING MONORAIL TO NEW RESORT

OXNARD, July 19.—Construction is under way today on the first unit of a monorail system of transportation between the town of Fillmore and Seepe Hot Springs, possibly the finest hot springs in Ventura county. At an enormous cost, a monorail is to be constructed up Seepe Canyon to the springs, where a resort will be established by the time the railway is finished. It was announced by P. S. Coomba, owner of United States patents on the monorail and the promoter of the Seepe development scheme, that twenty-four months will be required to complete the new system.

ASSESSMENT SHOWS GROWTH IN VALUES

VENTURA, July 19.—Eighteen million dollars, instead of $16,000,000, as was recently estimated, represents the increase in Ventura county property valuations this year over 1926, according to the final figures given out yesterday by County Assessor Jasper Barry. The total is $88,502,641 for 1927 as against $70,396,000 for 1926. Ventura's property valuations this year reached $6,079,650. Santa Paula's amount is $2,870,946; Oxnard, $2,489,415; Fillmore, $944,300, and Ojai, $470,580. More than 15,000 automobiles were assessed in the county this year for a total amount of $2,695,328.

DISABLED VETERAN IS SUICIDE VICTIM

COMPTON, July 19. (AP)—Charles E. Manigault, 30 years of age, a World War veteran, whose health had been impaired permanently by battle wounds and life in the trenches, ended his life by hanging today at a sanatorium where he had been under treatment. His body was found hanging from a window grill by his belt.

DEPARTMENT HEADS

LAGUNA BEACH, July 19.—Each of the five Trustees of the new city of Laguna Beach has been commissioned by Mayor Cummins to take charge of departments of the city government. Cummins will be commissioner of streets, walks and parks; Joseph E. Jahraus, finance commissioner; John L. Brickes, fire and police; George S. Johnston, health and safety; Frank E. Champion, city engineering department. The commissioners virtually are chairmen of various committees.

Fire Epidemic Disturbs Sleep of Volunteers

PORTERVILLE, July 19.—Fire Chief Ross Gardner and members of the Porterville volunteer fire department are having work and sleep both disturbed by the fire siren, calls coming in recently every twenty-four hours, which is somewhat out of the ordinary for Porterville. They were routed out of bed at 2:30 this morning by a call from the Simpson barber shop in the business district. Fire had broken out around a hot-water heater, which is believed to have been forgotten and left on. Damage was small, as the blaze was quickly controlled.

Late Sunday afternoon the home of Ed Coleman, negro, on South Hockett street, was destroyed in a blaze of undetermined origin. The Coleman family was not at home. Loss was estimated at about $3500. Several months ago fire destroyed Coleman's house on B street. Fire Chief Gardner sustained severe burns on the hands while fighting this fire.

AIRPLANE BECOMES POPULAR VEHICLE

VISALIA, July 19.—Indicating the rapidly approaching time when the airplane will be generally utilized as a means of transportation by the general public, either for pleasure or business, two army flyers hopped into an army plane at Crissy Field, San Francisco, a few days since, dropped into Visalia for a round of golf, over to Giant Forest, Sequoia National Park, and back to Crissy Field, all within a few hours. Lieut. Paul and Sergt. Tommy Fowler, the latter pilot of the Gen. Patrick airplane, having a bit of idle time on their hands decided to accept a standing invitation from George C. Cobb of Visalia for a round of golf on the local course. They jumped in an army De Haviland, landing in Visalia in less than two hours.

SWIMMERS DROWN IN CORONA RESERVOIR

CORONA, July 19.—Two Mexicans, Alfonso Savala, 15 years of age, and Refugio Cordera, 25, were drowned last night in a reservoir at Taylor and Hill streets near Corona in which they had been warned against swimming. The bodies remained in the water for two hours before a rescuing party from Corona reached the scene.

Melvin Humble, young man who is an expert swimmer, dove into the ten-feet of water and brought the bodies to the shore. Physicians and others applied recuperation methods for an hour without success. Both boys worked on a lemon ranch near the scene of their death.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF WHISKY STILL

HANFORD, July 19.—A ten-gallon still was located in a clump of brushes on a ranch under lease by Frank Littlejhon from Dr. N. Bardue of San Jose, situated one-half mile north of the Cross Creek schoolhouse and seized today by Deputy Sheriffs W. E. Hoskins and Al Bradley. The still was not in operation but three empty marsh barrels were near by. Littlejohn was taken into custody and the officers say will be charged with possession. He denied ownership or knowledge of the appliances and says that the still is a plant hidden by parties unknown.

DOGS FEAST ON FANCY CHICKENS

GLENDALE, July 19.—The Rhode Island red flocks of W. H. Russell, 1020 Clark street, were practically wiped out last night, when two dogs are said by Russell to have entered the pens and to have killed 275 young chickens valued at $202. Russell has sworn out a John Doe warrant against the owner of the dogs if he can identify him.

Russell was in his house when he heard the commotion in the chicken yard and rushed out but the raiders escaped in the darkness after wiping out nearly his entire flock of young poultry. Other poultry men in the vicinity are on the lookout for the dogs in case they should attempt to enter any other chicken yards.

CHILDREN OF ELKS TO OFFER DANCES

Edna Lucile Harvey

Children of members of the Los Angeles lodge of Elks tonight will present the first of a series of recitals in the Elks' Temple under the direction of Alexander Oumansky, teacher of the dance and director of the dancing class at the temple for the past five months. In order that the families of Elks may attend Exalted Ruler Doyle has arranged to adjourn lodge promptly at 9 o'clock.

Classes are held in the gymnasium Tuesday afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock and Saturday mornings from 10 until 12 o'clock.

Express Men's 'Big Boss' Here on Visit Today

Robert E. M. Cowie, the "big boss" to 125,000 men by virtue of his title of president of the American Railway Express Company, will be the guest of honor of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon today at the Biltmore.

ROBERT E. M. COWIE

The honor guest is a brother of Alex S. Cowie, assistant vice-president of the Citizens' National Bank. Mr. Cowie's election to the presidency of the company in 1923 was the crowning point in his career, which commenced in 1883, when he joined the American Railway Express Company office at Cleveland. From his first promotion as secretary to the general superintendent of the Southwestern Division in 1886, Mr. Cowie has risen rapidly in the ranks of the express company, which now operates over every railroad in the United States, with one exception.

It is also set forth that the effect of the order will be to require the procuring of large funds by the issuance of new securities and this power does not lie within the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission. Only the Interstate Commerce Commission has such authority, and then only in cases where an application is filed by the railway, it is asserted.

NEW CHURCHILL YACHT OUT SOON

Boat Works Fixes Launching Date for Saturday

Racer Takes Place of Sloop Wrecked Recently

Will Christen Craft Amistad as Friendly Token

Amistad, Owen Churchill's new racing yacht, in the construction of which the Wilmington Boat Works has established a new building record, will be launched on the afternoon of the 23rd inst. She is being built, complete, in twenty-two days, as compared to ninety to 100 days usually required for the construction of such a craft.

The Class-R racer will be christened Amistad, Spanish of "Friendship," in token of the efforts of seven of Mr. Churchill's friends who pooled the cost of her construction, when his R-sloop Galliano IV was wrecked off Point Vincente three weeks ago. Mr Churchill's fellow-yachtsmen who donated the funds for the new yacht are Ben F. Weston, Clem-Wilson, Tommy Lee, Al Christie, Pierpont Davis, Hugh Angelman and T. G. Smith. In addition, the entire force of the Wilmington Boat Works has worked almost double the usual daily time without extra compensation in order that she might be in commission for the annual regatta of the Southern California Yachting Association, at Santa Barbara, August 6 to 13.

Nicholas S. Potter, youthful naval architect who designed her, first drew only preliminary lines from which the craft was laid down and has proceeded with the designs as the work progressed, she being built without the use of blueprints.

Embodying many features of the modern English and East Coast schools of yacht design, racing men predict that the Amistad will prove a sensation when she first gets into action against the Pacific Coast R-class fleet at Santa Barbara. She will be leaner, she will have more deadrise and will be more heavily ballasted than any racing machine on the Coast. Other new features will include an adjustable mast step, double cockpit, single head and jib stay and back-stay winches. She is thirty-nine feet, six inches in length, with a beam of seven feet and a draft of five feet, nine inches.

LINER VENEZUELA DUE IN PORT TODAY

The Venezuela, of the Panama Mail Line's intercoastal fleet, will come in from New York, Havana and Central American ports this morning with 125 cabin passengers and 900 tons of east coast and Central American cargo for discharge.

Prominent among her passengers are William Crampton, United States Collector of Customs at Bluefields, Nicaragua; Dr. Frederick Vining Fisher, noted lecturer who has been touring the country in behalf of the Southern California Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Mary, and his secretary; David M. De Forest, a member of the faculty of Union College, Schenectady N. Y., and W. H. Hoerrner, head of the department of music at Colgate University, Hamilton, N. Y., accompanied by his sister, Miss Charlotte Hoerrner. There are two honeymoon couples on board, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Glantz of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Silver, Mr. Silver having gone to New York for his bride and now bringing her home to Los Angeles.

Fifteen thousand boxes of oranges, the largest shipment to be exported on a vessel in Scandinavian service, will go out to Antwerp and Swedish ports on the 22nd inst. aboard the Johnson Line's motorship Annie Johnson. The vessel will also load out at this port 8000 sacks of barley for Rotterdam.

Yesterday the Danish motorship Siam was in port discharging 2150 tons of freight from Copenhagen and Antwerp, including 1250 tons of pottery clay. She also brought from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Anders Ivergaard-Nielsen, en route to Tahati to take possession of their plantation.

The new Italian motor liner Rialto, just completed for its Mediterranean-Pacific service by the Navigazione Libera Triestina, will arrive here on the 26th inst. from Trieste. It was announced yesterday by Capt. Harry H. Birkhold of the General Steamship Corporation, coast agents.

Capt. Morgan Walcott is announced as the new principal of the nautical school at the Seamen's Church Institute, San Pedro, which will reopen classes this week. The school offers preparation for steamship licenses, navigation for yachtsmen, air pilots and others, and instruction in all subjects of interest to seamen.

Capt. Walcott's seafaring goes back half a century, to when he sailed before the mast out of San Francisco as a boy. Thirty-five years ago he was chief officer on an old Pacific Mail liner, was a naval ensign during the Spanish-American War, and captured a Spanish merchantman; later was skipper of the old army transport Crook; had an Atlantic merchantman, quartermaster ship, and a lightship through the Straits of Magellan and a Patagonian channel.

Capt. J. A. Johnson's nautical school on Second street, also is completing its first year, fifty having passed through short courses in that period. The skipper also is called to adjust many ships' compasses at the port.

Seventeen Chinese stowaways and two Chinese firemen were arraigned before United States Commissioner Head yesterday on charges of conspiracy to smuggle. C. G. Gatley, immigration inspector in charge at Los Angeles Harbor, brought the charges. The stowaways were apprehended recently on arrival of two tankers from Shanghai, their confessions involving the firemen.

Like a cat one tries to lose, Balmoro Sanchez refuses to stay deported. Each time local immigration officials think Balmoro is safely at Manzanillo, where they sent him, he reappears at Los Angeles Harbor as a stowaway again, just three months from his departure. Two days ago he reappeared again on the Union Oil tanker Oleum. Balmoro explains he can't stay in Manzanillo, else some mysterious clan will shoot him. Immigration officials are equally determined he can't stay here, and advise Balmoro to practice dodging bullets, because they're sure going to send him back.

Bringing 3500 tons for Los Angeles, the Norwegian steamer Hesperos is due from Antwerp tomorrow on her first trip to the Pacific Coast under charter to the rapidly growing Flood Line. She will drop 2000 tons of sand, 700 tons of coke, 20t of steel, 800 bales of rags and 3000 cases of glass, besides general cargo. The Flood-owned steamer Carrisa will follow, being due from Antwerp August 1 with 200 tons of steel and 400 tons of cork from Lisbon, Portugal. Following two weeks apart will be the Skipsea, Ornus and Werpool, according to Capt. A. B. Paulsen, local manager of the line.

The whaling fleet of the California Sea Products Company, which wintered at San Clemente Island, off Southern California, is having its biggest harvest of whales off Alaska, according to Gunnar Ericksen, who quit and returned here yesterday. The fleet went north in May.

Capt. R. J. Paulsen arrived from La Paz via Nogales yesterday to visit his brother, Capt. A. B. Paulsen, en route home to San Francisco. The visitor recently built and took the Diesel boat Velaco to La Paz for Rufo brothers. He formerly commanded the steamer Curacoa, later being with the United States steamboat inspection service.

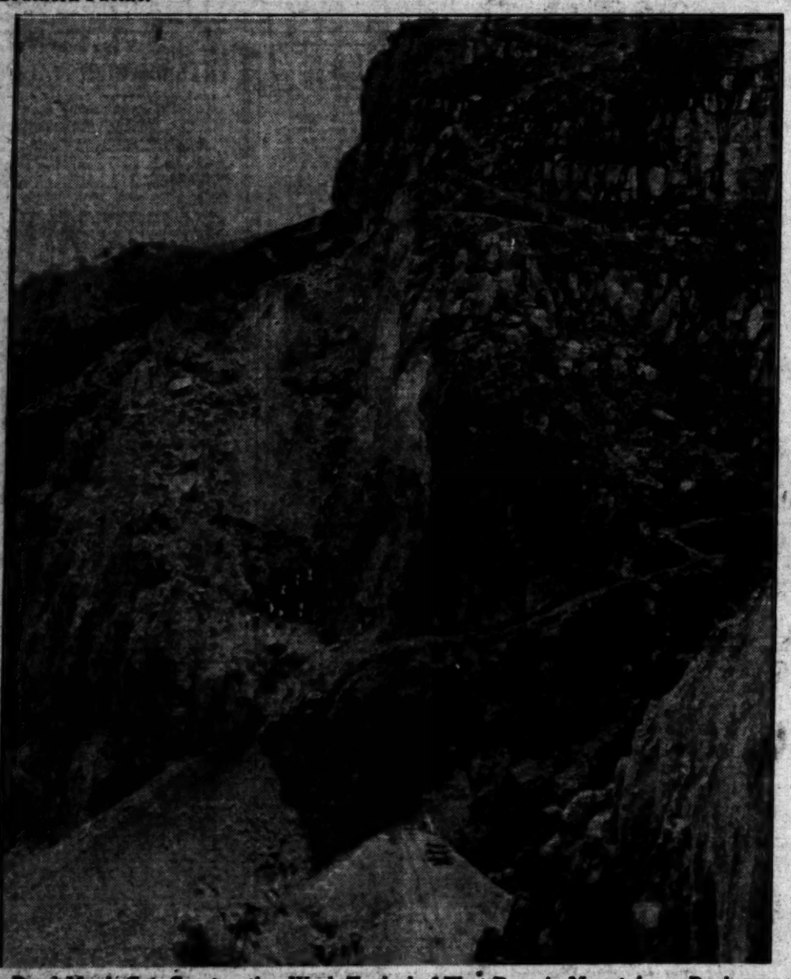
Southern Pacific to Double Passenger Service on Mexican Line

DOUBLING of its passenger service August 1 between Los Angeles and Guadalajara, Mex., junction point of its Mexican line with the Mexican National railway system, was announced here yesterday by Southern Pacific. Increase in business as a result of the recently completed link in Southern Pacific system a distance of 108 miles from Guadalajara north, is given as the reason. The photos on this page, the first of their kind to be released, show construction work and scenes on the new link. Because of the difficulty of obtaining photographs in Mexico, photos showing finished construction are not available. Photos are herewith presented through the courtesy of Southern Pacific.



Dead Man's Cut, Construction Work Typical of That Done in Mountainous Regions. The Toll of Life Here Was Heavy.

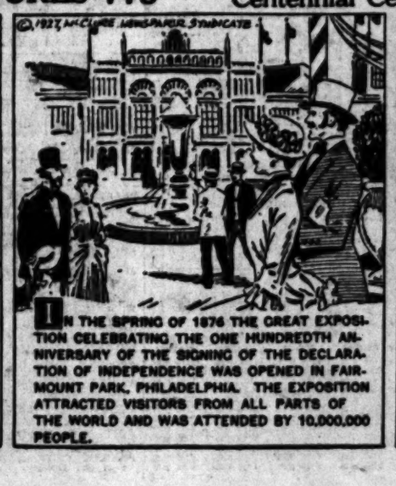
IN 1876 A SERIES OF CENTENNIAL CELEBRATIONS WAS USHERED IN BY THE CELEBRATION OF THE ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF LEXINGTON, THE FIRST ENGAGEMENT OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.



IN THE SPRING OF 1876 THE GREAT EXPOSITION CELEBRATING THE ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SIGNING OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE WAS OPENED IN FAIRMOUNT PARK, PHILADELPHIA. THE EXPOSITION ATTRACTED VISITORS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD AND WAS ATTENDED BY 10,000,000 PEOPLE.

THE MANY MECHANICAL DEVICES, WHICH WERE A FEATURE OF THE EXPOSITION, SHOWED THE REMARKABLE PROGRESS AMERICANS HAD MADE IN ONE HUNDRED YEARS. AMONG THE EXHIBITS WERE AN ELECTRIC CAR AND AN ELECTRIC LAMP.

A NEW INVENTION, THE TELEPHONE OF ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL, WHICH TRANSMITTED THE HUMAN VOICE OVER ELECTRICALLY CHARGED WIRE, CREATED MUCH INTEREST, ALTHOUGH AT THE TIME MANY PEOPLE REGARDED IT AS MERELY AN AMUSING TOY.

How Long Will A Used Car Run?

It's a mistake to think that all used cars have seen their best days. A recent survey shows that the normal expectation of life for cars under present road conditions is:

|---|---|
| New Cars | 7.04 years |
| Cars 3.5 years of age | 4.27 years |
| Cars 4.5 years of age | 2.8 years |
| Cars 9.5 years of age | 1.3 years |

Compare that with the mileage built into a car at the factory and you'll see the economy of a used car purchase. Times Want Ads will tell you what makes and models there are, the price, and where they may be seen.
